MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, January 5, 1903. }

To the Assembly of the State of California:

I have the honor to present herewith to your honorable body my Second Biennial Message.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, January 5, 1903.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

Inasmuch as my distinguished successor will almost immediately take office, and not being advised of his policy, nor wishing, in any manner, to embarrass his administration, I shall therefore so shape this message that it may be largely a communication in respect to the condition of the State, and its affairs, and make only recommendations in regard to matters which I deem necessary and expedient, leaving Governor Pardee and your honorable bodies otherwise unhampered by my views.

Elected in November, 1893, by a large plurality of the votes of the people of California, upon a solemn pledge of economy in the administration of State affairs, and having unflinchingly obeyed the law throughout my term of office, I am now gratified to close my administration with all pledges fulfilled and to pay a tribute of merited commendation to the legislators and State officers who, during the last four years, have ably assisted me in those labors which have culminated in numerous public benefits and advantages, and among others in the creditable record of the lowest tax rate in the history of the administrations of this State. Properly to moderate the expenses of a fast-growing State, with vast resources and numberless needs, and, at the same time, not to hinder its onward development by restrictive parsimony, is no mild problem of statecraft. Nor, in the exercise of necessary and firm restraint, is it easy to avoid the criticism of careless observers, or the denunciation of those whose personal interests may seem to be injuriously affected by the improvement of the State's interests.

During my administration I allowed all proper appropriations to meet the current expenses of government, and provided, without stint, for every State institution and State need, but I curtailed extravagance by vetoing excessive and inexpedient appropriations, so that the State is now on a business basis and able to pay its demands without either a discount of its warrants or the exhaustion of its General Fund.

In disallowing appropriations I have not evaded any law which required their payment, nor any State exigency which was required to be, sooner or later, faced.

Believing that the farming and stock-raising industries of the State would be best promoted by advancing the interests of the several existing agricultural associations established by law, I approved liberal but not lavish appropriations for their support.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE OPENED—ENACTMENT AND OPERATION OF LAW ESTABLISHING SEPARATE PRINTING FUNDS FOR STATE OFFICERS.

I opened the State Printing Office, which had been closed during the last year of my predecessor's term, and, having allowed sufficient appropriation to pay the current expenses, I approved, on March 6, 1899, the Act entitled: "An Act to add a new section to the Political Code, to be known and numbered as section five hundred and forty, creating the State Printing Fund, authorizing its use, and prescribing the duties of the Superintendent of State Printing, Controller, and Treasurer, in connection therewith, all relating to State printing."

Section three of said Act provides for the printing of reports of all State officers, boards, and commissions out of their separate printing funds, which funds were provided for in the General Appropriation Bill.

This law was passed in pursuance of my suggestion in my inaugural address, where, on page 9, directing attention to the burdens incident to the State printing, I said:

"The expense of such printing, which should properly be charged against the account of the officers of the departments and institutions ordering the printing, is unjustly arrayed against the State Printer's account. Some proper check should be imposed upon the expense of printing incurred by the various officers, boards, and departments. Each public institution and office should be charged for its printing out of its separate appropriation or funds on hand."

This new law has, with few exceptions, worked well; for it has caused each State officer to be circumspect and economical concerning printing expenses, and, therefore, has redounded to the material advantage of the people.

OVER-LEGISLATION.

In my inaugural address and, subsequently, in the first biennial message, I adverted to the evils of over-legislation, and now, after an experience of four years, the belief entertained by me that much damage results to the State from the multiplication of new laws has grown into positive conviction.

The zeal of legislators sometimes makes them forget that a new law is, generally, a displacement of a previously existing right, and that the judicial branch of the government will probably pass upon the legislative enactment in the course of litigation arising out of the process of adjusting the new law to the existing relations. A State is less liable to suffer from a paucity than from a redundancy of laws.

It was aptly said by one of the learned Justices of our Supreme Court, in a recent case: "A scarcity of statutory laws and want of facility for passing them are not among the evils of the times."

Statutes require time for their maturity in order to manifest their equitable, or disclose their inequitable, effects.

They need the soil of usage and the water of judicial interpretation for their growth and development; and, when once planted, the legislative plow should be tardily exercised.

The rights and obligations of the people are correlated, and so delicately adjusted that sudden and extensive changes in the laws under these relations and hinder the harmonious progress of the State.

The repeal of useless and unconstitutional laws which burden our statute books would be more beneficial than the adoption of a number of hastily-considered new laws and doubtful amendments.

Incidental to this evil of over-legislation is an inclination on the part of legislators to enact general laws to fit special cases in order to evade Section 25 of Article IV of the State Constitution, which prohibits local or special legislation. General laws are often passed which, in fact, are only designed to benefit particular individuals or localities, or to relieve special conditions, but, although the special purpose be good, it often happens that the very generality of the law impairs other and more material rights.

Different conditions, as a rule, require different laws

It is a matter to be regretted that the constitutional provision against special and local legislation is so wide-reaching in its effects

While the evil that was intended to be remedied and guarded against by Section 25 of Article IV was a very serious one, still the new evil of the enactment of general laws to fit special cases is more serious, and it would be well for this constitutional section to be so amended as to permit necessary exceptions, thereby doing away with this injurious method of legislative evasion.

GOVERNOR'S TIME TO ACT ON LEGISLATIVE BILLS SHOULD BE EXTENDED.

The Constitution has fixed a most inopportune time for the inauguration of the Governor and the assembling of the legislators.

The newly elected Executive is, under the existing laws, compelled to face a busy session of the Legislature at the very beginning of his official career, before he can inform himself in detail of the State's necessities, or outline a complete policy of State administration.

Added to this impeding disadvantage is the constitutional provision which restricts the time to ten days after the adjournment of the Legislature for approval or disapproval of the numerous important and unimportant bills which are left to the Governor for action by the outgoing legislators, and which increase his many great responsibilities.

During the last week of the session hundreds of bills, many of them very lengthy, and nearly all involving intricate questions of law as well as of policy, are thrust upon the wearied Executive, and it is expected that he can determine these many vexed problems within this narrow constitutional limit of ten days.

Mental as well as physical capacity has its varying limit, and infinite powers are not predicable of Executives.

The Governor should be allowed much more time to examine and intelligently pass upon the various Acts which are submitted by the Legislature for his approval, and which is impossible under the present law.

In the absence of a constitutional amendment remedying this matter, and until the adoption of such a measure, I recommend that the Legislature make use of their discretionary power, and, by concurrent resolution, frame and pass all bills designed for laws and present them to the Governor eight or nine days before the final adjournment. This time would, in addition to the constitutional time, give the Governor eighteen or nineteen days within which to pass upon the numerous measures enacted.

These remaining eight or nine days of partial legislative inaction could be profitably used, among other ways, by the Senate and Assembly in most carefully considering and deliberating upon resolutions and constitutional amendments, pursuing investigations, and acting upon the reports of committees, and the members might also, in their individual capacity, materially assist the Executive by furnishing him with needed information concerning the nature of the bills submitted for his signature.

Where measures, passed by slender majorities, are proper subjects for argument, the Executive, during this interval, might be afforded an opportunity of hearing reasons from both the supporters and opponents of the bills. No higher service could be rendered the State than the adoption of such a course by the Legislature, for it would not only enable the Governor to act more advisedly upon the measures presented, but also prove a barrier to the passage of the many loose and ill-digested laws which are hurried through the Senate and Assembly during the few closing days and hours of the session. At all events, even if the legislators did nothing except to assist the Executive, this interval would be of the highest benefit to the State.

CAREFUL REVISION OF THE ELECTION LAWS A NECESSITY.

The recent election has, no doubt, revealed to your minds various and serious defects in the election laws, which tend to defeat the free expression of the will of the electors.

The necessity of a careful and thorough revision of these important laws which vitally affect fundamental rights being made evident, I am satisfied that from the many amendments which will probably be presented, you will select only those which are constitutional, clear, simple, honest, and best adapted to the requirements of free and intelligent citizens.

In this class of legislation wise counsel will doubtlessly be afforded by my distinguished successor, to whom you will look for the approval of just laws designed to promote these desired ends.

NECESSITY FOR LEGISLATION REGULATING THE DRILLING FOR OIL AND GAS.

Great injury is likely to result to property from the negligent and careless manner of drilling oil and gas wells, as well as from the negligent and careless plugging and filling of such wells after abandonment.

It is quite evident that we shall soon be in great need of some legislation to regulate the conditions surrounding drilling of oil and gas wells. I recommend this matter to your most careful consideration.

LAND FRAUDS—NECESSITY OF VESTING IN THE GOVERNOR POWER OF WITHDRAWAL OF LANDS FROM SALE.

In my message to the Legislature convened in extra session, January 29, 1900, I directed especial attention to the evil of fraudulent speculation in the public lands, and of the open misuse, by land-brokers and speculators, of the rights and privileges afforded by the national and State land laws to bona fide settlers.

In that message it was said that during the last few years thousands of acres of valuable State land had passed under the control of land rings, which lands were sold at prices ranging from four dollars and upward, and were used by the purchasers as scrip for the purpose of obtaining valuable mineral and oil land as well outside as within the State.

This matter did not, however, receive the consideration from the Legislature which its importance deserved, and it was not surprising from this inaction, that a few months afterward disclosures should have been made concerning the perpetration of frauds in the acquisition of valuable mineral and oil lands. Had the Legislature then acted upon my suggestion many valuable claims legally acquired by bona fide appropriators would not have been subjected to the troublesome litigation which ensued, nor would the frauds of the land ring have continued to the detriment of the State and the honest settlers and miners. The quantity of available public land of the State open to entry is small and is fast diminishing, and it is necessary, if any remedy is to be invoked by law, that it should be carried into effect immediately.

I repeat here the reasons and the remedy suggested on pages 16, 17, and 18 of the message at the extra session of 1900, namely:

"Until proper amendments are made to the laws relating to our public land, power should be vested in the Governor to withdraw from sale the school lands, which are now being used as scrip to take the place of the Valentine and Porterfield scrip.

"One of the principal objects of the sale by the State of its public lands to private persons is to encourage its actual settlement and cultivation, and when the intention of our statutes is so perverted through the pernicious schemes of land-jobbers, it becomes the high and solemn duty of the legislators to prevent such frauds for the protection of the people.

"Owing to the Act of Congress directing the President to set apart forest reserves upon the public domain of the United States, various reserves covering large tracts of valuable timber and other lands belonging to the State in 16th and 36th sections have been placed within the boundaries of these reserves. As the title to these school sections still remained in the State, they were subject to entry and sale under our State laws, notwithstanding that they fall within the boundaries of the proclaimed reserves.

"In the Act of Congress dated June 4, 1897 (Vol. 30, U. S. Statutes, page 36), the following provision is made for the benefit of actual settlers and owners of land within these reserves, allowing a relinquishment of their titles to the United States:

"That in cases in which a tract covered by an unperfected bona fide claim or by a patent is included within the limits of a public forest reservation, the settler or owner thereof may, if he desires to do so, relinquish the tract to the Government, and may select in lieu thereof a tract of vacant land open to settlement, not exceeding in area the tract covered by his claim or patent; and no charge shall be made in such cases for making the entry of record or issuing the patent to cover the tract selected; provided further, that in cases of unperfected claims the requirements of the laws respecting settlement, residence, improvements, and so forth, are complied with on the new claims, credit being allowed for the time spent on the relinquished claims."

"This provision of the United States statute, together with the condition of our own laws, has been used by the land ring for their own selfish and unlawful purposes.

"Immediately after the proclamation by the President of a forest reserve within this State, applications for State school land within such reserve have been filed, and immediately sold as scrip by local dealers, as well as by dealers in other States, at prices ranging as high as $5 per acre, whereas the State can only receive $1.25 per acre. The land attorneys secure the relinquishment of the entryman or his assignee to the United States, and file application for other public lands of the United States, even outside of the State of California.

"In cases where the State school lands within the reserves have been patented, the dealers secure under said Act of Congress patents to other lands which they have located.

"By reason of this privilege afforded by the United States statutes and our own lax laws, the school lands within the forest reserves are greatly increasing in value, and much of the land has been cornered by the land attorneys, and is now advertised and sold as scrip.

"If the State is obliged to part under the existing laws with its school lands within these reserves, so that it likewise loses the taxes which would be paid by an actual settler, in the absence of the ability of the State's officers to detect and discriminate between fraudulent and bona fide land claims, then the people of the State should reap the benefit from the advanced value of such lands which now go to the land-jobbers, by authorizing the Governor to withdraw such land from sale at the minimum price, and to sell the same at an increased price, according to its value."

OFFICIAL CHAMPERTY.

The covert maintenance of claims against the State by State officers and their deputies should receive a permanent check by the passage of stringent penal laws.

State officers should be content with the compensation provided by law, and their duty to the people does not permit of a secret partnership in claims, no matter how valid, which may be urged by others against the State.

Information secured by a State officer, through his control of State records, should not be attempted to be used directly or indirectly for his personal benefit.

I recommend that it be made a felony for any State officer or deputy to speculate or encourage speculations respecting any claim or demand against the State, or to aid or abet any other person in any suit upon a claim or demand against the State.

WATER AND FOREST LEGISLATION, AND SOME REASONS FOR MY VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 7.

The Legislature, at its last session in 1901, passed a measure, known as Senate Bill No. 7, apparently, but not really, for the benefit of the irrigation needs of the State which bill, for the reasons here stated, I was compelled to disapprove.

Since my veto a few persons, with the aid of some few newspapers, have misconstrued the reasons for that veto as well as the motives which prompted it, and have pictured said Senate bill as a most beneficent measure, the disapproval of which it is asserted caused irreparable detriment to the State.

So greatly was the matter mooted that, through the same selfish and improper sources, a denunciation of the veto was made a plank in the last State Democratic platform.

Conceding, for the purposes of argument only, that Senate Bill No. 7 was intrinsically meritorious, still it was not a duty, under my oath of office, to approve it because of its merit alone.

It is not enough that legislative measures carrying large appropriations should be intrinsically meritorious in order to receive Executive sanction.

In the signing of appropriation bills the exercise of the Governor's best judgment is required for the protection of the people of the State from heavy taxation, etc. Measures demanding the payment of large sums of the people's money must not only be praiseworthy in themselves, but must be actually just, urgent, and necessary. In performing his duty to the people the Executive can not protect them from heavy burdens if he give approval to every meritorious bill carrying an appropriation which chances to pass the Senate and Assembly. Meritorious bills appropriating several hundreds of thousands of dollars are introduced at every session of the Legislature and receive legislative approval, but not being actually necessary and urgent, the Governor's discretionary veto in such cases is the only protection of the people of the State from onerous taxation. In the exercise of this discretion the Governor must be guided by the exigencies of each case and must take into consideration the amount of standing appropriations demanded by existing laws, as well as claims against the State, both those accrued and to accrue, in forming a proper estimate of the total appropriations which he can approve.

At the legislative session of 1901, when Senate Bill No. 7 was presented, I deemed it my duty to veto bills which had passed the same Legislature, amounting to a total of $1,283,365.35, in which sum is included the $107,000 appropriated by the aforesaid Senate bill.

Had I approved all of the bills carrying appropriations which passed the Legislature at that time, such action would justly have deserved very severe criticism.

Now, considering Senate Bill No. 7 upon the assumption that it was a commendable public measure (which, in fact, as presented, it was not), let me ask, was this bill appropriating $107,000 necessary, urgent, and indispensable at the time of its passage? Have the people of the State suffered a detriment that can not be remedied at some ensuing legislative session? An answer to these questions, independently of an exposure of the actual demerits of the bill, will disclose the unfairness of those self-seeking persons who, with pen and tongue, have so frequently and unjustly assailed my veto and position respecting the subject of irrigation.

The following is the full text of the bill:

"An Act to provide for the joint investigation with the Federal Government of the water resources of the State, and of the best methods of preserving the forests thereof; appointing a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners to conduct such investigations on behalf of the State, and making an appropriation for the expenses of such investigations

"The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

"Section 1. There is hereby constituted a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners, composed of three citizens of the State, who shall be appointed by the Governor on or before April first, nineteen hundred and one. No two of such commissioners shall be a resident of the same county.

"Section 2. Such commissioners shall hold office for the term of two years.

"Section 3. Before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, each of said commissioners shall take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and to faithfully and honestly discharge his duties as such commissioner, and shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an official bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Governor, in the penal sum of twenty thousand dollars, conditional for the faithful performance of his duties.

"Section 4. Such commissioners shall receive no salary. They shall have power to employ a secretary at a salary of not exceeding one hundred dollars per month, and shall be allowed a contingent fund of not exceeding two hundred dollars per month, to defray office and actual traveling expenses, and shall annually account to the Governor for all moneys received and disbursed by them. The said commissioners shall annually, on the first day of September, report fully to the Governor, setting forth in detail the work done and projected during the preceding year, with such recommendations for carrying into effect the purposes of this Act as to them seems best. Such commissioners may receive donations to assist them in carrying out the purposes of this Act, accounting as such commissioners for such donations.

"Section 5. Said commissioners shall have power to enter into such contracts as may seem best to them with the lawfully authorized representatives of any department of the Federal Government for the purpose of making topographic surveys and a joint investigation of and report on the water resources of the State, the best methods of developing, controlling, and utilizing the same, and the best methods of preserving the forests; provided, however, that their expenditures for such purposes shall not be in excess of the amounts to be expended by the department of the Federal Government in collaboration with which any specific work is done. They may also in like manner and subject to the same conditions make such experiments for preserving the forests of the State as may seem best to them, and to the representatives of the branch of the Federal Government authorized to undertake such experiments.

"Section 6. In order to carry out the purposes of this Act, any person or persons employed hereunder are authorized to enter and cross all lands within this State; provided, in so doing no damage is done to private property; it shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in such cases, for any person or persons to wilfully and maliciously remove or destroy any permanent marks or monuments made or erected by any of such persons.

"Section 7. The sum of one hundred and seven thousand two hundred dollars is hereby appropriated as a special fund for the purposes specified in this Act, and the Controller of State is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such fund from time to time upon the requisition of two of such commissioners, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants; provided, one half of the appropriation herein shall be available in the fifty-third fiscal year, and the remaining one half of said appropriation shall be available in the fifty-fourth fiscal year; and provided further, that the part of said appropriation to be available in the fifty-fourth fiscal year shall not be used until there shall be made to the Governor by the said commissioners a satisfactory report, with maps attached, of their operations during the preceding fiscal year, and the Governor shall certify to the Controller the fact of his having received such satisfactory report.

"Section 8. This Act shall take effect immediately."

It is apparent from the whole context of the bill that the work of the commissioners, to be appointed under its provisions, was intended to be merely preliminary. The commissioners were not given any powers to preserve the forests of the State, or to protect its water resources, and, from the standpoint of the Constitution, no such powers could have been lawfully delegated by the Legislature.

What necessity and urgency existed, then, of appropriating this large amount of money at the session of 1901? Even the framers of the bill did not contemplate that the commissioners who were to be appointed under it could reach a final solution of the best methods of preserving the forests of the State, and make a report in full of its water resources within less than two years, because by Section 2 of the bill they fixed the term of office for that period of time.

The duties of the commissioners are undefined and the character and limit of their work are left for their own determination. It is discretionary with them not only what methods to employ, but even to determine when the work will begin. The only specific injunctions seem to be, first, under Section 4 of the bill, that the commissioners shall annually, "on the first of September, report fully to the Governor in detail the work done and projected during the preceding year," and under Section 7, it is made a condition precedent for their use of the appropriation of the fifty-fourth fiscal year that they shall make to the Governor "a satisfactory report, with maps attached, of their operations during the preceding fiscal year." Under this latitudinarian measure, who except the commissioners could place a limit upon their investigations, or determine when they had finished their labors? Who, except the commissioners, could say at the end of two years what problem in forestry or in irrigation remained unsolved? Is it to be assumed that the next Legislature would abolish this all-wise commission when its report should be presented and the $107,000 appropriated should be expended?

Legislation giving unlimited powers to individuals and commissioners has never been satisfactory. No matter how honest may be the individuals selected to fill public office, still public policy demands that their powers be defined and limited, in order that their private views and interests be subordinated to public duty.

It is evident, therefore, that the only loss sustained by the people of the State by the veto of Senate Bill No. 7 has been the failure to receive the opinions and conclusions of three citizens of unknown lineage, ability, and integrity on the forests and water resources of the State; whereas, on the other hand, the people have been enabled to retain in their pockets the aggregate sum of $107,000. Balancing this loss and profit, is it not fair to believe that the people could afford to wait until this legislative session, when a proper and more definite bill can be passed, if required, which will actually outline definite plans and operations for the preservation of the forests and the conservation of the waters?

If this Legislature should, in its wisdom, decide upon the necessity of creating a forest and water commission, it will be enabled in the light of the indefinite Senate Bill No. 7, to impose proper restrictions upon the powers of the commission and outline with certainty the work to be performed.

But the bill itself is not by its terms sufficiently meritorious, nor such as would directly benefit the people, nor, had it received my approval, could it have effected the excellent purposes of its framers and supporters.

Personally I favor, unrestrainedly, and recognize the necessity for, the passage of efficient laws for the preservation of the forests and the conservation of the waters of the State.

I favor, also, the passage of laws carrying substantial appropriations to effect these objects, but I do not favor the creation of commissions with undefined powers and unlimited authority to control the work and to expend according to their own private views appropriations made for these necessary and beneficial purposes. Public work must be subordinated to public control. The expenditures of public money must be carefully safeguarded by law and strictly accounted for to the people.

Senate Bill No. 7 was far from being a useful public measure. The bill as framed is objectionable upon the following grounds:

First—There is no special duty imposed upon the commissioners, except in Sections 4 and 7, wherein they are merely required to report annually to the Governor their operations and present maps.

Second—There is no limitation upon their power to contract.

Third—There is nothing in the bill directing the commissioners to do any specific work in any particular manner through which the State might receive practical benefit.

Fourth—There is nothing to indicate the feasibility or possibility of any joint action of this commission with any special Federal board or officer, and there is no special Act of Congress which would make such co-operation effective. In the absence of a specific Act of Congress authorizing such joint investigation and providing for a proper plan of operations, the work of this commission would be of no practical benefit.

Fifth—The bill as framed is objectionable, among other things, in this, that it embraces more than one subject, which subjects are even expressed in the title, to wit: "Providing for an investigation and report on the water resources of the State," and also for an investigation and report on the best methods of preserving the forests of the State.

Such an Act, if passed, would probably be declared unconstitutional and void as opposed to Article IV, Section 24, of the State Constitution.

The extent and vagueness of the powers to be exercised under this measure bring it within the criticism of the Supreme Court of this State, decided in People vs. Parks, 58 Cal. 638, where it was said regarding a bill in no degree less certain nor less extensive in its grant of powers than Senate Bill No. 7, as follows: "Under it may be concealed many subjects which are not expressed in the title;" and again on page 643 of the same report of the case, it is said: "There are powers conferred upon it (the Legislature) alone by the Constitution, and it can not delegate them to any other department of the government or to any agency of its appointment, because it would be confiding to others that legislative discretion which legislators are bound to exercise themselves, and which they can not delegate to any other man or men to be exercised."

The power to conserve the waters of the State and to protect its forests is one eminently reserved to the whole people of the State to be exercised through the Legislature in conformity with the Constitution, and the Legislature can not forego this important function by delegating its exercise to individual commissioners. If the vague powers attempted to be conferred upon the commissioners under the extremely indefinite provisions of this bill could be so realized as to be of practical benefit to the State, the commissioners would necessarily be obliged to decide and determine their own powers and fix the limits under said bill, which functions are purely legislative and, if actually done, would be perhaps void as opposed to the Constitution.

From a sound business view of the matter the bill as prepared was unnecessary in the main and the appropriation under the circumstances an extravagant and wasteful diversion of the public money. So far as this bill required an investigation of the water resources of the State and the preparation of maps therefor, the history of State legislation upon this subject shows that much of this work has already been done under appropriations made for the State Engineer, an office created by an Act approved March 29, 1878 (Acts 1877-8, p. 634), which office has since been abolished.

The total amount appropriated by the Legislature for the maintenance of the office of State Engineer and the completion of the surveys and work commenced from the creation of the office, March 29, 1878, until 1887, amounted to over $250,000.

The Act creating that office outlined the work to be performed, specifically defined the duties, and limited the scope of the powers of the office created. Mr William Ham Hall, who very ably filled the office, did much valuable work in the line of that dimly indicated in Senate Bill No. 7. During his term of office, Mr. Hall compiled two large volumes of a report full of valuable historical and statistical information, and also prepared elaborate detail irrigation maps of Southern California, great central valley maps, and topographical and irrigation maps of said valleys, all of which have been for a long time and still are for sale in the office of the Secretary of State. These interesting publications, secured at an expense of over $250,000 to this State, have been of little practical benefit to the people, and yet the work was done carefully and thoroughly.

In the light of the result of such legislation, it would be as foolish as it is unnecessary for the State to repeat this experience by appropriating more money for more literature.

State legislation upon the important subject of forestry has likewise been unfortunate for the people, because lacking in certainty. Over $95,000 of appropriations have been expended through a Commission or Board of Forestry from the creation of the board by Act approved March 3, 1885, until its repeal in 1893, and the transfer of its property to the Agricultural Department of the State University by Act approved March 23, 1893. The establishment of a Board of Forestry, by reason of the very general terms of the law, was not of such value to the people as to demand its continuance, and the result of this expenditure of money was mainly in adding to the stock of dead State literature in the form of a few consecutive biennial reports.

Nor is the provision in Senate Bill No. 7, requiring the commissioners to co-operate with Federal boards or officers, either judicious in itself or such as would result in practical advantage to the State.

Assuming, in the absence of an Act of Congress, that these commissioners could lawfully co-operate with existing Federal boards or officers, the State officers would necessarily be subordinate, both in the methods of operation and in the expenditure of the appropriation. Indeed, the work in such event could only be effected in obedience to the directions and under the regulations of the United States Department of Agriculture. The Federal authorities would, therefore, be supreme, and the work undertaken would be primarily in the interest of the Federal Government and in pursuance of its general policy.

This suggests another reason why such a measure would be unnecessary. The history of congressional legislation upon the subject of the conservation of waters and forests and the reclamation of arid lands shows a well-defined policy of the Federal Government, conformable with the wishes of the people, to assume control and protection at the expense of the nation, and not of the individual States. In view of this policy, Congress has heretofore for many years made extensive surveys and published valuable maps upon the subject, and vast sums from the national treasury have been expended for these excellent purposes. So generally have the people of the United States accepted and confirmed the policy of the Federal Government in assuming control and expending the national money in this laudable manner, that a plank was inserted in the Republican National Platform of 1900 in the following words:

"In the further pursuance of the constant policy of the Republican party to provide free homes on the public domain, we recommend adequate national legislation to reclaim the arid lands of the United States, reserving control of the distribution of water for irrigation to the respective States and Territories."

In the proclamation of the Presidents since the time of President Cleveland, under authority of Congress withdrawing public lands from entry and setting aside forest reserves, we perceive the general policy of national control at national expense.

President Roosevelt, in his excellent message to Congress, December 3, 1901, suggesting subjects for examination and legislation, specifically and emphatically approved of this national policy in the following language:

"At present the protection of the forest reserves rests with the General Land Office, the mapping and description of their timber with the United States Geological Survey, and the preparation of plans for the conservative use with the Bureau of Forestry, which is also charged with the general advancement of practical forestry in the United States. These various functions should be united in the Bureau of Forestry, to which they properly belong. * * *

"The forests are natural reservoirs. By restraining the streams in flood and replenishing them in drought they make possible the use of waters otherwise wasted. They prevent the soil from washing, and so protect the storage reservoirs from filling up with silt. Forest conservation is therefore an essential condition of water conservation.

"The forests alone can not, however, fully regulate and conserve the waters of the arid region. Great storage works are necessary to equalize the flow of streams and to save the flood waters. Their construction has been conclusively shown to be an undertaking too vast for private effort. Nor can it be best accomplished by the individual States acting alone.

"Far-reaching interstate problems are involved, and the resources of single States would often be inadequate. It is properly a national function, at least in some of its features. It is as right for the National Government to make the streams and rivers of the arid region useful by engineering works for water storage as to make useful the rivers and harbors of the humid region by engineering works of another kind. The storing of the floods in reservoirs at the headwaters of our rivers is but an enlargement of our present policy of river control, under which levees are built on the lower branches of the same streams.

"The Government should construct and maintain these reservoirs as it does other public works. Where their purpose is to regulate the flow of streams, the water should be turned freely into the channels in the dry season to take the same course under the same laws as the natural flow.

"The reclamation of the unsettled arid public lands presents a different problem. Here it is not enough to regulate the flow of streams. The object of the Government is to dispose of the land to settlers who will build homes upon it. To accomplish this object water must be brought within their reach. * * *

"There remain, however, vast areas of public land which can be made available for homestead settlement, but only by reservoirs and main-line canals impracticable for private enterprise. These irrigation works should be built by the National Government. The lands reclaimed by them should be reserved by the Government for actual settlers, and the cost of construction should so far as possible be repaid by the land reclaimed. The distribution of water, the division of streams among irrigators, should be left to the settlers themselves in conformity with State laws and without interference with those laws or with vested rights. The policy of the National Government should be to aid irrigation in the several States and Territories in such manner as will enable the people in the local communities to help themselves, and as will stimulate needed reforms in the State laws and regulations governing irrigation. * * *

"At the very beginning the Government should make clear, beyond shadow of doubt, its intention to pursue this policy on lines of the broadest public interest. No reservoir or canal should ever be built to satisfy selfish personal or local interests, but only in accordance with the advice of trained experts, after long investigation has shown the locality where all the conditions combine to make the work most needed and fraught with the greatest usefulness to the community as a whole. There should be no extravagance, and the believers in the need of irrigation will most benefit their cause by seeing to it that it is free from the least taint of excessive or reckless expenditure of the public moneys."

From the above excerpts from the President's message, as well as from our knowledge of the declared Federal policy as expressed in congressional legislation, it is evident that the public water sources and forests should be mainly a matter of National, and not State, protection and expense, because the general welfare and not merely State wealth is principally promoted. While I believe in substantial State assistance for State benefit, I am convinced that continuous and large appropriations of hundreds of thousands of dollars should not be expended by the State, enhancing the burdens of taxpayers, for the promotion of work which the Federal Government is both willing and able to undertake.

At the very beginning of my administration I was so impressed with the policy to which the Federal Government was pledged by the National Republican party that I used in my inaugural address the following words:

"The drought of last year again illustrated the great necessity of the storage of mountain waters and winter rains for irrigation purposes to meet the contingency of dry seasons. The expense of such an undertaking is so far beyond the means of the State, and the advantages are so great to the Federal Government for the irrigation, reclamation, and sale of its public arid lands within the State, that the money to be raised for such purposes properly falls within the domain of Congress.

"The construction of storage reservoirs would induce settlers to take up locations upon the public arid lands, enhancing, through settlement and cultivation, the value of such land, and adding largely to the population and wealth of the State and Nation.

"Our Senators and Representatives in Congress should be requested to introduce a measure to secure Federal aid in this direction."

The truth of these opinions entertained by me in 1899 has been corroborated by the clear enunciation of the Federal policy outlined by President Roosevelt in his message.

In his last message to Congress, in December, 1902, President Roosevelt directed the attention of Congress to the importance of "the inauguration of the system of nationally-aided irrigation for the arid regions of the far West," thereby advocating the continuance of the policy of appropriations by the Federal Government for the development and storage of waters on the public lands, and the preservation of the forests which are natural sources of water supply.

At the time of the passage of Senate Bill No. 7, appropriating $107,000, there was awaiting my action Assembly Bill No. 873, passed by the Legislature, appropriating $250,000 for the purchase, for a State park, of a tract of land situate in Santa Cruz and San Mateo counties containing trees known as Sequoia sempervirens. It was represented to me by thousands of citizens, as well as by the promoters of the bill, that these magnificent forest giants were about to be destroyed and their loss certainly would be irreparable. The bill was argued for its urgency as well as necessity, and the threatened destruction seemed to justify its passage.

The question, therefore, independent of the merits or demerits of Senate Bill No. 7, was to choose between these two measures. On the one hand, was presented to me the probable loss to California of those rare and splendid trees, unequalled for grandeur and beauty by any in the world; on the other hand, Senate Bill No. 7, providing for a preliminary report on water resources and forestry, which report was not required to be presented for a period of two years. To burden the taxpayers with both appropriations on top of the necessarily large appropriations for the maintenance of the State and the payment of State claims, would have been a gross injustice and a misuse of Executive discretion.

I feel, therefore, that I was fully justified in choosing the more necessary and urgent measure and expressing in my veto of Senate Bill No. 7 the following reason:

"While this measure might contribute to important and beneficial results to the State, the large appropriation which it carries, when considered together with the large appropriation demanded in the purchase of the Redwood Park under the terms of Assembly Bill No. 873, make it impossible for me at this session to approve both bills, without resulting in great burden to the taxpayers."

When the intrinsic defects of Senate Bill No. 7 are considered, it will be conceded by impartial persons that the duty of the Executive was, under the circumstances, to disapprove the bill because no loss could result thereby to the State. The fact that there was no restriction upon the commissioners in the expenditure of the money proposed to be appropriated, and no direction for any specific work, nor limitation upon their powers, justified me in my action. Good State policy demands that the State should neither surrender to individuals the control of its forests and waters for private experiments, nor open to speculative ventures the public money. The State is a trustee for all its citizens, and to resign that trust would be to abandon its sovereign functions. Had the necessity for the passage of this bill existed which is claimed by my critics, it is strange that the Senate and Assembly did not overrule my veto, which they had the power and which it was their duty to do in such an event, if my veto was not just and proper. The acquiescence of the Legislature by refusing to pass the bill over my veto is a distinct indorsement of my policy, and it deserves praise for its reconsideration which saved the taxpayers the payment of $107,000 through an idle and ill-considered measure from which the State would have reaped no advantage.

But, at all events, the advocates of this mischievous and expensive bill may console themselves with its loss in the fact that if, unmindful of the public welfare, I had given it my approval, the measure itself might have been nugatory by reason of its probable unconstitutionality.

Such laws as you may choose to pass in aid of irrigation should be drawn in a manner not to interfere with vested rights, nor involve the State, inextricably, with Federal management and control, so as to embarrass and subordinate the rights of the State in its waters; nor entangle, with Federal questions of control, the interests of farmers, fruit-growers, and other users of water so as to necessitate long litigation in Federal courts for their final determination, and postpone for an indefinite time the enjoyment and exercise of those interests.

In conclusion, I wish to repeat and emphasize the fact that I am heartily in favor of all proper and adequate laws which will conserve the waters of the State and safeguard its forests, and I believe in the allowance of sufficient State appropriations to carry into effect practical State projects and plans; but such appropriations should neither be continuous nor excessive so as to become burdensome to the citizens, nor should the State attempt to trench upon the domain of the Federal Government nor undertake projects and plans which the Nation is willing to execute and the expenses of which it is willing to assume.

THE CRIME OF LIBEL SHOULD BE MADE A FELONY.

The social, moral, and material interests of the State depend upon the honor of the individuals who constitute it.

Material wealth is but a means to the mental, moral, and physical good of the members of a commonwealth.

Public wealth rests primarily upon public honor, and public honor is the aggregate of the good reputations of the people who form the constituent elements. The people, therefore, have a most vital interest in the subject of their reputations singly as well as collectively.

Commerce moves with public honor and credit, and public honor and credit rest ultimately upon a series of individual confidences.

The light of a good reputation, though centered in personal character, derives its principal brightness and efficiency from sound public judgment.

Our laws, both civil and penal, are strictly framed and multiplied to meet all emergencies in our supreme effort to protect the material property of our State, its citizens, residents and temporary sojourners.

Our laws, both civil and penal, are numerous and stringent for our physical protection against death, illegal restraint, and bodily injury. Yet, strangely, the greatest of our constitutional rights, that which we most prize, which alone makes life worth the living, upon which depends the right of enjoying life and liberty and of pursuing happiness (Art. I, Sec. 1, Constitution of California)—the right to be preserved in that good reputation and character which we labor and struggle to earn and leave as a heritage to our children—this supreme right is less fortified in law than our most trivial rights of property.

In England, in the latter part of the eighteenth century, when the press had scarcely a voice and human life and liberty were at the beck of an absolute despot, and when the law concerning seditious libels was formulated in the cabinet of the King, and docilely announced from the bench by corrupt and willing judges, it became necessary for a freedom-loving people to resort to a technical defense in favor of the press by claiming that the jury in cases of libel had the right of determining both the law and the fact.

This position, subsequently enacted in the form of a statute by Parliament in the reign of George III, became a safeguard for press utterances in England.

But in this country the press never was enslaved. Breathing the free spirit of the American colonies, it required no such fiction and no such guaranty. The construction and interpretation of our laws by our courts have always strongly favored those accused of crime. It remained, however, for the majority of the framers of our State Constitution to engraft this English provision in our bill of rights, where it now appears in Section 9 of Article I of the present Constitution, in part copied from the old Constitution, its effect being to give the libeler a superior standing among criminals.

An eminent member of the State Constitutional Convention of 1878, now one of the learned Justices of our Supreme Court, in urging the convention to place the criminal libeler upon the plane of other criminals by allowing the judge and not the jury to determine the law of the case, thus tersely and cogently illustrated the point:

"If a thief robs you of your property he has not done you an irreparable injury, for you can acquire more; but when he destroys your character he destroys that by which you acquire property. I am not speaking of character in the sentimental sense. If he should assail your character, by which you earn your living, then he is in fact destroying your property. In that sense character is the dearest thing we have—the most valuable. Now, sir, the man who steals your property must be tried by the ordinary laws of the country, but the man who steals your character must stand above the law, spit in the face of the law, because he has a peculiar profession."

Unhappily, this sage advice and appeal was unheeded; hence, the libeler stands to-day in this State guarded, beyond all power of legislative interference, by a constitutional provision which makes him an aristocrat among criminals by reason of the singular prerogative which he may claim on his trial, that the law of libel is not to be taken by the jury from the lips of the court nor from the statutes enacted by the people, but must be determined by the jury according to their own interpretation, whims, and prejudices. Notwithstanding that the assassin of character is thus favored and protected by an extraordinary constitutional privilege, even though his dastard crime may destroy the fairest reputations of man and woman and drive the maligned to suicide or to a madhouse, yet, under our present laws, the punishment of this criminal is confined to a bare fine or a limited imprisonment in a county jail, leaving the alternative mode of punishment and the minimum penalty to the mere discretion of a possibly intimidated superior or police judge or justice of the peace.

If the libeler's privilege be greater than that of any other criminal, in view of the gravity of the crime, should not the grade be raised from misdemeanor to felony?

Public and individual wealth are subordinate to and of less value than public and individual honor and reputation.

Lord Bacon, living in an age of corruption, had a much higher appreciation of the worth of human reputation than would seem to be ours if we judge from the condition of our laws, for he said: "Men's reputations are tender things, and ought to be, like Christ's coat, without a seam."

The present great Emperor of Germany, last November, defending the memory of Mr. Krupp against newspaper defamation of the deceased manufacturer, manifested his abhorrence of the crime of libel in the following strong terms, the force of which must necessarily be impaired in the translation:

"This deed" (speaking of the libel), "with its consequences, is nothing less than murder, for there is no difference between him who mixes and presents a poisonous draught to another and him who, from the safe shelter of his editorial sanctum, with the poisoned darts of his slanders robs his fellowman of his honorable name and kills him by the mental tortures he inflicts."

Howsoever we may cherish our reputations and publicly and privately condemn libel, we have not, as a practical people, given force to our opinions, nor have we sufficiently intrenched ourselves against libelous assaults by the passage of laws meting out penalties commensurate with the gravity of this most flagrant and obnoxious crime.

It is made a felony by our criminal law to steal from the person of another the merest trifle of his personal property, or even, unsuccessfully, to make the attempt.

It is made a felony to creep secretly into another's barn or outhouse with intent to steal the smallest article of value.

But it is only a misdemeanor for one maliciously and deliberately to rob a man or woman of cherished reputation and destroy the honor which years of virtue and honest life have maintained, or foully to invade the privacy of a household, and unbosom and distort its family secrets through the dark innuendoes of a cowardly libel.

It is by our law a felony to attempt to rape the lowest courtesan, but audaciously and vindictively to defame the priceless chastity of purest womanhood is simply a misdemeanor hedged around with the quirks and quilllets of the law.

It is by our law made a felony to steal a bicycle, horse, mare, gelding, cow, steer, bull, calf, mule, jack, or jenny, and the convicted offender may wear the stripes of the penitentiary for a period extending from a minimum of one year to a maximum of ten years. Still, on the other hand, the penalty for the crime committed by the convicted destroyer of man's or woman's reputation is only a maximum fine of five thousand dollars, with a nominal sum as a minimum, or an imprisonment in the county jail for a maximum of one year, with a fractional part of a day as a minimum—the determination of the penalty, within those limits, resting on judicial discretion.

With such insufficient penalties imposed upon the crime, it is no wonder that the dignity of the press should be debased and that licentious journalism should be rampant.

The majority of the newspapers of the State, especially the rural press, are generally controlled and owned by brave, moral censors—men whose purpose in life is to purify public opinion, suppress vice and crime, and maintain, by public argument, the rights and liberties of the people. Unhappily, a few glaring instances are to be seen of newspapers, conducted by morally irresponsible corporations and certain millionaires, which represent, in fact, not the pure and free voice of public opinion, but the business and political interests of the owners, who use them as a means for the attainment of their own ambitions and the expression of their private hates and prejudices.

With few scruples and millions of dollars at their command, and actively interested in many political movements of the State for their own exaltation, these said proprietors have become such ominous elements as to menace the rights of the people and the security of the State.

Capable of misrepresenting public as well as private interests, when they can not dictate to public officers in the performance of their sworn duties, they do not hesitate to resort to vilification. Even State officials, with the many important interests under their administration, may become their victims, if their insatiate and insolent demands be not obeyed by them. A fine to such millionaire publishers, or a limited imprisonment, which does not place upon them the convict's stripes, is not a source of fear, nor can such minor penalties deter them from the course which ambition or revenge may select.

If timorous or pliant men should, under the present imperfect laws, chance to be elected to public office, it may well be foreseen that such officers may become the mere toys or tools of these ambitious publishers.

The reckless and libelous abuse of private character by a few certain newspaper proprietors is made more dangerous when they guiltily combine or conspire to aid or abet one another in defenses against actions for libel.

The rights of citizens should be protected from such conspiring libelers who thus prostitute the purposes and privileges of a free press; hence it is apparent that the punishment now prescribed by law is inadequate to act as a deterrent for so grave an offense.

It is time to reflect upon this menacing and growing peril. It is time that the people should by law assert their majesty. It is time to preserve the sanctity of good character from the wanton and malicious abuse by the harpies who befoul it. It is time to place a public barrier against newspaper intimidation of private citizens, legislators, and other public officers, and to demonstrate that our State government must not be conducted by and for a few newspapers, but by and for the people.

No honest journalist can deem such necessary action subversive of his liberty and privileges or a limitation of the constitutional rights of the press.

While honest criticism of public officers is both a right and a duty upon the part of newspapers, and while it is also a right and duty to expose malversation or incompetency of all public servants, yet libelous abuse and caricature find no justification when, perchance, the policy of a public officer does not accord with the interests or views of the libeler.

If individual reputations may be torn to shreds at the sport or malignant will of a libeler who stands intrenched behind his moneybags, yet public officers ought at least to be permitted to conduct official duties without interference and vilification.

If no constitutional law can be devised by the Legislature to reach this desired end, an amendment to the Constitution tending to abate this alarming evil may in the future become a grave necessity.

At least for the present, as a remedy against wanton and libelous assaults upon the reputation of private individuals and public officers, respect for law and decency may possibly be enforced by making the crime of libel a felony, with a maximum penalty of twenty-five years' imprisonment in the State prison and a minimum imprisonment therein of one year.

It seems to me that it would be no injustice to the press of the State, nor curtailment of its proud liberty, to raise the value in law of man's and woman's reputation, especially considering the fact that the privileged libeler may still stand upon his extraordinary constitutional right of having the jurors, and not the court, determine the law.

As it is but just, however, that there should be no special privileges given to one class accused of crime over another, I recommend a constitutional amendment changing Section 9 of Article I of the Constitution, whereby this legal anomaly of now permitting the libeler to submit the law for the determination of the jury be abolished, and the court be given the power to determine the law as in other cases.

PARDONS, COMMUTATIONS, AND REPRIEVES.

Since my first biennial message, January 7, 1901, I have granted seven pardons and five commutations, as specifically set forth, with my reasons, in "Appendix B" to this message, to which reference is made. This number, added to one pardon and one commutation previously granted and which are described on pages 38 and 39 of my first biennial message, make a total of eight pardons and six commutations granted during my administration up to the date of writing this message.

Of these, four pardons and one commutation were issued to persons serving in county jails for misdemeanors, and four pardons and five commutations were issued to persons serving sentences for felonies.

There are, besides, over a hundred applications awaiting my decision, while hundreds have been denied by me.

If my sense of duty were to be counteracted by purely charitable feelings I should regret that my record of pardons and commutations has been and will be so very much below that of all my distinguished predecessors in office. What was said in my first biennial message upon this subject, I repeat as a part of the reasons which have impelled me to so strictly examine the numerous applications presented, and to grant so few of them as compared with the number of those granted by former Executives.

"The tendency of the human mind is not to resist, but to yield to the appeals of unfortunate criminals and their heart-broken relatives.

"There is a higher duty which the Executive owes to the people. He must not allow his personal sympathies to be swayed. The law-abiding people of the State require protection. Crimes, whether due to weakness of nature or to cool deliberation, must be punished. To liberate criminals upon the appeal of relatives in all instances where the convicts have repented and have served very long and severe sentences, would be practically to declare that crimes should not be punished."

"In nearly fifty per cent of the cases which have been presented, the applications are accompanied by a petition signed by the jury which convicted the criminal, and by a letter of the trial judge, expressing his opinion that the sentence imposed was, perhaps, too severe, or that the ends of justice would be subserved by the liberation of the convict.

"This means of attempting to shift the responsibility of a severe sentence upon the Executive is not an argument which can have much effect upon me where the trial has been presumably a fair one, and where the evidence tends to prove the guilt of the accused.

"Judges are sworn to do their duty. The trial judge has the case before him, with the living witnesses, whose demeanor and words bear the impress of truth or falsehood. The judge has heard the case, and while the jury may convict, the power of granting a new trial still rests with him.

"Under these circumstances, acting upon the presumption that the sworn officers of the law have done their duty, I have steadfastly disregarded such appeals in clear cases.

"I have patiently examined each case in the light of my duty to the people, and while my heart has many times urged me to sign the paper which would bring joy to the prisoner and to his anxious friends, yet my oath of office and my responsibility to the people to maintain the law have demanded a different course."

GRASSHOPPER PEST.

During the months of June and July and the early part of August large swarms of grasshoppers invaded several counties of this State, doing much damage, particularly in the counties of Placer, El Dorado, Sacramento, Fresno, and Tulare. The counties of Placer and El Dorado were their breeding-grounds, from which places they drifted to adjacent localities and thence southward through the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, and scattered in moderate swarms through a few of the counties of Southern California. The damage done and threatened in the county of Sacramento was such as to induce the Supervisors of that county to appeal to the State Board of Horticulture, they being unable to agree with the officers of Placer and El Dorado counties upon a joint plan of action. The members of the Board of Horticulture, upon the opinion of the Attorney-General, found that their powers were too restricted to afford adequate relief, and conferred with me upon the proposition of burning the infested lands.

In view of threatened litigation if this remedy were resorted to, I advised the members to contract with the owners for the burning of the infested lands, upon the understanding that I should recommend to the Legislature an appropriation covering their estimated loss, not to exceed $10,000. This plan was not, however, carried out by the board.

Throughout this serious trouble, the excellent practical work, great knowledge, and tact of Prof. C. W. Woodworth, of the College of Agriculture of the State University, were of great value to the farmers and fruit-growers of the State, and his assiduous labors are worthy of high commendation.

Considering this great danger and its probable recurrence in the future, it would be advisable that the law be amended so as to increase the powers of the State Board of Horticulture so as to deal effectively with similar conditions hereafter occurring.

The following recommendations made by Professor Woodworth, in Bulletin No. 142, University of California publications, entitled "Grasshoppers in California," seem to me very pertinent:

"It will be imperative, if the hopper situation is to be controlled in the State, that the laws be so amended that there will be definite provision giving some one in each locality the power to conduct the local fight against the hoppers. Perhaps the best way in which this can be accomplished would be to definitely enlarge the powers of the county horticultural boards and specifically make it their duty to look after the hoppers of their county. This has worked very satisfactorily in the grasshopper fights of other States, and there seems no reason why this machinery already created in this State should not be utilized in this way. There will be really no need of creating any new powers, but merely making the powers we have now for fighting scale insects apply also to the fighting of the grasshopper pest. Of course it should be also clearly understood that in this matter these county commissioners shall work under the directions of the competent supervision insisted upon above.

"State Authority.—The experience this year in Sacramento and adjacent counties shows that it is very important for the success of this work that there shall be a central authority, equally powerful with the local authority, whose duty it shall be to undertake work where adjacent districts are in danger and where the local authority neglects or fails to act. As the horticultural law now stands there is no one who has any power to step in between counties and prevent the inaction of one resulting in a loss to the other. When the horticultural laws were framed the insects had in view were the scales, which are very slow and poor migrants, so that there was scarcely any danger in one county from the neglect of the authorities of the other. With the grasshopper the situation is entirely different. This matter would be put in the proper shape if the State Board of Horticulture were given the same powers possessed by the county boards, which at present the law expressly denies it."

FALSE REPORTS CONCERNING THE EXISTENCE OF BUBONIC PLAGUE IN CALIFORNIA.

In my first biennial message, January 7, 1901, I referred, at some length, to the subject of certain false and exaggerated reports concerning the alleged existence of bubonic plague in San Francisco, which, through the interest, ignorance, or recklessness of a few persons, were indiscriminately published in the year 1900, and thereafter intermittently continued.

The falsity of the reports has been frequently proved, but, unfortunately, through the ill-designed efforts and action of Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, assuming to represent the United States Marine Hospital Service at San Francisco, and of the members of the San Francisco Board of Health, much damage nevertheless accrued to the various commercial, industrial, and other productive interests of the State, injuring alike the laborer, merchant, farmer, and fruit-grower.

The temporary quarantine established over the State, June 16, 1900, through the interest, ignorance, overzeal, or possible vindictiveness of Dr. Kinyoun, for a time checked many of our exports and, besides, injured the fair name of our State for health.

For several weeks previous to the said quarantine, after a long and careful personal examination and inquiry in San Francisco, entailing much labor, in which I was assisted by many impartial eminent physicians, bacteriologists, and representative citizens, I arrived at the true conclusion that no case of bubonic plague had been found to exist in San Francisco or elsewhere in the State.

On June 13, 1900, in response to a telegram of inquiry from the Honorable John Hay, United States Secretary of State, I telegraphed to him an exact and detailed report of the situation, together with my conclusion that no case of bubonic plague had existed or was known to exist within our State.

This telegraphic report, which will be found on pages 9 and 10 of my first biennial message, was signed and concurred in by eminent bacteriologists, medical experts, and prominent citizens. However, through the misleading reports of Dr. Kinyoun and his local medical allies, notwithstanding all my efforts as Executive and long and frequent explanations to the United States authorities at Washington, it was difficult to convince the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service of the true condition of the health of San Francisco.

I do not wish, in any manner, to impugn the motives or scientific knowledge of the eminent Surgeon-General for his temporary bias, because he was personally distant from the scene and unacquainted with the methods and policy pursued by Dr. Kinyoun and his assistant plague-advocates. Besides, I am satisfied that if we had been so fortunate at the time as to have had his personal investigation and diagnoses of the various cases, upon which Dr. Kinyoun acted, there would have been a summary removal of Dr. Kinyoun and a prompt vindication of the health of the State.

The situation was rendered more critical and my actions for the abatement of the general scare and false rumors obstructed by the policy pursued by a few reckless, selfish, and unpatriotic proprietors of newspapers within this State, who, urged by personal malice, prejudice, or hidden interested motives, published in their personal organs that the plague was in reality epidemic, and that the health of the people would be endangered through the removal of the Federal quarantine.

While the general press of the State sustained my position, yet the fulmination of these false and defamatory publications by this dissentient and hostile minority strengthened the position of Dr. Kinyoun and his assistants, and the same vicious reports being circulated widely in other States imperiled our commerce by hampering the exportation of our various products and industries. Dr. Kinyoun, encouraged in his unjust policy by the pernicious assistance of these few newspapers, continued his one-sided examination of the health conditions of San Francisco, and whether through inexperience, ignorance, or other cause, labeled as plague-stricken nearly every unknown case of death examined by him and found in the Chinese quarter, and characterized as either true plague or a suspicious case many Chinese invalids who were afflicted only with tuberculosis, venereal diseases, and the like.

The roll of so-called plague cases was increased. The report was unjustifiably heralded throughout the world that bubonic plague was epidemic in our State, and Dr. Kinyoun, in an endeavor to vindicate his own outrageous blunders as a physician, on the 16th of June, 1900, publicly announced the Federal quarantine of this State in defiance of the law and the rights of the people of California.

The following telegram sent by me to the President on the day of the quarantine explained in clear terms the character of Dr. Kinyoun's acts against our State:

Telegram from the Governor to President McKinley.

"The President, Washington, D. C."

"Dr. Kinyoun, the Federal Quarantine Officer of this port, claiming to act under your authority, has unreasonably and unnecessarily quarantined this State in opposition to my full and fair report to the Honorable Secretary of State, under date June 14, 1900, and also, among other things, in opposition to the opinion of Judge Morrow, of the United States Court, rendered yesterday, dissolving the quarantine.

"Through Dr. Kinyoun's conduct in the past, as well as his present action, the reputation of the State, the rights of citizens as well as the rights of foreign subjects, are outrageously impaired. The following is a copy of his last orders served upon the various transportation companies:

"OFFICE OF MEDICAL OFFICER IN COMMAND,
"MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE, SAN FRANCISCO, QUARANTINE,
"SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., June 15, 1900.

"Santa Fé Railway Company, San Francisco, Cal."

"GENTLEMEN: In accordance with the law of March 27, 1890, and the regulations made thereunder and promulgated by order of the President under date of May 21, 1900, you are hereby notified and directed until further orders not to issue transportation to any one leaving San Francisco for other States or Territories of the United States, unless on presentation of certificate signed by a Marine Hospital officer. Inspectors of the Marine Hospital Service now stationed at the State borders have been instructed to allow no passengers coming from San Francisco to pass the borders of the State on any common carrier unless a certificate is furnished. This has been made necessary on account of the lifting of the quarantine by order of the Federal court, thereby allowing people who have possibly been exposed to the infection of plague to leave this city for other States

"Respectfully,

"J. J. KINYOUN,
"Surgeon M. H. S., Quarantine Officer A. M. R."

"I am informed that Dr. Kinyoun transmitted dispatches yesterday to Washington, through official channels, wherein are contained unwarranted statements and improper reflections. He has been advised by the United States District Attorney that his course is unjustifiable, and he refuses to withdraw his last order of general quarantine without further instructions from Washington.

"On behalf of the people of California, I respectfully protest against his actions, and request immediate relief for the people of this State, the traveling public, and the commercial interests of the coast.

"Your most obedient, humble servant,

"HENRY T. GAGE,
"Governor of the State of California."

Two days thereafter, namely, on June 18, 1900, upon the order of President McKinley, the quarantine was released; but, although the President acted promptly upon being advised of the true situation, the publicity of the matter gave a plausible reason for some of the States, notably Texas, to quarantine against our products and to hinder travel.

Notwithstanding the summary removal of the quarantine, Dr. Kinyoun did not abate his injurious policy of falsely representing to the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service, the existence of plague in San Francisco, thus proving himself a continuous source of peril.

So hostile had Dr. Kinyoun become to the acceptance of any proof against his theory of plague that I am satisfied it was largely through his instrumentality and that of the San Francisco Board of Health, and to uphold their false positions, that three biased alleged experts were subsequently sent from Washington to our coast to make a report to Surgeon-General Wyman whether the plague was epidemic as previously reported, and whether the action ordering the quarantine was justifiable under the circumstances.

It was a very singular coincidence that, at this time, in conjunction with this increased harmful activity of Dr. Kinyoun and the arrival of these alleged experts, certain large capitalists in control of a transcontinental railroad line and of shipping and other interests in the Northwest, were most industriously disseminating the injurious reports of the plague at San Francisco, and were using them as an argument to induce the United States Government to change its transport service from San Francisco to Seattle.

On the 26th day of January, 1901, in the middle of the busy session of the Legislature, I was suddenly notified that these alleged plague experts were sent by the United States medical authorities at Washington and were already in San Francisco secretly making a one-sided examination of the alleged plague with the assistance of Dr. Kinyoun and his plague allies. Alarmed at this grave menace to the general interests of our citizens in the event that this partisan medical body should give publicity to their prejudiced findings, and indignant that our State should be so discourteously treated, I telegraphed as follows to the President:

Telegram from the Governor to President McKinley.

"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 28, 1901.

"The President, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C."

"I have been informed that Treasury Department has sent a commission of experts to this State to examine the pretended plague cases heretofore reported, as well as present health conditions, which commission is now about to commence investigations, ignoring the State authorities in the matter, and proceeding in line with reports heretofore made by Dr. J. J. Kinyoun to Surgeon-General of Marine Hospital Service.

"I hope that in this matter of vital interest to the people of California there is no intentional discourtesy on the part of the officer directed by the Treasury Department to supervise this investigation.

"In this matter, which concerns deeply the welfare of this State, I respectfully request that co-operation with the State authorities by such experts should be advised, in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians, as well as, if deemed necessary, bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries, to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion.

"I dislike much now to call your attention to this matter, but the irreparable injury heretofore done to this State by unfair and ex parte examinations warrants this appeal.

"Your most obedient, humble servant,

"HENRY T. GAGE,
"Governor of California."

On January 30, 1901, I received in reply a telegram from the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury, which, while disclaiming discourtesy, was sufficiently indefinite as to justify my belief that the course outlined by the United States medical authorities would be effectively carried out. This I inferred especially from the following sentence of Secretary Gage's telegram, declining State co-operation in the examination of the suspected plague cases, to wit:

"It is expected to ascertain the facts, and the Department does not feel it should hamper the commission in its method of investigating and getting at the facts."

Inasmuch as all my efforts with the United States medical authorities were unable to secure up to that date a fair and impartial investigation of the health conditions of the State, so serious did the situation become that on January 31, 1901, I transmitted a special message to the Legislature, then in session, setting forth the gravity of the matter and appealing for necessary legislation and, among other things, I said:

"The previous inaccurate reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague in this State, which has resulted in the injury to the reputation for health, as well as in the injury to its citizens, industries, and commerce, have been the consequence of a system of ex parte investigation, without opportunity of State examination or superintendence.

"The repetition of such investigations upon secret lines, without public scrutiny under State authority, as have been heretofore pursued, will imperil the welfare of every citizen and inhabitant of this State, and will bring distress to the farmer, orchardist, horticulturist, manufacturer, tradesman, merchant, as well as to all our marine and land transportation companies.

"The meanest criminal under the Constitution of the United States can not be denied the right of being confronted by his accusers, listening to their testimony, and subjecting them to cross-examination; and shall it be contended that the great State of California shall be unjustly denied a similar privilege in the opportunity of facing those who, impugning the public health, as the result of a secret and one-sided examination, might choose to cast an irremovable blemish upon the State's sanitary condition, on which the personal rights and property of her citizens in a large measure depend?

"The State being denied a hearing, I conscientiously believe, therefore, that legislation is immediately and urgently needed by which our State may assume that general and unrestrained control over the subject of the public health within its borders which so vitally concerns her, and which is her inalienable right by virtue of her sovereignty."

Meanwhile the experts, jointly with the assistants employed by Dr. Kinyoun, proceeded with their ex parte examination, and not until they had practically finished their outlined course did they apprise me of their presence and of a wish to meet me. The first official notice received from these supposed impartial experts was on February 1, 1901, when I received at Sacramento, while the Legislature was still in session, a formal letter signed by them, dated San Francisco, January 29, 1901, in which letter were contained, with other things, the following:

"Among the orders given to the commission is one stating that the members of the commission are to pay respects on a suitable occasion to the Governor of the State. In the meantime, the members of the commission are undertaking their investigation with as little publicity as possible."

And in fact, there was so little publicity, and it was such a dark-lantern proceeding, that no officer of the State nor unbiased expert was permitted to be present.

The day following, February 2d, I caused a courteous letter to be mailed to said experts, stating, among other contents, that I should be pleased to receive the members of the commission at the State Capitol at such time as the members might deem proper. To this letter I received no reply until February 13, 1901, when I received a letter signed by the experts, expressing their wish to have an opportunity of calling upon me, and requesting me to indicate a time and place.

Although it appeared very singular that these Government experts did not seem to know that official duty ought to have directed them to call at the Executive Department at Sacramento when a matter of such supreme importance to the people of the State was being investigated by them and was depending on their decision, nevertheless, on the receipt of this letter I caused to be mailed a reply reciting the contents of my previous invitation, and named for their convenience February 16, 1901, at 2 P. M., at room 380 of the Palace Hotel, in San Francisco, as the time for meeting.

They attended at this time and place, there being present, at my request, a few representative citizens.

The meeting was purely formal on their part, the experts refusing the proffer of State assistance and evading direct and pertinent inquiries, thereby making it clear that they had already finished their formal duties, and had arrived at a conclusion in accordance with the prejudiced views of Dr. Kinyoun.

On the following day, February 17, 1901, being convinced, after another interview with these supposed experts, that their report was completed, I telegraphed the President, setting forth copies of my letters of invitation to them, and among other things, saying:

"The time and place last appointed was the first opportunity given me to meet the members of the commission. At this interview I tendered these gentlemen every assistance the State could render them in the premises, and expressed the desire to be permitted to investigate the question at issue jointly with them. To-day, however, they inform me that their report will be ready for transmission to Washington to-morrow."

"Thus the State has been denied every participation in this investigation, while at the same time the commissioners have been constantly aided by Dr. Kinyoun's assistants. This the commissioners admitted in an interview with me yesterday. Should their report to the Department state that the plague exists here, such conclusion will be regarded by our people as the result of an unfair, unjust investigation. Before such report receives the approval of the Federal authorities at Washington, or be made public, I most earnestly and respectfully request that a reinvestigation be had at once, in which case the Government may appoint three commissioners and the State of California three others, all to have power to select a seventh member in case such commission be equally divided in opinion. The decision of such a commission would and should be regarded and treated by every one as decisive. If this most important but humble request be denied us, then we respectfully submit that before the commissioners' report be made public, and prior to taking any action thereon, the representatives of this State to be sent from here should be accorded a personal hearing in Washington, to the end that undue alarm and consequent injury may be avoided. Whatever differences of opinion may at this time exist as to the existence or non-existence of plague, no one can honestly be of the opinion that the disease is epidemic in San Francisco, nor can anybody seriously contend that ample protective and preventive measures can not be taken in the premises, without even spreading great or any alarm among the people and without disturbing our commercial affairs. I take pleasure in assuring you, notwithstanding anything that may have been said to the contrary, that California wishes to co-operate with the Federal authorities in this most important matter, having in view not only our own but the welfare of the whole people, and I implore you to afford our State an opportunity for such co-operation."

To this telegram the Honorable the United States Secretary of the Treasury replied as follows:

Telegram from Hon. Lyman J. Gage, U. S. Secretary of the Treasury, to the Governor.

"His Excellency, the Governor of California:

"Replying to your telegram of the 7th instant to the President, while the Department does not deem it necessary to join in a new commission as you propose, it is not its purpose to make public the report of the present commission till you are advised of its purport, and even then the matter will be very seriously considered before any action is taken. The Department is in accord with you in your desire to prevent unnecessary alarm and to consider measures with the least possible publicity or disturbance of commercial affairs, and will pursue this policy both with regard to its commission in California and its action at this end. In other words, it will endeavor to prevent undue publicity, and desires to, if possible, avoid publishing any report. The Department accepts with pleasure your suggestion to send a special representative of the State, believing he can familiarize himself with the situation here and trusting it will result in co-operation.

"L. J. GAGE, Secretary"

Realizing that it would be difficult to select, immediately, a representative who would be sufficiently familiar with all the facts to explain the situation to the Federal authorities at Washington, I sent a telegram, on February 19, 1901, to the Secretary of the Treasury, stating, among other things, that if the matter of action on the report of the experts could be deferred until after the adjournment of the Legislature, then sitting, that I would personally present the matter to the Treasury Department. This proposition did not, however, meet the views of the Secretary of the Treasury, who intimated his disapproval of a delay in a telegram to me dated February 21, 1901, expressing, however, assurances that it was the wish of the Department to avoid publicity and cause the least possible detriment to commercial interests.

While these matters were pending between the United States Treasury and the Executive Department of the State, early in February, it was deemed advisable by the Surgeon-General to remove that very objectionable character, Dr. Kinyoun, whose attitude was so exceedingly adverse to our State interests as to jeopardize the harmony existing between the Executive Department and the United States Marine Hospital Service. Dr. J. H. White was selected in place of Dr. Kinyoun in this particular matter, and while his honesty of purpose can not be gainsaid, it is to be regretted that his personal views were limited and biased by the previous report of the so-called experts that plague was actually epidemic in San Francisco—a report ludicrous by lapse of time and in the light of subsequent events.

Dr. White's personal reports, therefore, to the Surgeon-General, were at least unconsciously colored, and, notwithstanding his tact and wish to impartially investigate the conditions, his course was impeded by the publication of the substance of the report of the alleged experts, and of the personal opinions of Dr. Kinyoun, who had not as yet been removed from the State, in those few sensational newspapers whose proprietors upheld for their own selfish interests the false rumor of the prevalence of plague.

After several consultations with Dr. J. H. White, the Federal officer in charge at San Francisco, I felt that the Surgeon-General of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service might not recede from the position taken, and that some compromise was necessary for the best interests of the State, notwithstanding the fact that plague did not exist. Money was needed also, in the event of an emergency, for the State to rid itself of the odium of plague caused by the said numerous publications; hence, on February 19, 1901, the Legislature passed an Act entitled "An Act to prevent the introduction and provide for the investigation and suppression of contagious or infectious diseases and appropriating money to be used for such purpose," wherein the sum of $100,000 was authorized to be expended by the State Board of Health under the direction of the Governor for the investigation and suppression of bubonic plague and other infectious and contagious diseases.

Upon the 25th of February, 1901, the United States medical authorities still insisting upon their position that the plague was epidemic in San Francisco, I telegraphed the Secretary of the Treasury, as follows:

Telegram of the Governor to the Secretary of the Treasury.

"SACRAMENTO, February 25, 1901.

"To HON. LYMAN J. GAGE, Secretary of Treasury, Washington, D. C.:

"In reply to your dispatch of date February 21, you are aware that a dispute originally arose between the Federal authorities and the State authorities in reference to health conditions of California; and whereas, since then, the Federal authorities have made investigations in which the State authorities were not allowed to participate; and whereas, the commissioners who prosecuted the investigations for the United States, under such circumstances, have concluded that the health conditions of San Francisco need certain attention; and whereas, heretofore I expressed my views in regard thereto by message to the Legislature of California; still, in view of all of the circumstances and conditions, believing that it will be for the best interest of all concerned, first having been assured by your office that your Department would take the steps herein-after referred to, if requested, and in the performance thereof would, among other things, be particular to avoid publicity, and that the management would be pursued with the least possible detriment to our commercial interests; and believing that, if the Federal authorities be given control in the premises, all other States of the Union may be better satisfied, and that all general quarantine of this State and of its cities will be thereby avoided, and that all quarantine of other States against this State may be avoided, and so forth, I therefore respectfully request the United States authorities to take charge of the matter within this State and deal with the situation from the standpoint of the report of its commissioners, but without cost or charge to this State, at the same time assuring you of my hearty co-operation.

"I thank you for your courtesy, and await your reply.

"HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California."

On the following day I received from the Secretary of the Treasury this reply, namely:

Telegram of the Secretary of the Treasury to the Governor.

"His Excellency the Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"Acknowledging receipt of your telegram of the twenty-fifth, the Department wishes to express its appreciation of your courteous attitude in the matter under consideration, and desires to submit to you the following suggestions, namely, that in the work to be performed, while all ordinary expenses incurred in the payment of its own officers may be met by the Department under the law in accordance with usage, the chief burden should be borne by the City of San Francisco. The Mayor and other necessary local authorities should be notified, as were you, with a view to an understanding as to this matter. No municipality has ever depended financially upon the Government under like circumstances, though there have been numerous parallel cases during epidemics of yellow fever. Even if the Department should be willing, contrary to its announced policy, the matter would have to be brought before Congress for an appropriation, which is now practically impossible, and would moreover give undue publicity. Surgeon White will be the agent of the Department, in charge of the whole situation, which, in view of the return of troops in the near future from the Philippines through San Francisco, will be doubly necessary. Please answer as to above suggestions.

"L. J. GAGE, Secretary."

The necessity becoming urgent of appointing representatives from our State to consult with the United States medical authorities at Washington, and remove the existing tension, on February 27, 1901, I appointed able and distinguished citizens—Messrs. John P. Young, Henry T. Scott, T. T. Williams, and W. F. Herrin—to act as special State health commissioners and proceed to Washington and communicate with the authorities in charge concerning the health conditions of San Francisco and of the State. On March 1, 1901, I duly issued commissions to these citizens, and, also, on the same day issued to the accomplished Mr. Fremont Older a separate commission to represent both the City of San Francisco and the State with the aforesaid commissioners. My selection of the commissioners was most fortunate, for these gentlemen succeeded, as far as it was possible, in convincing the Federal authorities that the health conditions of the State had been misrepresented by those who had reported the plague as epidemic in San Francisco. The work of the commissioners was completed with much tact and wisdom, and I deem it necessary to append their report for the purpose of explaining the work done under State direction for the relief of the people in conformity with the requirements of the Federal authorities. This report is annexed to this message, and also the special report of the State Board of Health, dated August 27, 1901, which are marked "Appendix A," and reference is made thereto.

It will be seen from the annexed report of the Special Health Commissioners that an arrangement was made with Dr. J. H. White, representing the United States Marine Hospital Service, the Mayor of San Francisco, and the State Board of Health, whereby a joint investigation and cleansing of Chinatown were undertaken under the direction of the Federal medical authorities, the expense of which was to be sustained by the City and County of San Francisco and the State jointly in certain agreed proportions, as shown on page 7 of the report of the commissioners.

In pursuance of this agreement it appears from the report of the State Board of Health, dated August 27, 1901, set forth in Appendix A, that the work of disinfecting, cleansing, and fumigating Chinatown under the supervision of Dr. J. H. White, representing the United States Marine Hospital Service, was commenced by the State Board of Health April 8, 1901, and occupied upward of seventy days, during which time numerous cases of alleged plague were examined.

In every instance where a complete diagnosis was made by Federal officers, in the presence of State officers, the suspicion of plague was fully disproved, which has been since admitted to be the fact by Surgeon-General Wyman through his dispatch to me dated June 18, 1901, which is herein set out at length. This frank official opinion of the Surgeon-General not only rested upon the experience of that joint investigation, but is equally true when applied to the subsequent conditions. What stronger or more conclusive proof in the premises of the non-existence of plague can be adduced than the well-known and recorded fact that during all the time since 1900 there have been fewer deaths in Chinatown in proportion to its population than in any other portion of San Francisco? Is it not the height of absurdity to claim there is an epidemic of plague raging in a given place which presents a smaller death-rate than any other locality? And it is an indisputable fact that the comparative death-rate in San Francisco is exactly as I have here stated it, notwithstanding that the Federal records made early in 1900 contained the report that plague was then epidemic in that city.

The members of the State Board of Health in their aforesaid report summarize their labors as follows:

"The State has scrubbed an area equal to 525 acres, and in addition thereto, fumigated about 30,000,000 cubic feet of dwelling apartments.

"Have seen 307 sick cases and autopsied 103.

"Total cost to date, $37,518.

"Number of days cleansing Chinatown and visiting the sick, 142. During all of which time we have not observed a single case of bubonic plague."

In concluding their report they say:

"At the beginning of this work the Federal authorities who co-operated with us were of the opinion, based upon reports of others more or less trustworthy, that bubonic plague was prevalent among the Chinese of that city, and that it would be readily found as soon as proper investigation was had. During this period of fumigation, disinfecting, and cleansing, no effort was omitted on our part nor on the part of the Marine Hospital representatives to locate and identify the presence of plague.

"At the conclusion of the work, as thorough and searching as it could possibly be made, no case of bubonic plague was found, nor was any indication of its having been there discovered. If plague had existed in San Francisco just prior to this sanitary investigation, it would have been there during the months of April, May, and June, because no efforts had been made to suppress it and no precautions taken to prevent its spread.

"It is safe, therefore, to say that the evil reports of the presence of that disease in San Francisco were based upon error in diagnosis upon the part of incompetent investigators. We take great pleasure in assuring you that plague does not exist in San Francisco, and that it never has had lodgment there, nor elsewhere in California."

The people of the State owe a debt of gratitude to the members of the present State Board of Health and their assistants for the zealous, painstaking, and successful discharge of their many difficult duties in this connection.

During the progress of this work of cleansing Chinatown, Dr. White, observing the low mortality and small number of sick among the Chinese, in proportion to their numbers, and failing to find a single case of plague, on May 18, 1901, wrote to me deducing an unfavorable conclusion from these good sanitary signs and intimated a bare and unfounded suspicion that the sick and dead were being secretly removed by the Chinese from San Francisco to other towns and cities. Upon this hypothesis he requested leave that he should be authorized through his agents to investigate sickness and deaths in any other town or city in this State.

This demand seemed so unjustifiable, that on May 28, 1901, I telegraphed him as follows:

Telegram of the Governor to Dr. White, U. S. Marine Hospital Service.

"SACRAMENTO, May 28, 1901.

"DR J. H. WHITE, Surgeon Marine Hospital Service,

No. 420 California Street, San Francisco, Cal.:

"You will please take notice that the State authorities have not requested you nor any other officer of the Federal Government to investigate or participate in an examination of the health conditions of the State outside the limits of the City and County of San Francisco, and that the State Board of Health is complying in every respect with the conditions requested by the Federal authorities, and is fully carrying out the agreement with the U. S. Treasury Department.

"I have always been ready and desirous of making the most searching investigation into the health conditions of San Francisco and other points within this State, but the investigation should be conducted on fair and honest lines by those representing the Federal Government and the State.

"I decline to allow you to assume control of State health affairs, and pursue secret and hidden investigations. The State authorities are now and always have been abundantly able to look after the health concerns of the State without interference. Your mere suspicion from the improved health of the Chinese district that the sick are being removed from San Francisco, is not only unwarranted as a conclusion, but I know it to be unfounded in fact. I therefore decline to authorize your agents, whose responsibility to me is unknown, to do as you have proposed and requested. If there is any city, town, or district within this State where you yourself desire to make examination, let me know, and I will send some one suitably qualified professionally to look over the matter with you. But one-sided secret examinations, such as have been witnessed in San Francisco, to its great detriment, and to that of the State, will not be permitted elsewhere.

"If you desire to have a conference with me at any opportune time, I will be pleased to comply with your wish, but communications by mail or telegraph are unsatisfactory.

"HENRY T. GAGE, Governor."

That the exceptional good health of the Chinese in San Francisco should lead to the inference of suppressed plague was an exceedingly novel position, which, had it not emanated from a high medical authority, might have been characterized as grim humor.

That the humor of Dr. White's position was not perceived by his superior officer will appear from the following telegram afterward received from the accomplished Surgeon-General:

Telegram from U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman to the Governor.

"HIS EXCELLENCY GOVERNOR GAGE, Sacramento, Cal.:

"Dr White has arrived, and reports work of cleansing and disinfecting Chinatown, San Francisco, nearly complete, and that he is satisfied the work has been done by your agents under his advice in full compliance with the understanding. A few unfit habitations remain to be condemned; that work is in progress by the San Francisco supervisors, and all will be completed within a few days. It is a matter of mutual congratulation that no cases have been found during the progress of this work, and that the outlook is so encouraging. For our mutual protection and interests I believe it very essential that the supplementary work indicated in Doctor White's telegram to you of June 7th should follow, as it will cause continued satisfaction and prevent comment and criticism of both the State and Service, which would otherwise be likely to follow. The bureau here is able, by reason of its central position, to know the sentiments which prevail, and a quiet performance of the labors suggested by Doctor White is in many points advisable from every standpoint. I have read this telegram to the Secretary of the Treasury, who coincides therewith, and if necessary will communicate with you himself. Will you kindly wire your views?

"WALTER WYMAN,
"Surgeon-General, M. H. S."

Our previous experience with the blundering investigations of Dr. Kinyoun, justified me in refusing to permit his successor to pursue ex parte examinations throughout the State, hence, I transmitted the following letter to Surgeon-General Wyman:

Letter of the Governor to U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman.

"DR. WALTER WYMAN, Surgeon-General M. H. S., Washington, D. C.

"SIR: I am much pleased to receive through yourself assurances that the agreements made by this State have been performed 'in full compliance with the understanding,' and likewise greatly value the statement, emanating from such high scientific authority as yourself (especially having before us the past grave blunders of others not having had your wide experience), that now it is certain and a matter of mutual congratulation 'no case' (of plague) 'has been found during the progress of the work,' which result was by me at all times confidently expected.

"The State authorities have made thorough and extraordinary investigations, and I am fully advised as to the health conditions of California, and know there is no occasion at this time for the further investigation suggested by Dr. White, and am most happy to report that it will not be necessary for your department to be further burdened.

"However, if it is your pleasure, as a mere precautionary measure, to make further autopsies, or if there is any city, town, or district within this State which you, through your department, desire to inspect, please be good enough to name such competent persons as you desire and I will most cheerfully send others qualified professionally and in every particular to co-operate and look over the situation with them, and thereby further your highly commendable purpose in that regard. But one-sided or secret examinations (not at all times participated in by the State), such as have, in the past, been witnessed in San Francisco, to its irreparable detriment and to that of the whole State, you can readily see, from the result of your own recent searching and valuable examination, should not, and can not, be again permitted.

"I appreciate most deeply your kind offices and shall be glad to co-operate with you in future.

"Respectfully yours,

"HENRY T. GAGE."

For some time after the cleansing of Chinatown no claim was made of the discovery of additional plague cases. But the restive spirit of science was subsequently manifested through the investigations of a certain bacteriologist whom Dr. Kinyoun had left as a legacy to Dr. White, hence reports of alleged cases have been since occasionally published as the result of his ex parte investigations.

These reported sporadic cases have been more numerous whenever it was imagined that the vigilance of the State Board of Health had relaxed, and they have been verified only by those medical gentlemen who, at an early stage, favored the theory of Dr. Kinyoun and whose pride of opinion has prevented them from being convinced of their self-deception.

Perhaps it would be only fair to say, that the medical investigators, in most instances, who have contended that plague existed in San Francisco or elsewhere in this State, have been honest in their opinions and purposes, but that their judgments have been warped, their experiments have been hasty and incomplete, their inductions partial and inaccurate, and their conclusions, therefore, necessarily illogical and untrue.

Since writing the foregoing, I have had the great pleasure of meeting in San Francisco that very able gentleman hereinbefore referred to, Surgeon-General Walter Wyman, for many years last past and now having charge of the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, and whose recent visit to California to personally inspect the health conditions of the State will, assuredly, reveal to him the ignorance and vicious conduct of Dr. Kinyoun and his plague adherents. Surgeon-General Wyman is not only a highly distinguished public officer, but also a medical scientist appearing to have very conservative views, and I think it is therefore safe to predict that he and his proficient and accomplished assistant, Dr. Glennan, will save us from all further annoyance of threats of improper quarantine and of inaccurate reports growing out of reckless investigations.

One of the dearly-learned lessons taught by this unfortunate plague scare is the duty of our people, while always respecting Federal prerogatives, sacredly to guard the State in the future against all encroachments upon its rights.

FUNDS FOR THE PREVENTION AND SUPPRESSION OF INFECTIOUS AND CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Out of the fund of $100,000 provided by the Act of February 19, 1901, and the fund referred to in the Act approved March 23, 1893, for the prevention and suppression of infectious and contagious diseases, the State Board of Health has, during this administration, necessarily expended to this date the sum of $72,911.76, leaving a balance of $26,623.05, as appears from the following report received from the State Controller at the time of this writing:

"CONTROLLER'S DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
"SACRAMENTO, 2d Jan., 1903.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, Sacramento:

"Yours respectfully,

"E. P. COLGAN, Controller."

The careful and efficient work done by the State Board of Health in the sanitation of Chinatown, as well as in dispelling the reports of plague, convince me of the great importance of permanently providing for a like emergency disease fund to be at the disposal of the State Board of Health, subject to the conditions in the aforesaid Act of February 19, 1901 (Stats. 1901, page 10).

The Governor of this State, in conformity with the said Act of the Legislature, should always have an emergency fund of from $100,000 to $150,000 in readiness to deal properly with sudden and dangerous disease epidemics of all kinds which might hereafter be brought from other States and foreign countries.

CHINATOWN A MENACE—NECESSITY OF STATE ACTION.

Notwithstanding that the reports of plague in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco have been unfounded, this part of the city will always be somewhat of a menace until better sanitation is there enforced. Its uncleanly state, and the mode of life and habits of many of the Chinese residents, seem to me to need legislative inquiry and appropriate legislation whereby unwholesome conditions may be abated and the various underground places, as far as possible, abolished, and perhaps it might be well furthermore, to give careful consideration to the advisability of future measures looking to a change in the location of Chinatown.

CIVIL WAR CLAIMS.

On January 4, 1899, in my inaugural address, I called attention to the unsettled claims of the State against the General Government, for the furnishing, equipping, and paying of volunteers during the Civil War, amounting to over $4,000,000, and I recommended that our Senators and Representatives be requested to urge the passage of a law refunding to the State the money so advanced.

Since this recommendation in my inaugural address, I am pleased to note that the State Controller has referred to this important matter especially, in his report dated December 1, 1902, where he states that under the Act of Congress, approved February 14, 1902, he hopes that something may be accomplished, and further says that he has been in correspondence with the Auditor of the War Department and expresses confidence that, with the assistance of our Representatives in Congress, success may be expected.

I have little doubt, if the matter be actively attended to by our Senators and Representatives, that Congress will acquiesce, by proper measures, in this just return of the money advanced and expended by the State in defense of the Nation.

One of the serious obstacles to the allowance of this claim, hitherto existing, has been the delegation of these claims to special agents and lobbyists for collection, with a promise of a percentage upon the recovery of these claims. That a great State, having honored and able representatives in Congress, should deputize collection agents, upon promise of commissions, to urge a just and equitable claim against the General Government, is a reflection upon the character of the demand itself, as well as upon the policy of the State.

It was owing to this circumstance, mainly, that a measure, introduced in Congress in 1898, failed to receive approval. Actuated by this conviction, on March 17, 1899, I vetoed Assembly Bill No. 651, having this object in view, entitled: "An Act to authorize the Governor to appoint agents to collect from the United States the money advanced by the State of California for the benefit of the United States in aiding the State volunteers mustered into the service of the United States during the Rebellion, and allowing them compensation therefor, if successful."

In that veto message (Assembly Journal, 1899, page 1661), I said, among other things: "If these claims of our State be founded in equity, and I am convinced that they are, the Federal Government will recognize their validity, and will pay them upon proper efforts in Congress by our Senators and Representative, whose duty it is to secure for the State its legal and equitable demands. If the money belongs to the State, it should collect it through the proper official channels, without employing brokers or appointing partners to share in the collections. The honor of our State ought not to be impugned through the acts of delegated lobbyists, while prosecuting its claims against the National Government."

CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT ARISING OUT OF THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR—PAYMENT OF VOLUNTEERS.

Early in the year 1900, the late Adjutant-General, W. H. Seamans, under my instructions, assiduously began the difficult task of bringing to a settlement the unpaid claims against the United States Government which arose out of the Spanish-American War, and which were pending under my predecessor's administration.

The payment of an unsettled balance, which had been presented through Governor Budd, was suspended on account of specific objections urged by the U. S. War Department, and this claim required a new specification of items and statement of differences, and a renewal of the demand, which accounts are still undetermined and awaiting the action of the War Department.

These accounts are for transportation, subsistence, pay of naval militia, and incidental expenses, aggregating $18,177 98, which are particularly set forth in the last report of Adjutant-General Stone.

In addition to these undecided claims there were collected and prepared, after much care and labor, accounts due many of the California U. S. Volunteers to the Spanish-American War for duty from the time of their enrollment and assembling to the date of their actual muster in the United States service.

The State has not paid nor provided for the payment of these services, but under an Act of Congress, approved July 8, 1898, and as amended March 3, 1899, the United States Government made provision for their payment. By Section 6 of the amendatory Act, it was provided that all claims for such services should be presented in itemized form to the Treasury Department on or before January 1, 1902, or be forever barred.

In view of the fact that comparatively few of the officers and soldiers of the U. S. Volunteers were aware of the provisions of these Acts of Congress, Lieutenant-Colonel Peeler, of the National Guard of California, was detailed on special duty to collect receipts and vouchers from such of the volunteers whom it was possible to reach. Claims and vouchers were finally secured aggregating the sum of $58,244 86, but it was impossible by reason of the death, absence from the State, and general dispersion of the volunteers to present complete claims of all the volunteers entitled to pay.

These collected claims were itemized as required by the Acts of Congress and according to the rules of the War Department, and were presented in person in November, 1901, to the department at Washington, by Adjutant-General Seamans. I am much grieved to state that the previous ill health of Adjutant-General Seamans, added to the rigors of an Eastern winter, resulted in his death on January 3, 1902, a few days before these claims were finally settled, whereby the State of California lost an excellent public officer, a gallant soldier, and an honorable citizen.

On January 7, 1902, the Auditor of the U. S. War Department, by settlement No. 17,333, issued a check to my order in the sum of $58,151 26 in payment of the claims of the volunteers, which, allowing for excusable errors, was, in substance, a full settlement of the claims as presented by Adjutant-General Seamans.

There being no mode provided by law for the custody and deposit of this large sum, it being held as a trust fund for the numerous volunteers whose vouchers had been presented, and, being satisfied that the payments would necessarily extend over a long period of time by reason of the death and dispersion of the various claimants, and of many assignments, I deemed it advisable to place the sum in the care of the State Treasury as a special deposit and cause payments to be made therefrom by checks signed by the Governor, and countersigned by the Adjutant-General, drawn against this special deposit.

It transpired, in fact, as I anticipated, that many of the original claimants had assigned their claims, some had left the State, others were in the army in the Philippines, and a few had died, their heirs presenting the claims of the deceased. Duplicate registers of the accounts and of their payments are kept in the offices of the Governor and Adjutant-General. The present condition of this fund appears in the following reports made to me by the State Treasurer and Adjutant-General, to wit:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,
"SACRAMENTO, CAL., December 31, 1902.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California

"STATE OF CALIFORNIA, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,
"SACRAMENTO, January 1, 1903.

C. I.

"HIS EXCELLENCY HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"SIR: I have the honor to report to you as follows concerning the disbursement of the fund for the pay of California U. S. Volunteers, Spanish-American War of 1898, from the date of their enrollment to date of their muster into the United States service, or rejection, ending with the close of business, December 31, 1902:

Amount collected from U. S. Government and deposited by Governor Gage with the State Treasurer as 'Special Fund (war with Spain)'.....	$58,151 26
Checks issued and paid.....	$53,425 26
Balance in treasury, subject to check.....	4,726 00
	$58,151 26
Checks issued.....	$53,969 26
Checks outstanding, not presented.....	$544 00
Checks paid.....	53,425 26
	$53,969 26

"Very respectfully,

"GEO. STONE, Adjutant-General.

"N. S. BANGHAM, Assistant Adjutant-General."

In view of the want of statutory provision for the custody of this money so collected, I respectfully recommend that a law be passed providing that the State Treasurer be the custodian, holding the same on special deposit, and payable on the checks of the Governor and Adjutant-General as heretofore. I also join in Adjutant-General Stone's recommendation (among many other good suggestions of that very capable officer) in his last report, for the purpose of a law which should be made expressly retroactive, as follows:

"That an Act be passed by the Legislature authorizing the payment of money due deceased members of the California Volunteers from the date of enrollment to the date of muster in, or rejection by the medical examiner, to the heirs of such deceased persons, upon proper verification, without obtaining letters of administration."

UNPAID BALANCE OF STATE'S MONEY IN THE CALIFORNIA STATE BANK OF SACRAMENTO.

Since the year 1895, there has remained on deposit in the California State Bank of Sacramento the sum of $1,267.99, being an unpaid balance of the appropriation authorized by an Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to appropriate money to pay the National Guard of California for services rendered by order of the Governor, to enforce the law, in eighteen hundred and ninety-three and eighteen hundred and ninety-four," approved February 25, 1895.

This money has been for this long time deposited in bank unused and has not been drawing interest. While the bank has been at all times anxious and willing to pay said sum to the proper officer, yet there seems to be no one legally authorized to collect the money. I recommend that an Act be passed designating some public officer or officers to collect the money and providing for its proper disposition when so collected.

LOSS TO STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY BY CLOSING STATE FAIR.

The assassination of our great and beloved President, William McKinley, occurred during the progress of our State Fair, and at my suggestion, the Directors of the State Board of Agriculture caused the fair to be prematurely closed out of respect for the memory of our lamented President.

I am loth to make any recommendations concerning appropriations, in view of the fact that their reasonableness and expediency must be determined by my distinguished successor; but, in this case, I promised the Directors that I would recommend an appropriation in an amount sufficient to cover the actual loss sustained.

Upon inquiry as to the items of loss, I received from the Directors, through their Secretary, the following communication, and therefore, in accordance with my promise, I submit the matter for your determination:

"SACRAMENTO, CAL., November 17, 1902.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"DEAR SIR: In response to your request for information with respect to the loss sustained by the State Agricultural Society by reason of closing the fair on Saturday, September 14th, 1901, caused by the death of President McKinley and out of respect to his memory, I am pleased to report as follows:

"The exact amount of the loss sustained can not be definitely stated, but it consists of admission fees which would have been received and rebates which the Society was forced to pay to persons who had purchased privileges. These items are, as nearly as they admit of definite statement, as follows:

Admissions to the Park, one day.....	$2,325 00
Admissions to the Pavilion, one day.....	1,500 00
Rebates paid to purchasers of Park privileges.....	1,708 75
Rebates paid to purchasers of Pavilion privileges.....	42 00
Loss on sale of daily programmes and cost of printing same.....	150 00
One-twelfth music contract.....	163 00
One-twelfth gas and electric light contracts.....	100 00
One-twelfth Morse Police Patrol contract.....	70 00
One twelfth forage.....	75 00
	<hr/> $6,133 75

"The amounts stated above as rebates are the actual amounts paid. The admission fees and sales of programmes are conservative estimates, based upon previous experience, and proportionate to the previous attendance during the fair of 1901.

"The above amount represents a clear loss to the Society, as all of our fixed charges had already been incurred, consisting of advertising, help, music, and other contracts, and they were in nowise reduced by the shortening of the fair. The closing of the gates on this day was a serious loss to the Society, and has occasioned us much financial embarrassment. We earnestly trust, through your favorable recommendation, that these losses will be reimbursed.

"Very respectfully,

"GEORGE W. JACKSON, Secretary."

STATE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

The several State Hospitals for the Insane are well managed by the respective boards, and the result is a most marked improvement in their condition since my assumption of duties.

Under the excellent superintendency of Dr. Crane, the State Hospital at Agnews has become a model asylum, and the former unhappy scandals and reports of horrors existing under previous administrations are no longer heard nor tolerated.

More than a year ago Dr. Crane expressed a wish to resign from his arduous duties on account of impaired health, but he was persuaded to continue in charge of the Hospital until early in December when, I deeply regret to say, his ill health compelled him to tender his final resignation, which is a great loss to the inmates of the hospital, whose best interests he had at heart and who received his most tender care and attention.

I am much pleased to state that my plan suggested to the several Trustees, and by them executed, of employing women physicians to attend the female patients, has been productive of much benefit, and has relieved these institutions from the odium existing under some other administrations.

Respecting this matter, I beg leave to direct your attention to what was said in my first biennial message, namely:

"Female Physicians Appointed.—At the inception of my administration I perceived the necessity of employing female physicians in the State Hospitals for the Insane, on account of the large number of female patients. I laid the matter before the Lunacy Commission, and am pleased to say that the plan met with the hearty approval of the members of the commission, and two female physicians were appointed, after due examination as to their qualifications—one being assigned to Napa, and the other to Stockton, and duty required them to visit the other State asylums.

"The appointment of these female physicians was only made possible by the reduction by the Lunacy Commission in the salaries of the officers and employes of the asylums, by reason of the amendment to the law passed pursuant to the proclamation at the extraordinary session in 1900."

THE STATE PRISONS.

From reports received this day from the wardens of the State prisons at Folsom and San Quentin, it appears that there are incarcerated in San Quentin 1,490 male prisoners and 23 female prisoners, and in Folsom 788 male prisoners.

The management of these prisons is fully described in the last biennial report of the State Board of Prison Directors, dated November, 1902, where the board, considering the reports of the wardens and clerks of San Quentin and Folsom prisons, among other pertinent matters, say:

"These reports show in detail the financial condition and operation of the prisons and contain other statistical information, which obviates the necessity of our going into the same matters or making a more extended report to you at this time. As will be observed from a perusal of the reports, both prisons are in excellent financial condition and the best of discipline among the prisoners is preserved. Two years ago the reports of the officers at San Quentin prison showed that a large sum of money had been saved during the two previous years from the sale of grain bags, and their report this year shows the same thing to have continued, and, we believe, as expressed to you in our report at that time, that the manufacture of grain bags at the prison at San Quentin has been a vast benefit to the farmers of this State, not only in preserving the price of all grain bags at the lowest possible figure, but also in preventing combination among the dealers. It is our pleasure to report again that the opium traffic at San Quentin is still under control and has in fact been practically completely destroyed, and during the two years last past there has been no opium found in San Quentin prison. * * * The officers of both prisons have been faithful in their attention to duties and we are pleased to report that most perfect discipline prevails in both prisons."

THE STATE REFORM SCHOOLS.

Upon the assumption of my duties of office and for several months afterward, the condition of the Preston School of Industry was very unsatisfactory.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Board of Trustees, the inmates were undisciplined and the school was fast becoming demoralized.

Reluctant to make sudden changes where I believed that the officers were apparently capable and their efforts well directed, still, after a personal visit and inspection, I was convinced that the condition of the school could be materially improved by a change in the superintendency, if a proper person could be found. After considering many names submitted for selection, I recommended Rev. C. B. Riddick of Alameda County to the trustees, who, accepting my suggestion, appointed him Superintendent.

I have had much reason to be gratified at the selection of this gentleman, whose integrity, capacity, and industry, always above reproach, have resulted in a complete moral and intellectual reformation of the school. The last report of the Preston School of Industry gives a detailed account of its management and present condition which as well reflects credit upon the Trustees as upon the Superintendent.

I am pleased, also, to say, that the Whittier State School is much improved, and that the disagreements which existed under the previous management and obstructed, in some degree, its advancement, have been altogether removed, and, under its present officers, careful attention is given to the education of its inmates, and a strict moral discipline maintained.

INSTITUTION FOR THE EDUCATION OF THE DEAF AND THE BLIND.

The Directors of the California Institution for the Education of the Deaf and Blind, and the Superintendent, appear to have zealously performed their duties.

On account of some unknown cause of infection, a serious epidemic of smallpox broke out in May, 1901, endangering, for a time, the lives of the inmates. Through the perfect disinfecting and cleansing measures employed by the State Board of Health by my order, and the skill and care of the physician in charge, the disease was within a comparatively short time effectually suppressed without a single death.

INDUSTRIAL HOME OF MECHANICAL TRADES FOR THE ADULT BLIND.

The good management of the Industrial Home for the Adult Blind under the present Board of Directors has resulted in making the Home one of the model public institutions, and, I take pleasure in quoting from the seventeenth annual report of the Directors the following excerpt to show what has been accomplished:

"When the present board and Superintendent Sanders took charge of the institution, June 1, 1898, its shops had long been closed and its inmates idle. As they rely upon their wages for clothing and comforts, their condition had become forlorn to a pitiful degree. The management preceding us had left a deficit of nearly $9,000. The commerce of the Home had of course been diverted to other channels, and the task of recovering it by reopening the shops, putting the blind at work and finding a market for their product, was of extreme difficulty. But the experience and keen administrative ability of the blind superintendent, Mr. Joseph Sanders, proved equal to the emergency. The shops were reopened November 1, 1900. From that time to October 31, 1902, the inmates earned and were paid wages amounting to $6,859.49. The receipts of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, were $13,250.21, or $1,104.18 per month. The commercial operations of the Home since that date show a steady increase in manufactures and sales. That there is room for the product of the blind inmates is evident when it is known that only ten per cent of the brooms used in California are the product of domestic white labor. In the trade the Home brooms rank as first class. The inmates are urged to keep up the standard of their product, and it is a pleasure to know that their skill is equal to the demand made upon it. * * * The officers and employees of the institution have been attentive and faithful to their duties during the year that has just passed; and are as good a corps of employees as are to be found in any institution in the State."

THE STATE BOARD OF FISH COMMISSIONERS.

I have received the following important communication from the State Board of Fish Commissioners, which, considering the excellent and economic management of the Board, deserves your careful consideration:

"SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 29, 1902

"HONORABLE HENRY T. GAGE, Governor, State of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"SIR: Your State Board of Fish Commissioners have the honor to invite your attention to the following pertinent facts relating to the maintenance and improvement of the work under our jurisdiction, for reasons that are herein set forth.

"First—The amount of our appropriation is totally inadequate to meet the growing demands of a valuable industry and make necessary hatchery repairs.

"Second—To maintain the standard of the two principal hatchery stations for the propagation of salmon and trout, located respectively at Sisson and Tahoe City, we require additional funds to make such repairs and improvements, as will insure permanency to the fine results already accomplished, besides placing the buildings and grounds in a condition commensurate with the dignity of a great State.

"Third—The scope of our work has so broadened that we are unable under our present appropriation for support and maintenance of hatcheries, to place them in the condition that their importance to the general good demands.

"Fourth—The amount of money necessary to accomplish these ends would make but a very slight draft upon the general funds of the State, while the output of these stations could be increased fully fifty per cent.

"After making a careful study of all the conditions and questions involved, it is the judgment of this Board that a special appropriation of $10,000, to be devoted to hatchery changes and improvements, such as duplicate flume system, additional ponds, a dwelling house for the superintendent of Sisson station, and the purchase of additional land on which it can be located, and the proper fencing of the State's property at Tahoe, would be a sum sufficient to meet these necessary requirements.

"The Sisson station is the most important. We have there a larger number of stock fish than ever before in the history of this commission. The success of a station depends upon the guaranteed supply of pure water. That we already have in abundance, and sufficient to double our present output, but we have not the means to construct the necessary flumes and ponds. We have but a single flume, and that poorly protected. Any interruption to the flow of water or temporary breakdown, would result in the loss of millions of fish that have cost the State a large sum to advance to their present state of perfection. Therefore, a flume system in duplicate is imperative. It would be an additional safeguard and good business judgment to locate a modest dwelling for the superintendent on the grounds, following the custom of the U. S. Commission and many States of the Union. Our pond system should be increased, so we could cut out and abandon some of the expensive spawn-taking stations operated in remote sections. We would secure a higher percentage of strong fry, because dangerous and expensive transportation of eggs would be avoided. Our forces could be concentrated, and in every sense would the conditions be improved, and the main purpose for which this commission was created more nearly fulfilled.

"Our State already ranks high in the matter of fish propagation. We desire to maintain that standing. Our work furnishes a cheap food-supply to thousands. The poor people of our State are more largely benefited than any other class. In San Francisco our markets are selling food fish every day in the year at retail twenty-five per cent cheaper than they are selling in the New York markets at wholesale.

"In the face of increased demand, our salmon supply is steadily increasing, since artificial propagation began. At the beginning of the present 'close season,' September 10th, there was the largest run of salmon in the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers known in ten years.

"This commission planted 400 striped bass (fingerlings) near Benicia, in the Straits of Carquinez, some eighteen years ago. We are now marketing of this delicious food fish about two million pounds per annum in San Francisco. We have brought about the same conditions in the planting of shad.

"We are planting millions of trout fry annually, which afford not only food, but healthful sport for thousands of our people. We are devoting more attention to the propagation of Eastern Brook trout (Fontinalis), a most desirable food and game fish, one that will flourish in the smaller streams, especially in the meadows of our high plateaus, where no other trout will remain. We are maintaining and increasing the supply of Rainbow trout in the headwaters of the Sacramento, in the McCloud, and in the Truckee rivers, three of the most famous trout streams in the world, that bring to their attractive banks anglers from all parts of the Union.

"The planting of black bass has not received the attention it deserves, because of lack of funds. This valuable fish should be more widely distributed through the barren lakes and reservoirs of the State at the lower elevations, where trout will not flourish, so that a desirable and convenient food supply would be placed within the reach of many more of our people.

"As this commission has never appeared before the Legislature with a deficiency in any of the funds over which it has control, and has carefully and scrupulously guarded every cent of expenditure, and because we desire to continue this record, and at the same time increase the scope of our work for the benefit of all our people throughout the State, as well as to maintain the high personnel of the employes of this Board, we most respectfully ask your assistance toward bringing about these desired ends, by presenting this matter to the Legislature of the State.

"We have the honor to remain,
"Yours respectfully,

SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

The cramped condition of the San Francisco harbor for the accommodation of the increased shipping, which existed at the beginning of my administration, has been, fortunately, removed through the passage of the laws at the extra session of 1900, which permitted the extension of State piers and wharves to a distance of about eight hundred feet, and gave discretion to the Harbor Commissioners to execute leases whereby the rents from such contracts may be applied, in whole or in part, for the construction of new wharves and bulkheads or breakwaters, or the work to be paid for, in whole or in part, from the rents and revenues. Leave having been granted in December, 1900, by the Honorable the Secretary of War to extend the pierhead line to the increased limit provided for in the amendments passed in 1900, many new and substantial wharves have been constructed, thereby affording ample room to meet the increasing shipping. It was deemed necessary, in July of last year, for the State Harbor Commissioners to change the pierhead line north of China Basin and Mission Rock, and after submission to the Federal officers, the Honorable the Secretary of War, on October 10, 1902, notified me of the approval of the change in the communication following.

"WAR DEPARTMENT,
"WASHINGTON, October 10, 1902.

"Sir: Referring to your letter of July 24th last, in the matter of modification of the established harbor line in San Francisco Harbor at points north and south of China Basin and Mission Rock, I beg to advise you that the subject has been under consideration by the San Francisco Harbor-line Board, which has held a public hearing and afforded parties interested an opportunity to present their views.

"The report of the board, dated September 29th ultimo, shows that so much of the application as related to the proposed change south of the basin and rock had been withdrawn by the applicants, and the board has recommended that the pierhead line north of China Basin and Mission Rock be changed as follows:

"Beginning at the intersection of the pierhead line, approved March 24, 1890, with a line drawn at right angles to the bulkhead line (approved on the same date) and from a point on said bulkhead line 100 feet northerly (measured along the bulkhead line) from its intersection with the northerly side of Channel street produced; thence easterly, along a continuation of the said line drawn at right angles to the bulkhead line, to a point 800 feet distant from the bulkhead line; thence northerly, at right angles to the line just described, to a point on the pierhead line approved March 24, 1890, distant 20 feet northerly (perpendicular distance) from a line parallel with the northerly line of Bryant street and 980 feet easterly from the westerly line of Spear street."

"The recommendation of the Board has been approved by the Chief of Engineers and the Department.

"Very respectfully,

"ELIHU ROOT, Secretary of War.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, San Francisco, California."

The various and profitable improvements following from the amendments of 1900 are described particularly in the last two reports of the State Harbor Commissioners, and are worthy of commendation.

CALIFORNIA REDWOOD PARK.

I have received the following communication from the California Redwood Park Commission, which I submit for your careful consideration:

"The commissioners appointed under the provisions of an Act entitled 'An Act providing for the creation and management of a California Redwood Park, making an appropriation therefor, and creating a board of five commissioners, with power to make purchases and to manage said California Redwood Park,' report that under the provisions of the Act they have acquired thirty-eight hundred acres of land, containing the species of tree known as Sequoia sempervirens in the Big Basin, Santa Cruz County, as provided in Section 1 of the Act above alluded to.

"The bill provided that the sum of $250,000 should be appropriated out of any money in the State Treasury not otherwise appropriated, which sum should be subject to the control of the commission and to be used solely for the purchase of lands suitable for a park; that of the entire sum of $250,000 but $50,000 should be available only on the first day of January, 1902, and the sum of $50,000 to become available thereafter on the first day of January in each year to 1906.

"In making the purchase, the commissioners report that the owners of the property accepted the certificate of the commission that the purchase had been made, and that the purchasers were entitled to the sum already available, and would be entitled to the sums to become available on the first days of January in the years mentioned in Section 2 of the Act; that the title of the property was approved by the Attorney-General, as provided by law, and that deed to the land was placed in escrow in the Anglo American Bank, San Francisco, and a fully certified record of the entire transaction filed with the Secretary of State.

"The object of the creation and acquirement of a park containing trees of the species known as Sequoia sempervirens was clearly declared in the Act creating the commission to make provision for said purchase. It was made incumbent upon the commission to select land from a tract of land commonly known as the Big Basin, situated in Santa Cruz County, State of California, on which are growing trees of the species known as Sequoia sempervirens, and which, in the judgment of said commission, is suitable for a park, the purpose being to preserve a body of these trees from destruction and maintain them for the honor of the State of California and for the benefit of succeeding generations.

"In making the selection and in consummating the purchase which followed such selection, care has been taken to acquire a compact, solid body of land which, in the judgment of the commission, is most suitable for a park and for the fulfillment of the purpose of the law.

"The forest thus acquired is in many respects the most distinctively forested body of land to be found in the State of California. It is in fact the only forest region designated by the Act itself suitable for the purposes to which it will hereafter be devoted.

"In the delineation and acquirement of this body of forested land, the commission has kept steadily in view the legislative intentment, and in the accomplishment of results we believe it has discharged its duty strictly in accordance with the wishes of the people of the State of California, as expressed through its legislative and executive departments.

"The redwood forests of California may very justly be classed among the botanical wonders of the world. They constitute one of the leading attractions to tourists, and the possession and preservation of this park will undoubtedly augment the volume of annual tourist travel to this State. In this way the park becomes a valuable adjunct in the way of advertising the natural resources of the State, thus more widely disseminating a knowledge of its natural advantages and its desirability as a place of residence. The possession and proper maintenance of this park will, therefore, become a contributor to the reinforcement of the capital and population of the State.

"It is a matter worthy of comment that this typical forest is found located within a direct distance of fifty miles from San Francisco, the chief metropolis of the State, and when lines of communication are completed, which its existence as a public recreation ground will call into being, it is within practically three hours railroad time of San Francisco. In the early future it will be practicable to visit it, and enjoy its beauties, by the expenditure of only one day's time. This attribute of accessibility will augment its importance as an element of interest to those who visit it for pleasure and for scientific research. Your commissioners will immediately address themselves to the task of securing an extension of transportation lines into the Big Basin and into the margins of the park. In this way only can the benefits of the purchase be secured to the State at an early day.

"Having, in pursuance of a deliberative act of the Legislature, acquired this magnificent property, its wise administration will become at once a question of legislative policy. Your commission is in possession of facts which will justify the opinion that it will be made easily accessible at a very early day. Supplementing this general accessibility, it will become necessary to construct roads and trails through the park, and for this purpose a legislative appropriation will be necessary.

"The duty of the preservation of this park attends its ownership by the State, and this will involve an expenditure of money for the preservation of this forest, now the property of the State, and in order that such roads and trails as will make it accessible to the public as a public recreation ground may be constructed, this commission respectfully requests at your hands a recommendation to the Legislature for an appropriation in the sum of $15,000, to be expended in the preservation and improvement of the park for the next two years, to become available in the sum of $7,500 on the first day of July, 1903, and in a like sum of $7,500 on the first day of July, 1904."

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

The people of the State are justly proud of the University of California, which is the crown of the common school system, and they do not grudge reasonable taxation for its betterment.

I am glad to report that, under the present Board of Regents, and especially under the excellent management of President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, the university has made more rapid progress than ever before in its history.

In proportion to its growth, and the increased number of special departments of study, the financial requirements of the university have, necessarily, augmented. To meet these immediate demands I deemed it proper to suggest, at the last session of the Legislature, in lieu of other proposed measures, that a continuous appropriation bien-nially of $200,000 should be provided to assist in the maintenance of the university and be carried in the General Appropriation Bill. Accordingly, the Legislature passed the measure entitled "An Act to provide a continuous appropriation for the support and maintenance of the University of California, to be an item of the General Appropriation Bill," which I duly approved on March 15, 1901.

Inasmuch as the appropriation, under the provisions of this Act, was not to commence until the fifty-fifth fiscal year I therefore approved a separate appropriation for the sum of $200,000, payable in three separate installments during the years 1901 and 1902.

Under this allowance, together with the two per cent ad valorem tax allowed for its maintenance, it is perhaps possible that the needs of the university will be fully met, and that the sad spectacle observed under previous administrations of officers of the university lobbying to secure the passage of needed appropriations will not again be witnessed.

If the present allowances be found inadequate to meet the future necessities of the university, I am confident that my able successor in office, being both an alumnus and a regent, and, therefore, acquainted with its various details, will probably devise some proper and feasible means which will afford it sufficient support without unnecessary burdens upon the people.

CALIFORNIA POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL

At the last session of the Legislature an Act was passed, approved March 8, 1901, for the establishment, in San Luis Obispo, of the California Polytechnic School, specifying as the purposes: "To furnish to young people of both sexes mental and manual training in the arts and sciences, including agriculture, mechanics, engineering, business methods, domestic economy, and such other branches as will fit the students for the non-professional walks of life."

An appropriation of $50,000 was provided for the purchase of a site in San Luis Obispo County, and for the construction and furnishing of necessary buildings and its maintenance.

By the terms of the Act, the government of the school is vested in a board of trustees, consisting of the Governor, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and five trustees appointed by the Governor, to hold for a term of years.

On January 31, 1902, I appointed as trustees, Messrs. S. C. Smith of Bakersfield, E. J. Wickson of Berkeley, Warren M. John and Wm. Graves of San Luis Obispo, and F. A. Hihn of Santa Cruz. On September 24, 1902, I appointed Mr. R. M. Shackelford of San Luis Obispo to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Graves. The board met, selected and purchased, as a site, a tract of land of 281.04 acres in San Luis Obispo County, just outside the city of San Luis Obispo, for the sum of $7,709.30. Plans and specifications for the erection of buildings upon said land have been filed with the State Controller, wherein the estimated cost of the work is $41,268.00, contracts have been let, and the construction of the buildings is now in progress.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS—A FREE LABOR BUREAU RECOMMENDED.

Upon my induction into office I considered, and still consider, that the office of Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, established by the statute approved March 3, 1883, was intended to directly benefit the laboring classes of the State by supplying the State government with such proper information as should enable it to ascertain the condition of these classes and to provide legislative remedies for their amelioration.

Influenced by this consideration, I departed from the plan of my distinguished predecessors by selecting the appointee directly from the ranks of labor, and I rejoice to state that, from the present excellent management of the bureau, I have had no cause to regret my selection.

On page 7 of the ninth biennial report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Commissioner said:

"In its original conception this bureau was created in the belief that it would in a degree be an exponent and protector of the rights and interests of the wage-earners; that it would be a department of the State government in close and intelligent sympathy with their affairs, to which they might turn for advice and information, and for such assistance as could be consistently rendered to them. This being the case, it would seem logically to follow that the administration of the bureau should be in the hands of such as come from wage-earners themselves, and who are conversant, by reason of personal experience and association, with those subjects with which the work of the bureau deals. Plain, however, as this proposition seems to be, it has remained for our present Governor, Henry T. Gage, to be the first in this State to take official cognizance of it; and while the excellence of his choice for the office of commissioner may well be a debatable matter, his sympathy with the originally conceived idea of the plan and scope of the bureau is shown by the fact that its entire staff, under his administration, have come to their respective places direct from among the wage-workers of the State."

While the office thus created has furnished valuable information to the State, yet in its practical effect, it has not been of immediate use to the laboring classes, principally because the powers of the commissioner being limited by the statute creating the office to the collection of statistical facts, there were no means by which aid could be afforded to the unemployed in cases of stagnation of labor arising from various industrial causes.

The history of industrial depressions in this State shows recurrent periods, when surplus labor resulted in idleness in certain lines of employment, while, at the same time, labor was greatly in demand in different lines.

There is, then, an actual need which has been emphasized by the demand of the State Federation of Labor, for making the office of Labor Commissioner of practical use and benefit to the wage-earners.

For this purpose I recommend that a free labor bureau be established as an adjunct to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which should be under the direct supervision of the Labor Commissioner, and that a sufficient continuing appropriation be allowed for the compensation of necessary assistants and for the payment of contingent expenses.

In the preparation of such a law stringent provisions should be inserted respecting the performance of the duties of the commissioner and his assistants, and providing a remedy in cases of grievance, so as to make the bureau, among many other advantages, an impartial and effective agency for securing work for deserving employes.

ARBITRATION OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN EMPLOYERS AND EMPLOYÉS.

In this connection the serious industrial differences in this State, as well as the recent unfortunate condition of the coal miners of Pennsylvania, and the effective moral influence of President Roosevelt, resulting in the temporary adjustment of grave trouble between the employers and employes, it would be well to consider the passage of a proper and efficient legislative measure, or, if necessary, a constitutional amendment, framed for the amelioration of such difficulties. It is true that arbitration can not be made compulsory, but measures may be framed whereby the parties to a controversy may be induced to submit their differences to an impartial council or board, which, when so stipulated, may be made binding.

I am aware that a statute is now in effect entitled "An Act to provide for a State Board of Arbitration for the settlement of differences between employers and employes, to define the duties of said board, and to appropriate the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars therefor," approved March 10, 1891, but this statute has proved to be inadequate for the purposes intended, and excepting the expenditure of a portion of the small appropriation by the first and only appointees under the statute, it has been for years an unused law.

In the event of the enactment of a new measure, I recommend that the Governor and Labor Commissioner be made members of such council of arbitration.

The interdependent relations of employers and employes in our commercial and industrial structure are so intimate that the unjust impairment of the rights and privileges of either tends to social and industrial disorganization. As a progressive and liberal people, we ought to work harmoniously, and good faith and honesty are the essentials of co-operative harmony.

While State laws can not trench upon the contracts of individuals nor imperatively fix and adjust upon an equitable basis the rights of employers and employes, yet some fair measure may be passed which, with the assistance of a just and healthy public opinion, will invite and induce the disputants to submit their controversy to the calm decision of a tribunal of arbitration.

CONDITION OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS GENERALLY.

All other public institutions are in good condition and greatly improved since my installation in office.

While some complaints have been made and some friction has, at times, marred the harmony and efficiency of one or two public boards whose officers held for terms under my appointment, still while mild reasons existed for a change, which would have been exercised had I been vested with the power of removal, I can correctly state, that upon investigation it was shown that these conditions were exaggerated through the sensationalism of a few hostile newspapers.

Similar conditions existed, and perhaps even in a more intense degree, under my very able, painstaking, and honorable predecessor, Governor James H. Budd, whose administration generally was a great credit to the people of the State.

I am convinced that the following remarks of Governor Budd, in his second biennial message in regard thereto, are well applicable to my administration and those differences occurring thereunder, viz:

"I leave State institutions in far better condition and under better laws than they were when I became Governor. It is impossible, however, that some of the seventeen State institutions shall not be disturbed occasionally by some outbreak or petty quarrel among officials. The correction of these is not possible until the Legislature grants more powers to the Governor. Now, when a trustee is appointed the Governor's power ceases entirely."

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS AND MUNICIPAL CHARTERS.

I venture to call your attention to a matter which, by reason of its disintegrating tendency, seems to me to be portentous of future probable peril to the local sovereignty of the State.

Constitutional amendments, proposing large grants of power, especially to municipalities, have been so often loosely worded by their framers in the Legislature, that after adoption by the people, when judicially construed, it becomes evident that excessive power has been ceded, thereby limiting the sovereign functions of the people.

I strongly favor the right of cities and towns to be free from legislative interference in those purely local concerns which are necessary for their maintenance as municipal bodies. I have a most sincere affection for city and town government.

I subscribe, heartily, to the following views of De Tocqueville, in his work "Democracy in America," Chapter V, namely: "Municipal institutions are to liberty what primary schools are to science; they bring it within the people's reach; they teach men how to use and how to enjoy it. A nation may establish a system of free government, but without the spirit of municipal institutions it can not have the spirit of liberty."

But the municipal institutions which De Tocqueville had in view and of which he wrote were different from the local sovereignties, like a few of the cities of this State, which, constructed through broad constitutional statutes, are demanding with their every pace new and larger grants of power.

Our State is sovereign in its local sphere because the people constituting it are sovereign, but it still owes a binding allegiance and is inseparably united to the Nation, because the whole people of the United States, as sovereigns, have an equal interest in its welfare, just as the people of California have an equal interest in the welfare of other States.

So, on the other hand, the people of the northern, central, and southern counties have an interest in the City and County of San Francisco, in the cities of Los Angeles and Oakland, and other cities of the State, and the people of these cities and towns, in turn, have an interest in the welfare of those counties and their subdivisions.

In other words, every citizen of California is deeply interested in every part of the State's extensive area.

The pride and jealousy of locality, arising from residence and business interests, which exist among the people in every part of the State, if over-indulged and intensified, may cause them to overlook their wider and more patriotic interests in the development and progress of the State and Nation.

In order to harmonize these jealous, and frequently conflicting, local interests, and at the same time perpetuate our constitutional rights and privileges, it is necessary that such portion of the people's power, which properly constitutes the State's sovereignty, should remain perpetually intact. It should not be frittered away by inattentive constitutional concessions nor loose judicial construction.

Every law is either a grant of power or a limitation of right.

Professor Ordronaux, in his excellent work on Constitutional Legislation, says: "Every law being in the nature either of a command or a prohibition, is a displacement of existing civil relations in which society as well as individuals have acquired rights, and its possibilities to work harm must be duly estimated as well as its power to do good."

Laws of a broad and flexible character definitely limited to purely local needs and concerns are both proper and necessary for the growth and welfare of a municipality, but irrevocable, ambiguous constitutional charters are a lurking peril to the supreme interests of the State.

The members of the Constitutional Convention of 1878, although having the right idea of preserving municipalities from legislative interference with their local interests, did not design that the State should suffer by the provisions inserted in the Constitution providing for municipal organization.

Yet the gradual addition to the Constitution of incautious constitutional amendments relating to municipal charters has tended to abstract from the necessary power of the State.

Constitutional amendments are easily passed at each session of the Legislature, for, unlike laws, the Governor has neither the power of approval nor of disapproval.

When passed by resolution of the Senate and Assembly and submitted to the people, comparatively few voters really understand the character and purpose of these amendments, when appearing by title and number upon the ballot, hence, as a rule, the electors vote upon them in a very perfunctory manner.

Whether carried or lost, these constitutional amendments generally receive a smaller portion of the popular vote than the several State candidates of the two leading parties. In this apathy of the electors danger is concealed.

While moderate decentralization is essential to municipal liberty, immoderate decentralization leads to disintegration.

Our great and free Republic grew from the sovereignty ceded by the several American Colonies, and the strength of the Colonies themselves rose from the cession of rights by the free cities and towns within them. The several elements necessary for statehood which had existed in the municipalities integrated in the State, and the several national elements which had been claimed and controlled by the colonies, were surrendered to and integrated in the Republic.

"One nation out of many" has been the proud boast of the freest people on the earth. The reverse policy is now rapidly proceeding.

The municipalities are constantly gaining the sovereignty which the State is losing. Once enfeeble the State by undue and unguarded cessions of its local sovereignty, and instead of sustaining its well-poised balance between the people of the State and the Federal Government, it will become a mere political shadow, unable on the one hand to resist the centripetal force of federalism, or, on the other, the centrifugal force of municipalism.

This policy is not in accord with the form of government which our patriotic forefathers founded, nor is history wanting in illustrations where such a policy has wrought ruin to free political institutions.

I regard this excessive growth of municipal power as a peaceful mode of secession from the State, and an unconscious blow against the State's integrity, and, indirectly, an unpatriotic assault upon national existence.

The disruption of the Achaian league, which for one hundred and forty years gave freedom and enlightenment to Greece, was achieved by the craft of Roman statesmen, who, perceiving the love of power and decentralizing tendencies of the cities which formed the federal league, greatly enlarged the power of the cities at the expense of the central sovereign power, until the league, reduced to a name, left the several cities unprotected, a separate prey to Roman tyranny.

In the light of such an example, disproportionate and careless cession of its sovereignty to municipalities is not consistent with the best interests of the State. Municipal leagues exist at the present time throughout the United States whose common object is the extension of municipal powers, and in consequence the limitation of State power. In view of this massing of opinion toward decentralization, it behooves patriotic legislators to be cautious and conservative in the drafting of constitutional amendments which have for their object the augmentation of municipal power, considering the special provisions of our State Constitution.

A law passed by the Legislature is easily repealed at an ensuing session when found to work injury, but a constitutional amendment hastily passed by the Legislature and inconsiderately adopted by the people, however injurious in its effects, is very difficult to abrogate.

As these amendments inflexibly affect fundamental rights, and as the Governor has no voice in their passage, it becomes your solemn duty to investigate more closely these proposed amendments than proposed laws, and to place them far above and beyond the power and influence of lobbies.

CONCLUSION.

My career in office has not been one of pleasurable ease, nor have I ever sought, at the expense of public duty, my own aggrandizement.

Mistakes may have been made sometimes, perhaps through want of that diplomatic tact which graces many in public life, and which too often deceives, but for such, and all mistakes, wherever made, I shall be answerable to the judgment of my fellow-citizens in the quiet and just criticism of private life.

Having, however, always kept before me as my guiding light what I conceived to be and cherished as the people's interests, upon this, the eve of retirement, I feel that, actuated by a sense of right and justice to all my fellow-citizens, I have striven with my best and for the best.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

"APPENDIX A."

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL HEALTH COMMISSIONERS APPOINTED BY THE GOVERNOR TO CONFER WITH THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES AT WASHINGTON RESPECTING THE ALLEGED EXISTENCE OF BUBONIC PLAGUE IN CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., September 16, 1901.

HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California:

SIR: The commissioners appointed by you on the 1st day of March, 1901, to visit Washington in order to confer with the Federal authorities in relation to the alleged prevalence of bubonic plague in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco, and to the more or less positive declarations of intention to place the State of California under quarantine, and who were subsequently invited by you to assist in an advisory capacity in carrying out the agreement reached to cleanse Chinatown, have the honor to report as follows:

In the course of a conference held in your office on the 27th of February, 1901, participated in by the members of your commission, it was developed that a misunderstanding had arisen concerning the attitude of the Executive of the State of California toward the Federal health authorities. Misrepresentations had been made by irresponsible papers, which created the impression in Washington that there was a disposition on your part to obstruct the operations of the United States Marine Hospital Service, and these were being seized upon by peoples having rival interests and were employed as arguments to force the abandonment of San Francisco as a military headquarters, and as the chief base of the Philippine transportation service. Statements were made that the existence of bubonic plague would make the imposition of a quarantine necessary, and it was openly asserted that such action would be followed by the removal of the transport service and military headquarters from an alleged plague-infected city.

At the conference referred to, you laid before your commissioners all the correspondence which had passed between yourself and the Federal health authorities on the subject of the alleged existence of the plague in San Francisco. It plainly disclosed the fact that there was no ground for the assertion freely made that you were placing obstacles in the way of taking precautions, on the contrary, we found in it earnest professions of a desire to co-operate with the Federal health authorities in order to set at rest the alarming and injurious rumors which were being circulated regarding the prevalence of the disease. In a telegram of February 25, 1901, you said to the Hon. Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, in reply to a dispatch from him, regretting your inability to visit Washington and confer with the department regarding the matter: "I therefore respectfully request the United States authorities to take charge of the matter within this State and deal with the situation from the standpoint of the report of its commissioners, but without charge or cost to this State, at the same time assuring you of my hearty co-operation."

We found that your attitude respecting the assumption of the cost of the preventive measures was prompted by information, conveyed in a semi-official manner, that there was a considerable sum of money at the disposal of the health authorities of the United States, to be used in emergencies such as that which confronted the State. But we noted that the Honorable Secretary of the Treasury assumed that "while all ordinary expenses incurred in the payment of its own officers may be met by the department under the law, and in accordance with usage, the chief burden should be borne by the City of San Francisco." "No municipality," he added, "has ever depended financially upon the Government, under like circumstances, though there have been numerous parallel cases during epidemics of yellow fever." In the course of the conference it was made clear to us, while the Legislature at its session in 1901 had fortunately made an appropriation for health purposes to be expended under your direction, that you did not have the legal right, even if the desire existed, to permit any portion of it to be expended except by State officials. It was also made apparent by telegrams received from Washington that our Senators, instead of assisting in clearing up the situation, were accentuating its gravity by accepting without challenge the allegations that bubonic plague prevailed in San Francisco, and by absolutely disregarding all the evidence which tended to show that the disease did not exist in San Francisco at the time and had not existed.

Accordingly, as the result of the conference of February 27, 1901, and in response to the professed desire of the Secretary of the Treasury. It was decided by you to send a commission to Washington to go over the matter with the authorities in that city and to avert, if possible, the threatened quarantine. The commission left this city on March 3d and arrived in Washington on the 7th. On the morning of the 8th the Secretary of the Treasury was waited upon and your position was fully presented by Mr. W. F. Herrin, who spoke for the commission. He made clear to the Honorable Secretary that, while you were convinced there was no ground for the assertion that there was or had been bubonic plague in San Francisco (an opinion shared by the members of the commission), you were desirous of co-operating with the Federal health authorities in making their investigations, and in taking such precautions as would serve to allay any apprehension that might have been created outside of California by the alarmist reports published in certain papers, and which had been telegraphed all over the world.

The spokesman of the commission also called the Honorable Secretary's attention to the fact that through misapprehension or design the special commissioners appointed by the Treasury Department for the purpose of ascertaining the existence or non-existence of bubonic plague in San Francisco, did not call upon you until after they had concluded their labors, although you had urged that "co-operation with the State authorities by such experts should be advised in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians, as well as, if deemed necessary, bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries, to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion;" and had urged as a reason for making this appeal: "The irreparable injury heretofore done to this State (California) by unfair and ex parte examinations"

These and other representations made to the Honorable Secretary influenced him to accede to your very reasonable request that the State should be permitted to protect its interests, and your commission was referred to the Supervising Surgeon-General, Marine Hospital Service, to discuss with him the outlines of a plan of action. A satisfactory agreement was soon reached, the nature of which is disclosed by the following correspondence:

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
"OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE,
"WASHINGTON, March 11, 1901.

"MR JOHN P. YOUNG, Chairman Committee Representing the Governor, Mayor of San Francisco, and Business Interests of California, Washington, D. C.

"SIR: I transmit herewith a letter, dated March 9th, from the Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service, outlining the understanding which has been arrived at between yourselves and this department, as a result of the conference on March 9th.

"In transmitting the same, I wish to express the appreciation of this department of the visit of your committee and its spirit of friendly conference. I trust, also, that the results so earnestly desired by both yourselves and the department will be speedily achieved and by methods that may be effective without causing undue alarm.

"The department will appreciate an acknowledgment.

"Respectfully,

"(Signed:) O. L. SPAULDING, Acting Secretary.

"TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
"OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL, MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE,
"WASHINGTON, March 9, 1901.

"The Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury:

"SIR: Referring to the conference, held in accordance with your instructions after the meeting in your office this forenoon, with the representatives of the Governor of California, the Mayor of San Francisco, the press, the railroads, and the business interests of San Francisco, I have to inform you that an understanding has been reached, stated somewhat informally as follows:

"The visiting representatives have expressed a desire for hearty co-operation of the State and city authorities interested in the work, which is made necessary in view of the report of the commission; and they desire, while this work shall be done by the city and State authorities, the services of some expert officer of the Service to give advice as to the methods to be pursued, agreeing that his recommendations shall be carried out, and that the work shall be begun at once.

"I have informed them also that so far as can be seen at the present time the principles enunciated in my telegram of January 9, 1901, to Surgeon White, copy of which is inclosed, are about what should be adopted at the present time, with the understanding that it is possible that future developments may require more radical measures though it is not expected.

"It is understood also that the burden of expense falls upon local or State authorities though, of course, the department will meet the salaries and incidental expenditures of its own officers.

"It is the desire of the Treasury Department, as well as of the bureau, that these affairs shall be conducted with the least possible interruption to commerce and the least possible excitation of alarm.

"Surgeon White, now in San Francisco, is the officer of the Service who will be the representative of the bureau and of the department in this matter, and who, it is understood, is entirely acceptable to all parties.

"Respectfully,

"(Signed:) WALTER WYMAN,
"Supervising Surgeon-General, M. H. S.

(Telegram)

"WASHINGTON, D. C., January 9, 1901.

"DR. J. H. WHITE, Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, Cal.:

"Regarding plague in San Francisco, you might say situation not acute. Experience in Oporto, Santos, Glasgow, and climatic conditions in Frisco make it more a matter of future menace—as instanced in British Medical Journal of December 1st, page 1614. It was present in Calcutta two years before acknowledged. Therefore, more to prevent future catastrophe than from present alarm, measures should be taken as necessity arises, nor need they be (taken) in such manner as to excite alarm, but should include inspection, isolation, and disinfection, as in smallpox (in same manner).

"If assured of this, publication would be unnecessary. Use this as your judgment dictates.

"(Signed:) WYMAN."

It is proper to call attention to the telegram which forms a part of this correspondence, as it was freely charged in the press, and by medical journals, that your commission had induced the Federal health authorities to consent to the suppression of facts. It will be noted that the date of the telegram to Dr. J. H. White was January 9th, and that in it Surgeon-General Wyman advised him to take his measures in such a manner as not to excite alarm; and that publication would be unnecessary. This is all your commission asked, and it preferred the request in the full assurance that the only harm that could be done would be that caused by the dissemination of statements calculated to injure the reputation of California by fastening upon it the reputation of being subject to plague.

The arrangement thus reached by your commission was promptly reported to you, and at your request, on our return from Washington, we met in the office of Hon. James D. Phelan, Mayor of San Francisco, to consult with you and that official respecting the mode of carrying out the agreement. At this meeting you indicated the extent to which you thought the State should go in meeting the views of the Federal authorities. Mayor Phelan, however, was unable to make any specific promises on behalf of the city, but expressed a willingness to do all in his power to comply with the demands which would arise as the work of cleansing Chinatown proceeded. The conclusion was reached by those in consultation that the pledge made for you by your commission should be promptly redeemed, and Dr. J. H. White of the Marine Hospital Service, who was in waiting, was called in and asked to outline his plan of campaign. He said that he should require the cleansing, disinfection, and fumigation of the district known as Chinatown; that it would be necessary to provide and maintain a crematory to dispose of the rubbish; a laboratory for bacteriological purposes; a building available for use as a detention barracks; a hospital for any subjects that might be discovered, and a morgue and hall of tranquillity. As Dr. White's large experience in such matters qualified him to speak understandingly, his opinion as to the probable cost of carrying out the cleansing, disinfection, and fumigation, which he said would be necessary, was asked. He answered that he had given the subject some attention, but could not make a close estimate. He thought, however, that the work would necessitate an expenditure of at least $100,000.

It being impossible at this meeting for Mayor Phelan to definitely state what part of the expense of cleansing Chinatown, and for providing the facilities which Dr. White had demanded, could be assumed by the city of San Francisco, another consultation was arranged for the ensuing day, April 2d. At this conference the following agreement was entered into between yourself, on behalf of the State, and Mayor Phelan, on the part of the city:

"The State will clean up Chinatown in its own way and with its own money. Will fumigate and disinfect until $25,000 of State money is spent.

"City will erect and maintain a crematory to dispose of rubbish found by the State.

"City will erect and maintain laboratory.

"City will provide and maintain detention barracks and hospital.

"City will provide morgue and hall of tranquillity, and maintain same."

Although this agreement imposed the greater part of the burden of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating the Chinese quarter of San Francisco upon the State, your commission, considering the exigency and the possible consequences of delay, heartily approved the arrangement entered into, and urged that the work be proceeded with at once, in order that the pressure which was undoubtedly being exerted to have the Federal authorities erect a quarantine against California should be relieved. At your request your commission consented to continue acting in its advisory capacity, and agreed with you that it was desirable to have an efficient corps of physicians, acting under the direction of the State Board of Health, to assist in the examination of every alleged case of bubonic plague brought to the attention of the Federal authorities while making their investigations in this city. The importance of this course of action was demonstrated by the results, which fully justified the position taken by you from the beginning, namely, that there was no ground for the charge that cases of genuine bubonic plague had been found in San Francisco.

Although your commission, at the conclusion of this meeting of April 2d, announced to Dr. J. H. White, the official designated by the Federal health authorities to direct and supervise the work of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating Chinatown, the readiness of the State to proceed, he postponed the commencement of operations until April 9th. On the morning of that day a force of forty-three men, subsequently largely increased, was put to work, and the instructions of Dr. White were rigidly adhered to, your commissioners taking pains to hear from him at frequent intervals, in order to learn if everything was proceeding according to his desires. The process adopted, as prescribed by Dr. White, and the progress of the work, are fully described in the accompanying report of the State Board of Health of August 27, 1901. In all 1,185 buildings, containing 16,888 rooms, and numerous hallways, stairways, sinks, yards, basements, sub-basements, water-closets and roofs were cleansed, disinfected and fumigated. Fifteen hundred and eleven loads of garbage, or 4,533 cubic yards, were removed by the State force. The carting and burning of this material were done at the expense of the city. The number of men employed daily on all the work ranged from 130 to 150. That the business was done expeditiously and economically will be inferred from the fact that it was accomplished for about one fourth the amount estimated by Dr. White. Those in charge are to be specially commended for the economies practiced in the purchase of supplies. We find from the reports rendered by the State Board of Health that by disregarding the recommendation of Dr. White to purchase sulphur, bichloride of mercury, dutch ovens, etc., in large quantities, a considerable saving was effected. Thus the work of disinfecting and fumigating was thoroughly performed with 300 pounds of sulphur, although the Marine Hospital Service estimated that thirty tons would be necessary. Fifty pans were bought, and twenty only used, but the requisition of the Federal official called for 200.

In addition to the work of cleansing, disinfecting, and fumigating, the State Board of Health undertook the important duty of assisting the Federal health officers in their search for suspicious cases. A doubt having arisen in the minds of Dr. White and his staff regarding the accuracy of the number of sick Chinese reported in the quarter, a corps of five physicians was employed by the State Board of Health to make a house-to-house canvass. These physicians made a daily report of the work performed by them and also a report of a Chinese whom they found sick, giving a history of each case and a diagnosis of the disease. Each block in the quarter was covered by the State's physicians eight times, and in all of the seventeen blocks only 307 sick cases were reported. A morgue was established by the Marine Hospital Service at 638 Merchant street, and any Chinese man, woman, or child dying in the City and County of San Francisco was, by the order of Dr. White and his associates, immediately removed thereto and treated as a case of bubonic plague until the autopsy proved the contrary. Under an order issued by the City Board of Health of San Francisco, no Chinese person dying in the City and County of San Francisco could be buried until a certificate of death was countersigned by either of the three physicians in charge of the morgue and laboratory conducted by the Federal officials. At all the autopsies the State was represented by one or more physicians, and no autopsy was held without a representative from the State Board being present. The State had as its bacteriologist Dr. S. M. Mouser, who conducted a very thorough and complete investigation in all cases that were considered in any way suspicious.

The wisdom of these precautions was soon made evident. Many cases were reported which were pronounced suspicious by the physicians employed by the Marine Hospital Service, but although between April 8th and August 27th 103 autopsies were performed, not one case was found which could be pronounced bubonic plague. The report of the State Board of Health which gives the clinical history of these cases and the circumstances attending the autopsies indicates that there was an eager desire on the part of those who contended that bubonic plague existed in this city to establish that fact. In one instance an attempt was made to quicklime a body in order to destroy the evidence which would conclusively prove that the deceased had died of pulmonary tuberculosis, which fact had been ascertained at the autopsy. Had not the State Board's physicians taken the attitude they did, the evidence is strong that it would have been pronounced a genuine case of plague. Many other circumstances are cited tending to show that there was a disposition manifested to keep up the impression that bubonic plague had prevailed in the city and that it was still present, but the watchfulness of the State Board's representatives prevented any misunderstanding on that point. And in view of the necessity of thorough watchfulness in this matter, your commission, at its last meeting with you, approved the continuance by you for at least six months of measures to secure complete information as to all suspected or alleged cases of plague, and generally to see that the health conditions of Chinatown were not in any way misrepresented. The monthly expenses of such measures were then estimated at about $1,000 per month, and your commission entirely approves this and all other expenses incurred by the State authorities in this whole matter. It is significant in this connection that the latest case of bubonic plague alleged to have been discovered in this city was on April 8th, the day before the State Board commenced its active investigations. After that date no case was discovered, although many were asserted to be such until an autopsy disproved the assertion.

The commission heartily commends the attitude taken by you in your answer to the telegram from Walter Wyman, Surgeon-General, Marine Hospital Service, dated June 18, 1901, which seems to have closed the incident, and in which he says: "It is a matter of mutual congratulation that no cases have been found during the progress of this work" (that is, the cleansing of Chinatown and the investigation of the character of every case of sickness found within its limits), and suggests that certain supplementary work recommended by Dr. White should be carried out. Your declaration that "there is no occasion at this time for the further investigations suggested by Dr. White" is fully concurred in by us, and we trust that the determination expressed by you that "one-sided or secret examinations, such as have in the past been witnessed in San Francisco, to its irreparable detriment and to that of the whole State, * * * can not again be permitted," will be rigidly adhered to.

In conclusion, your commission desires to express the opinion that the result of the steps taken by you has been to wholly disprove the allegation that bubonic plague has existed in San Francisco. Had the same precautions been taken before April 8, 1901, that were adopted after that date we should not have been menaced with quarantine, nor would we have had imposed upon us the expenditure of a large sum of money, every dollar of which was extorted by the necessity of warding off the evil consequences of the false reports concerning the health of the city and State. There can be no reasonable doubt that the autopsies made prior to April 8, 1901, would have had the same result as those made after that date had there been present doctors who were not interested in creating the impression that San Francisco was plague-infected. The fact that no plague has been found since April 8, 1901, and the further fact that the disease, although it was alleged to have made its appearance on March 6, 1900, did not become epidemic, and that no two cases of what was termed bubonic plague appeared in the same house, should carry conviction to every candid mind that San Francisco is and has been absolutely free from the disease, and that those who said it existed were either mistaken or deliberately misrepresented the facts.

JOHN P. YOUNG,

Commissioners.

FREMONT OLDER,
Commissioner of the City of San Francisco and of the State.

In signing the above report I desire to express the opinion that in the earlier reports of the existence of plague, the Mayor and Board of Health and other officials of San Francisco were sincere in their belief that the reports of physicians that the plague was here were true. I am of the opinion, however, that later on the judgment of the Board of Health became corrupted by its dislike to confessing mistake and by its desire of proving that its erroneous conclusions were justifiable.

Certainly no blame should attach to officials for taking precautions against disease, which excellent authority declared existed. At the same time no excuse should be made for physicians and others who attempted to palm off as plague diseases of a non-contagious character.

T. T. WILLIAMS.

THE DISINFECTING, CLEANING, AND FUMIGATING OF CHINATOWN IN THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, BY THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

HEADQUARTERS OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH,
ROOM NO. 11, FERRY BUILDING,
SAN FRANCISCO, August 27, 1901. }

The work of disinfecting, fumigating, and cleaning of the district known as Chinatown, in the City and County of San Francisco, was commenced April 8, 1901, by the State Board of Health, under the supervision of the Marine Hospital Service of the United States, Dr J. H. White in charge. The district known as Chinatown and mapped out by Dr White consisted of the following seventeen blocks:

Block 132, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Powell and Stockton streets;
Block 133, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Powell and Stockton streets;
Block 134, bounded by Washington and Clay, Powell and Stockton streets;
Block 135, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Powell and Stockton streets;
Block 136, bounded by Sacramento and California, Powell and Stockton streets;
Block 110, bounded by Broadway and Pacific, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 111, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 112, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 113, bounded by Washington and Clay, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 114, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 115, bounded by Sacramento and California, Stockton and Dupont streets;
Block 89, bounded by New Montgomery avenue and Pacific, Dupont and Kearny streets;

Block 90, bounded by Pacific and Jackson, Dupont and Kearny streets;
Block 91, bounded by Jackson and Washington, Dupont and Kearny streets;
Block 92, bounded by Washington and Clay, Dupont and Brenham place;
Block 93, bounded by Clay and Sacramento, Dupont and Kearny streets;
Block 94, bounded by Sacramento and California, Dupont and Kearny streets.

The blocks on the west side of Stockton street were not cleaned in their entirety; only portions of said blocks are occupied by Chinese, and in no instance was it necessary to invade the premises on the Powell street boundary.

On April 4th, the following communication was received at this office from Dr. J. H. White, viz.: "The work of disinfecting, fumigating, and cleaning the district known as Chinatown will commence at the southeast corner of Stockton and Pacific streets, and follow a southeasterly course, on account of the prevailing winds."

The State Board of Health was prepared to begin work on April 5th, when Dr. White made a request for postponement until April 8th. At nine o'clock on the morning of April 8, 1901, we commenced work with a force of forty-three men on block 111, beginning on the corner of Stockton and Pacific streets, as per instructions of Dr. White. Under the instructions of the Marine Hospital people we requested the Chinese to clean their premises preparatory to having them fumigated by means of the following process: "All rooms to be fumigated with five per cent sulphur dioxide for forty hours, with all contents in place. This to be followed by all textures to be subjected to a steam disinfection for twenty minutes in a temperature of 215° Fahr. All goods that could not be disinfected by steam to be soaked in bichloride of mercury solution, 1 to 1,000, or in five per cent carbolic acid solution. All other things that do not come under these clauses and incapable of disinfection, such as foodstuffs, were to be carried to the crematory and burned."

These orders were countermanded and the following plan was substituted, viz.: The floors and walls waist high in the rooms in the various premises to be washed and scrubbed with a saturated lye solution 1 pound to a 4-gallon bucket of water, and the remaining portion of the walls and ceiling to be sprayed with a 1 to 800 solution of bichloride of mercury. We were obliged to pursue this plan in all storerooms until such time that it was found to be of such character of work that it would be impossible to complete the large storerooms and warehouses short of seven or eight months. By request and after consultation with Dr. White, we were permitted to fumigate those storerooms which contained goods that were not damageable by means of sulphur process of fumigating. In those storerooms and warehouses which contained goods which were easily damaged we were permitted to use a formaldehyde gas.

The men were divided into squads of five each, one of said squad being known as the captain or foreman. These squads were in charge of physicians employed by the State Board of Health, who gave instructions as to the work to be performed and saw that it was properly done. After a building was cleaned with the lye solution the physician in charge of the squad performing the work in said building would report the same to one of the physicians acting as inspector on the staff of Dr. White, and he in turn would inspect said building and mark it ready for spraying. The building then would be taken in charge by the spraying squad, whose duty it was to spray the walls and ceilings with a bichloride of mercury solution, 1 to 800. After this character of work was completed the building was again inspected by the State Board of Health inspectors, and by them reported to the inspectors on the Federal staff, who in turn inspected the building and approved the work by marking upon each door of the rooms of the building "O. K." and "Bich." which meant that the rooms and building had been cleaned, fumigated, and disinfected to the satisfaction of the physician acting as inspector on the staff of Dr. White.

This character of work was carried on until all of the 1,185 buildings in the district were completed; in all 16,888 rooms were cleaned, disinfected, and fumigated, besides numerous hallways, stairways, sinks, yards, basements, sub-basements, water-closets, and roofs. Dirt and filth from these buildings were carried to the street and alleyways, where it was covered with quicklime by a force of men employed by the State, after which it was carted off to the crematory and burned; in all, 1,511 loads of this garbage, or 4,533 cubic yards. The carting and burning of this material were done by the City Board of Health at the expense of the city.

All the dark rooms, alleyways, and stairways were subjected to a coat of whitewash by a squad of men working under instructions of our inspector and at the expense of the State Board. In conjunction with the above, a plumbing inspector was employed, who made a thorough investigation of all the plumbing in the buildings in the district, and where defective plumbing was found notice was served upon the owners or their representatives, and with few exceptions the necessary repairs were made to the satisfaction of our plumbing inspector.

At this point we desire to note that the following plumbing fixtures and materials were used to place the plumbing in a sanitary condition:

97 new water-closets were put in.
 186 new galvanized sinks.
 46 automatic flush tanks.
 36 new porcelain urinals.
 28 slop-hoppers.
 37 new iron and lead traps.
 1600 feet cast-iron sewer pipe.
 27 feet galvanized vent pipe.
 1200 feet galvanized water pipe.
 137 water-closets were repaired.
 48 sinks were repaired.
 81 slop-hoppers were repaired.

During the work a request came from Dr. White asking that a squad of men be formed to be known as the "flying squadron." This squad was organized and put in charge of one of the State physicians. The duty of this "flying squadron" was to clean and fumigate the buildings in which alleged cases of bubonic plague had existed; this squad cleaned in all some 34 buildings. The average number of men employed daily on all the work ranged from 135 to 150. The number of physicians employed as inspectors was 6.

A doubt having arisen in the minds of Dr. White and his staff as to the number of sick Chinese reported in the Chinese quarters, a corps of five physicians was employed by the State Board to make a house-to-house canvass in the district known as Chinatown, and to ascertain the truth of this doubt. These physicians made a daily report of the work performed by them, and also a report of the Chinese whom they found sick, giving a history of the case and their diagnosis of the disease. These reports were made in duplicate, one being placed on file in this office, and the duplicate sent to the office of Dr. White. Each block in the district was covered by our physicians eight different times, and in all of the seventeen blocks only 307 sick cases were reported to this office. Few cases of acute sickness were found, most of the cases being of a chronic character, the majority of whom were suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis.

Herewith is a statement of the deaths among the Chinese and Japanese of this city since 1897, as tabulated by the statistician of the City Board of Health:

Fiscal Year.	Estimated Population	Male.	Female.	Total
1897-98	18,000	397	57	454
1898-99	18,000	453	53	506
1899-1900	18,000	454	72	526
July, 1900, to Dec, 1900, inclusive	18,000	214
Jan., 1901, to April 30, 1901, inclusive	151

A census, taken by the State Board of Health, as to the number living in the district known as Chinatown, amounted to 14,281 men, women, and children.

A morgue was established by the Marine Hospital people at 638 Merchant street, in the quarters formerly used as the City Morgue. Any Chinese man, woman, or child dying in the City and County of San Francisco was, by the order of Dr. White and his associates, immediately removed to this morgue and treated as a case of bubonic plague until the autopsy proved the contrary. The morgue and laboratory of the Federal authorities were conducted by Drs. Flint, M. White, and Ryfkogle. Dr. Flint performed all autopsies, and under an order issued by the City Board of Health of San Francisco, no Chinese person dying in the City and County of San Francisco could be buried until a certificate of death was countersigned by one of the above-named gentlemen, showing that the case was not one of bubonic plague. The morgue and laboratory at the present time are under the direct charge of Drs. Blue, White, and Currie. At all the autopsies the State has been represented by one or more physicians, and no autopsy has been held without a representative from this Board. Specimens were removed from the bodies of those autopsied for the purpose of making bacteriological investigations. The State has as its bacteriologist Dr S. M. Mouser, who conducts a very thorough and complete investigation in all cases which are considered in any way suspicious.

The hours for holding the autopsies were arranged for 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. daily. From April 8th to August 19th, 98 autopsies have been performed. Many of these cases were looked upon as very suspicious by the physicians employed by the Marine Hospital Service; but at all times the State Board, through its representatives, has never found a case which could be pronounced as one of bubonic plague, and the report of the State Board's bacteriologist shows the result of a complete investigation.

The following cases have been selected as the ones which were looked upon as suspicious by the physicians in the employ of the Marine Hospital Service:

Woo Poy Wing, 822 Clay street, male, 32 years old, laborer, died at above number on the 7th of April. This case was seen by Dr. Lawlor on the 17th of March, and he obtained a history of pulmonary tuberculosis of over one year's standing. Autopsy made by Dr. Flint revealed the following facts: Glandular system, submaxillary (anterior and posterior), cervica, supra clavicular, right axillary, all negative. Left axillary, found one gland enlarged to the size of almond. The right inguinal glands just felt. The left inguinal just felt. The peritoneal cavity was filled with a cloudy, straw-colored exudate, which contained numerous flocculi. A remark was made at this point that this was very characteristic in plague, and that it was hardly necessary to go on further with the autopsy. At the suggestion of the State's representative, the autopsy was completed, with these findings, viz.: Anatomical diagnosis: Pulmonary tuberculosis, acute peritonitis, tumor of cæcum, intestinal perforation, and arterio sclerosis. Bacteriological diagnosis, negative. Had it not been for the demand on the part of the State's representative at the autopsy this would probably have been reported as a case of plague.

Mark Owau Wing, alias Mae Quon, 735 Jackson street, male, 35 years old, laborer, died April 27th. This case was seen two days before death, and the cause of illness was given as spitting of blood. From a history of the case, a diagnosis of pulmonary tuberculosis was made. Anatomical diagnosis: Pulmonary tuberculosis; chololithiasis; acute parenchymatous degeneration of the kidneys. Bacteriological diagnosis: By the Federal people, distinctly bipolar-stained bacilli; by the State authorities, the bacteriological examination showed a negative result.

This was the case which they endeavored to make out as one of plague and had it not been for the firm stand taken by our physicians there is no question but that this would have terminated as a pronounced case of bubonic plague. At the autopsy Dr. Flint made no statement concerning plague until he removed one enlarged gland from the right axilla. The right lung was removed and found to be tubercular. Dr. Flint then endeavored to remove the left lung, but found it so firmly adhered and diseased that it was impossible to remove it through the abdominal opening, and he stated that he did not desire to mutilate the body by making an opening in the chest walls. He further stated that this was a case of pulmonary tuberculosis, and with this diagnosis the State's representative felt satisfied and left the morgue. Later on in the afternoon Dr. Flint was found going through Chinatown in company with a police officer to the building in which the deceased Chinaman had resided at 735 Jackson Street. The room which he occupied was sealed and locked, but no quarantine was placed on the building. Dr. White immediately made a request that the room be fumigated, which was complied with. That evening the State's representatives demanded that the order given by the Federal people to quicklime the body for burial be countermanded, and a further and more complete autopsy be performed. Our request to non-quicklime the body was granted, as well as postponement of time of burial. The following morning Dr. Flint was interviewed and requested to explain his position in this case. He stated that he desired to await the result of a bacteriological investigation before giving an anatomical diagnosis. He said that if the State desired to make a more complete autopsy they could do so, he would not, but finally admitted that both lungs were completely destroyed by tuberculosis, and the left lung to such an extent that it was impossible to remove it. No further autopsy was insisted on after this admission. We learned that they had inoculated a guinea-pig, but the guinea refused to succumb to their bacilli. The result was that they finally admitted that no evidence of plague had developed from their bacteriological examination, although they were positive in the beginning that they had found bipolar-stained bacilli. The bacteriological investigation made by the State's physicians on the above case gave a negative result.

Mrs. Augusta Feller, white, female, died at the City and County Hospital on April 24th. Anatomical diagnosis: General acute peritonitis, hypostatic congestion of the lungs; cloudy swelling of the liver, kidneys, and heart; chronic fibroid myocarditis. Bacteriological diagnosis: By the Federal people, bipolar-stained bacilli, plague; by the State's authorities, pneumococci.

This was, in the opinion of Dr. Flint, a typical case of plague. This woman resided with her family at 140 Berlin street, and was taken sick on April 15th, while nursing her husband, who was suffering from traumatic pneumonia, the cause of which was a fractured rib produced by the kick of a cow; and on April 19th, on account of the distressed financial circumstances of the family, she was removed to the City and County Hospital and placed under the care of Dr. Charles Rosenthal until the time of her death, and was attended by Dr. Alfred McLaughlin before her removal to the hospital. From Dr. Rosenthal the State received the information that this was a case of acute peritonitis, with double lobular pneumonia, and he signed the death certificate, giving the above-named diseases as the cause of death. Dr. Pillsbury, who made the autopsy in this case, could not verify the statement of Drs. Flint, Ryfkogel, Kellogg, and others, who claimed that they found plague bacilli. Drs. B. F. Williams and Doddsworth, internes at the City and County Hospital, were present at the autopsy. On the findings of Drs. Flint and others the ward at the hospital in which the woman died was quarantined pending a more complete bacteriological examination on the part of Dr. Flint and his associates. These physicians were so positive regarding their diagnosis in this case that they went out to the residence of the deceased woman with the intention of taking some of the blood of the sick husband for examination and to Haffkine the children. Upon their arrival at the house, and after getting a history of the husband's illness and injuries, they failed to carry on any further investigation, or to Haffkine the children. They inoculated a guinea-pig with specimens removed from the body of the deceased woman, but the result proved negative. After holding off a bacteriological examination for a week or more, they finally admitted that they had been mistaken, and countersigned the certificate of death, giving as a cause of death acute peritonitis with lobular pneumonia, and ordered the quarantine raised on the ward. The State's representatives had informed the Federal people and their associates that they could give them a complete history of this woman's case from the date of her very recent confinement when she gave birth to a child, up to and including the time of her death, and that they were positive as to their position that this was not a case of bubonic plague. The Federal people and their associates ordered this body quicklived for burial, yet they permitted a public funeral from an undertaking establishment in the Mission, and published the date and hour of the funeral in the daily papers.

Lee Yick Wau, 622 Jackson street, male, laundryman, 42 years old, suddenly died April 27th. This case was not seen before death, but an investigation before the autopsy was performed revealed the fact that the man had died from the effects of an overdose of Chinese medicine. Dr. Flint stated, before the autopsy began, that this certainly was one of the supposed hidden cases of plague, so often mentioned. At the request of the State's representatives, a complete autopsy was made of the stomach and intestines, and when no cause was found to account for the acute pathological changes in the stomach and intestines, the State's representatives gave the cause as above mentioned, and thus another case was proven to be based on fallacy. Anatomical diagnosis: Acute gastro-enteritis; phthisis; cholelithiasis; chronic pleurisy and chronic interstitial nephritis. Bacteriological diagnosis, negative.

Wong Do Gap, 823 Sacramento street, male, age 40, died May 13th at the Oriental Dispensary. This case was seen many times clinically for more than one month, and a diagnosis of tubercular adenitis was made. Anatomical diagnosis: Acute hemorrhagic gastro-intero colitis, caused by chewing and swallowing Dr. Flint's clinical thermometer; chronic nephritis; edema of the lungs; cervical tubercular adenitis of the glands of the left axilla. Bacteriological diagnosis: Federal people found bipolar-stained bacilli, and inoculated a guinea-pig, result proved negative.

Lei Lum or Gee Mon Sui, 625 Dupont street, age 43, laundryman. Autopsied at Public Morgue, July 7th. Spleen examined by Federal doctors on same day, and pronounced suspicious of plague. This case was reported July 1st, and seen clinically. A diagnosis of pulmonary tuberculosis and stenosis of trachea made. Obstruction in trachea was due to a cicatrix, resulting from a cut in throat with suicidal intent. Patient committed suicide on the 6th, and was examined as above stated. Cultures and inoculations proved bipolar-stained bacilli to be diplococci.

Mon Lung, 4 Clay avenue, child, age four months. This case was treated at the Presbyterian Mission by Dr. Minnie Worley for more than two weeks for pneumonia. Autopsy revealed bipolar-stained organisms in smears from spleen. These appeared to State's representative to be streptococci, not bacilli, as claimed by Federal doctors. Cultures and inoculations proved organisms to be streptococci and the cause of pneumonia.

"To the Honorable Board of Health of the State of California"

"The undersigned begs to report that on July 6, 1901, he was present at an autopsy of a Chinaman named Lee Ah Wa (?) made by employes of the U. S. Marine Hospital Service, and has since made cultures and inoculations with tissues from the body of said Chinaman, making the usual bacteriological investigations, which led him to the conclusion that said Chinaman died of septicemia hemorrhagica, and not of bubonic plague.

"Respectfully submitted,

"S. M. MOUSER.

"San Francisco, July 16. 1901."

Case 64, known as "Saina," a Japanese diva, of 845 Washington street. This was the second body autopsied on July 9th; the first being that of "Moioy," also from the same place. This case was reported by Dr. Blue at 10 P. M. on July 8th as very suspicious of bubonic plague. Drs. Lawlor and Stone visited the case about midnight on the same day, and found the patient suffering with a fever ranging from 101° to 102°, moderately rapid pulse and breathing, and enlarged inguinal femoral glands on both sides. The glands were about the size of an almond not hulled, surrounded by a slight periglandular edema, and tender upon pressure. The skin over glands on right side showed a well-defined puncture mark, which had been made by Dr. Ryfkogel for the said purpose of withdrawing blood from glands for bacteriological examination. The history of the case previous to visit of Drs. Lawlor and Stone is this: The patient became sick the latter part of June. Dr. M. Regensberger was called in to treat the case. He made the diagnosis of typhoid fever and gave treatment for same, but since the patient did not show signs of improvement under this treatment Drs. Carpenter and Evans were called in consultation. Both of these doctors heard murmurs over area of heart, but were not satisfied as to their diagnosis, and therefore a third consultation in the form of a bacteriologist, Dr. Ryfkogel, was called in, who at once pronounced the case bubonic plague, and then made the puncture above-mentioned to confirm his diagnosis. The post mortem showed the following: A chancre on the right side of vulva, the inguinal femoral groups of glands enlarged and surrounded by a non-hemorrhagic periglandular edema. Some of the glands ready to break down by fibrinous necrosis. Smears made from the glands showed the bipolar-stained organism only to be present in set of glands on right side where the puncture had been made. The smears made from glands on left side were negative. From the cut surfaces of tumefaction about glands a serous exudate flowed, or rather oozed. The peritoneum, intestines, mesentery and its glands, stomach, and kidneys were found to be normal, not even injected nor hemorrhagic. The spleen was about double its size, soft, pulp structureless, and upon capsule being cut flowed out. Smears made of spleen did not show bipolar-stained organisms. The heart did not show any lesions, nor even thickening of valves, although a few atheromatous plaques faintly showed in aorta, this proving that the consulting doctors who heard murmurs as stated above were mistaken. The lower lobes of both lungs were greatly congested, and upon being cut a serous, sanguinous, frothy exudate flowed from same. It should be added here that smears were made from this exudate of lungs, from the heart's blood, and from the mesenteric glands, but none of these smears showed bipolar-stained organisms; this proving clearly that the organisms found in the right groin inguinal femoral glands were not found in blood of subject. This is in direct contradiction to findings of bacilli in suspected plague cases elsewhere; the spleen being the organ where the bacilli are found most abundantly, and if at all present, are found in this organ. This is in accordance with the ideas of the Federal doctors, because frequently no other organ in a case is examined.

Cases 63 and 68 were similar in every respect to above cases.

"To the Honorable State Board of Health of the State of California"

"The undersigned begs to report that at the request of your Honorable Board he has made a thorough bacteriological investigation of three Japanese woman who died at 845 Washington street and has arrived at the conclusion hereinafter stated:

"These women were named, respectively, Miss Moio (No. 63 of autopsies made since April 4th by medical men connected with the U. S. Marine Hospital Service), Miss Saina (No. 64), and Miss M. Kawamura (No. 68). These women were all inmates of a house of prostitution, and were similarly situated as to their habits and mode of life. The post mortem appearances were in many respects similar, except that in case 68 there were marked evidence of syphilis, copper-colored spots appearing on the skin of nearly all parts of the body. There was in each case some enlargement of the inguino-femoral glands, but in no case was the gland broken down or in a state of suppuration. There was no marked changes in the axillary or cervical glands.

"In cases 64 and 68 there was a little enlargement of some of the mesenteric glands. In each case the spleen was somewhat enlarged and friable. In all three cases were found short, rather thick micro-organisms, staining more deeply at the ends than in the middle. Guinea-pigs inoculated with portions of tissue from these dead bodies invariably died in a few days with every evidence of septicemia hemorrhagica. In all these cases the organisms were obtained in pure culture and inoculated into half-grown guinea-pigs, not one of which died nor showed evidence of disease. While the organism found in these cases resembles somewhat that of plague, it equally resembles so many other bacteria that we should hesitate to pronounce on it from its morphology alone. For instance, chicken cholera, swine plague, the plague of deer and other wild animals, septicemia hemorrhagica, etc.

"Where the greatest bacteriologists in the world differ in opinion on the identity of the organisms above-named, should we not hesitate to pronounce hastily and positively by the morphology alone without taking into consideration the clinical aspect of these cases and all other evidence that can be obtained? Returning to the morphology of the organism found in the cases, it will be proper for the writer to state that he has, while investigating these cases, found an organism identical with the one found in the dead subject in every particular. Not only in its morphology, but the culture and reactions are the same throughout. This was obtained in some water from a small lake which was being examined. Since, in examining some urine, he found what is morphologically its prototype. From this last it was convenient to obtain cultures.

"Clinically we have no evidence of the existence of plague. In the first place, there has been no unusual amount of sickness in the Chinese quarter or in the city. Secondly, with the exception of the three cases under consideration, and perhaps two others, there have not been two cases of suspects found in one house, nor in the immediate vicinity. This has not been the case in other places where plague has prevailed.

"In view of all the facts he has been able to gather he does not hesitate to say he is satisfied that the above mentioned were all cases of septicemia hemorrhagica, and not bubonic plague.

"Case 69, a Chinese girl, fifty days old, was submitted to the undersigned for investigation, but as the micro-organism above described was not found, no further investigation was made.

"Respectfully submitted,

"S. M. Mouser, M.D.

"San Francisco, August, 1901."

Wong Chou, 24 Waverly Place, age 32; occupation, Chinese doctor. Autopsied August 20, 1901. This case was not seen clinically by the State's representatives before death. Dr. M. White, of the Marine Hospital Service, was notified of the sickness of the above Chinaman by Wong Chung, the interpreter for the Marine Hospital physicians, whereupon Dr. White made a visit to the above place and saw the case clinically one-half hour before death. After visiting the case, he immediately notified the physicians representing the State that he had a very suspicious case and one which showed clinically all the evidences and symptoms of a true case of bubonic plague. He was so positive of proving his clinical diagnosis to the satisfaction of the other physicians, that when the case was visited by Drs. Blue and Currie, of the Marine Hospital Service, and Drs. Lawlor, Stone, and Bothe, representing the State Board of Health, with Dr. White, the said Dr. White carried with him to the residence of the said Chinese a quantity of Yersin serum for the purpose of using it on the sick Chinaman. Upon arriving, at the residence of the Chinaman, much to the surprise of Dr. White and his associates, they found that the said Wong Chou had departed to the "Great Unknown." The case was immediately removed to the morgue, where an autopsy was made by Dr. White in the presence of the above-named physicians and representatives from the City Board of Health. The autopsy revealed the following facts: The peritoneum was not injected and the abdominal cavity contained no fluid. Mesentery glands were not enlarged. The spleen was enlarged to more than double its size, of a dark chocolate color. The stomach was normal, but contained about one pint of Chinese medicine, which had an odor of chloral. The lower lobes of the lungs were congested, but contained no tubercles. The heart contained a large ante-mortem clot. The glands in the left inguinal region were slightly enlarged, and over this region the Chinaman had a large plaster of Chinese ointment. On making an incision over the course of the spermatic cord a large quantity of pus exuded; upon further examination a large abscess on the left testicle was found. This no doubt was the cause of the swelling in the region of the left inguinal gland. Smears from the pus showed the infecting organism to be streptococcus. The smears taken from other organs of the body showed that they contained the same organism. Death was due to the streptococci infection, with an acute splenic tumor, and to an overdose of Chinese medicine. Dr. White and his associates seemed to be very much disappointed in a failure to prove their clinical diagnosis of bubonic plague.

TO SUMMARIZE.

The State has scrubbed an area equal to 525 acres, and in addition thereto, fumigated about 30,000,000 cubic feet of dwelling apartments.

Have seen 307 sick cases and autopsied 103 cases.

Total cost to date, $37,518.

Number of days cleansing Chinatown and visiting the sick, 142.

During all of which time we have not observed a single case of bubonic plague.

OFFICE OF CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, SACRAMENTO.

To His Excellency HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California

SIR: On March 31st, 1901, as executive officer of the State Board of Health, I was authorized and directed by you to incur the necessary expense to render the Chinese quarter of San Francisco thoroughly sanitary and, incidentally, to eradicate any contagious disease found to exist there. The report of the operations entered upon and carried out by virtue of this order is hereby submitted. At the beginning of this work the Federal authorities who co-operated with us were of the opinion, based upon reports of others more or less trustworthy, that bubonic plague was prevalent among the Chinese of that city, and that it would be readily found as soon as proper investigation was had. During this period of fumigation, disinfecting, and cleansing no effort was omitted on our part nor on the part of the Marine Hospital representatives to locate and identify the presence of plague.

At the conclusion of the work, as thorough and searching as it could possibly be made, no case of bubonic plague was found, nor was any indication of its having been there discovered. If plague had existed in San Francisco just prior to this sanitary investigation, it would have been there during the months of April, May, and June, because no efforts had been made to suppress it and no precautions taken to prevent its spread.

It is safe, therefore, to say that the evil reports of the presence of that disease in San Francisco were based upon error in diagnosis upon the part of incompetent investigators. We take great pleasure in assuring you that plague does not exist in San Francisco, and that it never has had lodgment there, nor elsewhere in California.

CALIFORNIA STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

PARDONS AND COMMUTATIONS OF SENTENCE FROM STATE PRISON.

Oliver Emerson	Tuolumne - ...	Murder, first degree July, 1899

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1899, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Tuolumne in said State, Oliver Emerson was tried and convicted of the crime of murder, first degree, and sentenced to be hanged on the 8th day of March, 1901; and whereas, the said Oliver Emerson thereafter appealed to the Supreme Court of California from said judgment; and whereas, said Supreme Court, through Chief Justice Beatty, in affirming the judgment of the lower court, in part said:

"Upon this evidence a jury has found—and the finding has been approved by the trial judge—that the defendant is guilty of murder in the highest grade, and that he deserves to suffer the extreme penalty of the law. We are asked to say as a matter of law, that this verdict is so entirely without support in the evidence that it can not stand. But after the most careful consideration of the case we do not feel ourselves justified in setting aside the verdict upon this ground. Certainly the showing against the defendant was not a strong one, as to the question of deliberation, such as characterizes murder of the first degree. He did not seek or provoke the quarrel which was the immediate cause of the killing. He did not show himself at all aggressive in the course of the altercation, and all the evidence shows that he had turned to leave the scene of the trouble, and would have done so but for the conduct of Rodgers and his wife in following him up and angrily demanding to know where he had seen her before. All this is inconsistent with an intention on the part of the defendant to seek the life of Rodgers at that time, and strongly corroborates his claim that he was only induced to fire by the belief that he was in danger of fatal or serious injury from the threatened attack of Rodgers, armed as he was with a stone, which, in the hands of a strong and determined man at close quarters, is always a dangerous and often a deadly weapon. But on the other hand, the long-standing quarrel and bitter hostility of the parties, the preparation for trouble evidenced by the constant carrying of a loaded pistol, and the threat to put Rodgers 'where the dogs would not bark at him,' were items of evidence from which the jury might infer a premeditated design to kill; and the fact that the fatal wound was inflicted after the deceased had dropped his weapon and had turned, or was in the act of turning, to run, was evidence which certainly tended to show that defendant was not acting solely with a view of defending himself from death or serious bodily injury. True, none of these circumstances is at all conclusive, nor are all together. Judging by so much as is disclosed by this record, the quarrel between the parties was not exclusively of defendant's seeking, nor was he particularly active in promoting it. On the contrary, the deceased seems to have been the aggressor. The act of defendant in arming himself may well have been prompted, as he claims it was, solely by fear of violence, of which he had been warned. His threat to put Rodgers 'where the dogs would not bark at him' may have been idle and meaningless. His second and fatal shot, fired after Rodgers had dropped his weapon and turned to run, may have been caused by a failure to observe, under the excitement of the moment, that his adversary was endeavoring to avoid further conflict. But all these matters and their full significance were for the jury to weigh and determine; and their verdict, having substantial evidence to support it, can not be disturbed unless it is vitiated by some erroneous ruling of the court."

And whereas, verbal recommendations for Executive clemency in this case having been made to me by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the State;

And whereas, from an examination of the application for commutation of sentence and from the records and papers on file in this department relating to said case, it appears that the evidence was not sufficient to justify the conviction of the defendant of the crime of murder in the first degree;

February 28, 1901, sentence commuted to imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of fifteen years.

Name of Prisoner	County	Crime	Sentenced	Term.
Donati C. Probasco..	Siskiyou	Murder, second degree..	December, 1893.. 21 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of December, A. D. 1893, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Siskiyou, in said State, Donati C. Probasco was, after due trial and conviction of the crime of murder in the second degree, sentenced and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of twenty-one years;

And whereas, the said prisoner has been imprisoned in said State Prison since December 1, 1893, and his term of imprisonment would, with deductions for good behavior, end November 1, 1906;

And whereas, said prisoner during his said term has not only shown exemplary conduct and strictly obeyed prison rules and regulations, but rendered great service to the prison authorities, resulting in the saving of the life of one of the guards in the following particulars, as appears by the following words of a report from the Warden of said prison to the State Board of Prison Directors, dated December 6, 1899, to wit:

"This prisoner has shown himself as deserving of some recognition at your hands for his conduct on May 17, 1899, when Guard McDonald was murderously assaulted in the jute mill by convict Oppenheimer. While the said guard was apparently at the mercy of such would-be assassin, no other guard being in the immediate vicinity to render assistance, the above-named prisoner, No. 15,688, D. C. Probasco, the only person who saw the assault, ran to the nearest guard, S. R. Yoho, and notified him that his brother guard was about being killed by a prisoner, and led him to the scene of the occurrence. This enabled Guard Yoho to render such assistance as to prevent the killing and overpower the assassin. It is beyond doubt that had it not been for the timely warning given by the prisoner Probasco to Mr. Yoho, Mr. McDonald would surely have been stabbed to death."

And whereas, after a full examination of the said facts by the State Board of Prison Directors, the said report of the Warden was fully verified, and the conduct of the prisoner found to be at all times exemplary, and said board after such examination caused its report, under date December 11, 1899, to be submitted to me, wherein they duly recommend that said Donati C. Probasco was deserving of full pardon;

And whereas, it appears to me that, in view of the meritorious conduct of said prisoner, considering the time during which he has been imprisoned in expiation of his crime, this is a proper case for the exercise of Executive clemency, and that the granting of a pardon in this case in recognition of the services of said Probasco will be an example to other convicts that may result in the improvement of their conduct and encourage them to scrupulously obey the prison rules and regulations;

Pardoned May 3, 1901.

Name of Prisoner	County.	Crime	Sentenced	Term.
Patrick Brick ----	Colusa -----	Murder, first degree -----	July, 1885 -----	-----Life.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1885, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Colusa, in this State, Patrick Brick was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be hanged, which judgment and sentence was thereafter affirmed on appeal by the Supreme Court of this State;

And whereas, thereafter in the month of April, 1886, Governor Stoneman commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life on the petitions of numerous persons presented to him from different portions of the United States, among whom were the then Speaker of the House of Representatives, three United States Senators, including Hon Leland Stanford, the Governor and ex-Governor of the State of Kentucky, besides many citizens of Louisville and St. Louis, where said Patrick Brick formerly lived, and many citizens of Colusa County, where said homicide was committed, all testifying to his uniform good character while a resident of those places; and after a careful inspection and reading of the testimony in the case, said Governor Stoneman found that the crime was committed in the heat of passion, and that it lacked the elements of malice and premeditation necessary to make it murder in the first degree;

And whereas, petitions have been received by me from many citizens requesting a re-examination of the case and a full pardon;

And whereas, it appears from the records before me that the said Patrick Brick has been actually confined in the State Prison at Folsom for the period of fifteen years, which term of imprisonment, if he had been sentenced to a term less than life, and had been entitled to credits, would be equivalent to a term of imprisonment of about twenty years and seven months;

And whereas, it appears from the records of the officers of the prison that during his long period of imprisonment his conduct has been most exemplary, and that by his expert work on the roofs of the prison he has been of most valuable assistance to the officers, and saved much money to the State;

And whereas, the Judge who tried the cause has joined in the application for clemency, as appears from a letter on file among said records;

And whereas, upon an examination of the facts of the case, I find that the prisoner was convicted of the crime during a period of great popular excitement, due to the previous murder of Dr. Glenn, committed in the same locality, some few months prior to the killing of Jones by said Patrick Brick, and prejudice was engendered thereby against said Brick. And it further conclusively appears to me that the killing of Jones by said Patrick Brick was in a sudden quarrel and heat of passion, and immediately after being violently assaulted and knocked down by said deceased, so that the highest crime for which said Patrick Brick should have been lawfully convicted, if proper to convict him at all, was manslaughter;

And whereas, the highest punishment prescribed for manslaughter was then and still is ten years' imprisonment;

And whereas, said Patrick Brick has actually served a term of fifteen years confinement in the State Prison at Folsom;

And whereas, in view of the facts and the good character of said Patrick Brick, both before and after his imprisonment, it appears that justice and clemency require in this case a full and unconditional pardon;

Pardoned May 29, 1901.

Thomas P. Owens -----	Sonoma.-----	Murder, first degree -----	----- July, 1900

DECISION—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1900, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Sonoma, in said State, Thomas P. Owens was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and was thereafter duly sentenced to be hanged in the State Prison of California, at San Quentin, on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1901;

And whereas, a petition signed by many persons, and several letters from divers persons have been presented to me wherein it is alleged that the said Thomas P. Owens was, at the time of the commission of the crime of which he was convicted, irresponsible and insane, and is still insane;

And whereas, upon the said petition and letters I did appoint Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, to visit the said Thomas P. Owens at the State Prison at San Quentin;

And whereas, the said Dr. F. W. Hatch visited said convict Thomas P. Owens, and on the 15th day of October, 1901, made to me a written report as follows:

"CALIFORNIA STATE PRISON,
"SAN QUENTIN, October 15, 1901. }

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California·

"DEAR SIR: In accordance with your instructions to visit and examine into the mental condition of convict Thomas P. Owens, under sentence of death at the State Prison at San Quentin, I have this day made a careful examination of the said Thomas P. Owens and beg to report as follows:

"First—That there is sufficient evidence of present insanity to justify a more prolonged investigation than can be had in the limited time intervening between now and the day set for his execution.

"Second—I respectfully request that you grant such reprieve as will enable me to make further investigation before expressing my positive conclusions as to the existing mental condition.

"Respectfully yours,

"F. W. HATCH, M. D.,
"Gen'l Supt. State Hospitals."

And whereas, a doubt having arisen as to the sanity of said Thomas P. Owens, and request having been made by said Dr. F. W. Hatch for a reprieve of sentence, and it appearing to me that a reprieve of sentence for a reasonable time would be consonant with justice in order to allow a full investigation and determination of the prisoner's mental condition;

And whereas, pursuant to said recommendation of Dr. F. W. Hatch, on the 19th day of October, A. D. 1901, I reprieved the sentence of death until Friday, December 20, 1901, and authorized said Dr. F. W. Hatch to employ such assistant physicians as he might select in making further investigation;

And whereas, on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1901, said Dr. F. W. Hatch and Doctors J. A. Crane and J. D. Young, his assistants, returned to me the following report and recommendation, to wit:

"December 11, 1901.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California·

"DEAR SIR: Having been asked to inquire into the mental condition of Thomas P. Owens, now under reprieve of sentence of death in the California State Prison at San Quentin, we beg leave to report that, after a careful review of the history of the man and his family—which history clearly reveals an inherited tendency to brain disease and insanity—together with a close study of his appearance, manner, and conversation, we believe him to be insane at the present time.

"And while it may be exceeding our instructions in the case, we also venture it as our opinion that the said Owens was of unsound mind prior to and upon the occasion of the crime for which he stands condemned, and that the action of alcohol upon a brain predisposed to disease, by reason of these inherited tendencies, was largely the occasion of this mental unsoundness and the resulting crime.

"The above being the conclusions arrived at by us, there is no alternative offered but to suggest to your Excellency that we believe that the demands of justice will be fully subserved by a commutation of the death penalty to that of imprisonment for life; this course also affording the public immunity from further acts of violence upon the part of the condemned man.

"And finally, as this case may require further observation and study, we recommend that for the present he be detained in San Quentin, leaving the place of his final and permanent detention open for future consideration.

"Very respectfully,

"J. D. YOUNG, M. D.

"J. A. CRANE, M. D.

"F. W. HATCH, M. D."

And whereas, it appearing to me from said report that the recommendation of a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment is right and proper in the premises and is consonant with justice;

December 12, 1901, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Marion Miranda...	Sonoma.....	Murder, second degree..	June, 1898.....12 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of June, A. D. 1898, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Sonoma, in said State, Marion Miranda was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the second degree, and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison at San Quentin for the term of twelve years;

And whereas, application for the pardon of said Marion Miranda has been made by several reputable citizens representing that said Miranda was innocent of the crime of which he was convicted, and it appears from the facts and documentary evidence submitted to me that said Marion Miranda was jointly charged with one Pete Bill in the Superior Court of the County of Sonoma, State of California, of the crime of murdering one Bernardo, and both were found guilty of murder in the second degree. And it appears that the evidence against said Miranda was mainly circumstantial, and that after the sentence of said Miranda and Pete Bill, to wit, on October 3, A. D. 1898, said Pete Bill, being on his deathbed, freely and voluntarily acknowledged the killing of said Bernardo, and exonerated said Marion Miranda from all complicity in said crime, and then and there freely and voluntarily made and subscribed to the following affidavit:

"In the Superior Court of the County of Santa Rosa (sic), in the State of California.

"The People of the State of California, plaintiff, vs. Pete Bill and Marion Miranda, defendants.

"State of California, County of Marin—ss.

"I, Pete Bill, one of the above-named co-defendants in the above-entitled action, wherein said defendants were charged with and convicted of the unlawful killing of one Bernardo (whose first name is at present unknown to deponent), of the County of Santa Rosa" (sic), "State of California, on or about the 28th day of May, 1898, being first duly sworn, doth depose and say: That said Marion Miranda and his wife and said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife were all together about nine o'clock at night on the above-named date. That about this said time said Marion Miranda and his wife separated themselves from the company of said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife, and were not present at the time of the said killing of the said Bernardo. That after the said Marion Miranda and his wife had separated themselves from the company of the said Bernardo and deponent and deponent's wife, as aforesaid, the said Bernardo attempted with force and arms to commit the crime of rape upon the person of the wife of deponent, and declared that he was going to take deponent's wife to his house to live with him. That deponent thereupon resisted the said force of the said Bernardo, and that the said Bernardo did then and there assault deponent with a knife, whereupon deponent pulled a picket off of a fence near by and struck the said Bernardo over the head with the said picket, which said blow killed said Bernardo. That this affidavit is given voluntarily and under no duress and without any inducement from any one or from any source whatsoever, but wholly with the desire to tell the truth; and that this affidavit is the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, any statement, declaration, affidavit, admission or confession to the contrary notwithstanding.

"PETE BILL.

"D. J. Quaid, Jas. F. Shields, Suisun, Witnesses.

"Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 3d day of October, A. D. 1898.

CHAS. E. ALDEN,

[SEAL.] Notary Public in and for the County of Marin, State of California."

And whereas, it appears from letters received from Hon. Albert G. Burnett, the judge who tried the cause, and from Hon. Emmett Seawell, the district attorney who prosecuted said cause, that said Marion Miranda was innocent of said crime, and the said Judge has written to me the following frank expression of his opinion:

"SANTA ROSA, CAL., March 21, 1902.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California:

"DEAR SIR: In reference to one Miranda convicted in my court of murder in the second degree about whom I have written you before, I desire to state that from information received since his conviction, I am of the opinion that he was innocent of any connection with the crime and that he ought to be pardoned.

"Yours very truly,

"ALBERT G. BURNETT."

Pardoned, March 26, 1902.

Frank R. Donlan.	Tulare	Murder, first degree October, 1900

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of October, A. D. 1900, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Tulare, in said State, Frank R. Donlan was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to be executed at the State Prison in San Quentin on January 4, 1901;

And whereas, an appeal from said judgment of the said Superior Court was taken to the Supreme Court of California, and, said judgment having been afterward affirmed, the said Frank R. Donlan was on March 21, 1902, in the said Superior Court in and for Tulare County, sentenced to be executed on April 11, 1902, in said State Prison at San Quentin;

And whereas, it was afterward represented to me by several representative citizens of the State that the said Frank R. Donlan at the time of the commission of said crime was irresponsible and that he is now an irresponsible and insane person;

And whereas, in view of said representations, on the 31st day of March, 1902, I appointed Dr. F. W. Hatch, the General Superintendent of State Hospitals, to investigate the case and to make a thorough investigation of the mental condition of said Frank R. Donlan and report to me thereon, and thereupon I granted a reprieve of sentence until Friday, May 9, 1902;

And whereas, I have this day received from Dr. F. W. Hatch a report concerning the said Frank R. Donlan, in which said report Dr. J. D. Young of the Napa State Asylum has joined, which said report is as follows, to wit:

"STOCKTON, CAL., May 1, 1902.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California:

DEAR SIR: Having been directed by you to inquire into the mental condition of Frank Donlan, under sentence of death, we beg to report that a careful examination of the life history of the condemned shows a marked inheritance to insanity and epilepsy on the father's side. According to the sworn statements of the mother and three brothers of the condemned, he has been subject to epileptic attacks since early childhood. This testimony is corroborated in part by the sworn statement of Dr. F. F. Lord, a practicing physician, that he has seen him in an epileptic seizure, and also by the statement of one Ochoa, a criminal under sentence of death and the cell-mate of Donlan, that he has seen him in convulsions on three separate occasions. Examination shows that he is defective mentally, the defect being due to long-continued epileptic attacks. He committed the crime when under the influence of liquor. The morning after the commission of the crime—according to the physicians who examined him—he was a nervous wreck and 'verging on tremens.' Probably no case of epilepsy exists in which there is not more or less mental impairment. We do not assume that the presence of epilepsy in an individual necessarily renders that individual irresponsible for a crime committed, yet when there is epilepsy of years' duration with resultant mental weakness, as in this case, that fact should weigh in determining the measure of punishment in some way proportionate to the degree of moral resistance which can be opposed to crime.

"Taking all of these facts into consideration, and it being established that the condemned is mentally defective and a sufferer from epilepsy, we therefore recommend that the death sentence of Donlan be commuted to imprisonment for life.

"F. W. HATCH, M. D.

"J. D. YOUNG, M. D."

And whereas, from said report it appears that the said Frank R. Donlan was and is an irresponsible person, and that the ends of justice will be subserved in complying with the recommendations of said physicians;

May 5, 1902, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

John Barbeau	Mariposa	Murder, first degree	May, 1895 Life

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of May, A. D. 1895, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Mariposa, in said State, John Barbeau was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the State Prison for the term of his natural life;

And whereas, numerous representative citizens have petitioned for his pardon, and from the facts represented to me it clearly appears that said John Barbeau committed the said homicide under circumstances strongly indicating sufficient provocation and grounds of self-defense, and that under the strongest facts presented against him the crime committed was not above the grade of manslaughter;

And whereas, it appears that the said John Barbeau is an old and infirm man, being about 66 years, and is a veteran of the Civil War, having served gallantly in said war and having been honorably discharged;

And whereas, he has been imprisoned in the State Prison at Folsom for said homicide since June 27, 1895, and has been more than sufficiently punished for the offense shown by the actual facts;

And whereas, the facts and records in the matter of said Barbeau's application for pardon were duly submitted to the Board of State Prison Directors on May 24, 1902, and the said board adopted and referred to me their findings and recommendation as follows, to wit:

"Convict No. 3489, John Barbeau (convicted of the crime of murder, first degree, committed to the State Prison at Folsom to serve a life term by the honorable the Superior Court of Mariposa County, received June 7, 1895), having made application to the Governor of California for Executive clemency, and his Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor, having submitted the application to this Board for its consideration and recommendation, the Board finds and recommends as follows:

"It appears from the evidence submitted for consideration that the application for a pardon is signed and urged by citizens of weight and high standing in this community;

"That the crime was committed under great provocation, and, considering the quarrelsome temperament of the man killed, and his prior attempt upon the life of the petitioner (Barbeau), the killing could almost be said to have been done in self-defense;

"It appears that the petitioner is of an inoffensive, mild, and harmless disposition, of a somewhat simple and over-confiding nature, not over strong mentally, and that his life, prior to and since his committing this offense, has been praiseworthy and irreproachable;

"It appears that he is an old volunteer soldier, who fought to protect his country in the war of the Rebellion for over five years, and that he now has an opportunity offered to spend the few remaining years of his old age in a National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers;

"It appears that Mr. Geo. M. Mott and Mr. T. W. Sheehan, responsible and reputable men, have obtained a legal permit from the Soldiers' Home in Ohio for the admission of the petitioner (Barbeau), and for his proper care and keeping in that institution, and have guaranteed that all transportation expenses will be furnished by them in event that a pardon be granted;

"Therefore, this Board does most respectfully recommend to his Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor of California, that he do pardon the said convict No. 3489, John Barbeau; provided the said Barbeau be placed in some soldiers' home outside the limits of this State, to be properly provided and cared for during the remainder of his life, without further expense to the State of California."

Pardoned June 2, 1902, upon express condition that said John Barbeau be placed in some soldiers' home outside the State, and that he be not permitted to return to this State.

Gertrudes Almendares	San Diego	Murder, first degree July, 1901

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of San Diego, in said State, Gertrudes Almendares was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to death at San Quentin Prison, State aforesaid; that thereafter such proceedings were had that on the first day of August, A. D. 1902, by an order made and given in said Superior Court of the County of San Diego, the Warden of said State Prison at San Quentin was directed to execute the judgment of death on Friday, the 19th day of September, A. D. 1902, between the hours of sunrise and sunset on said day within the walls of said State Prison;

And whereas, it was thereafter represented to me and made to appear that the said Gertrudes Almendares was insane, and upon such representation I appointed two competent physicians to inquire into the matter of said insanity, to wit, Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals of this State, and Dr. J. D. Young, Medical Superintendent of the State Hospital at Stockton, State aforesaid;

And whereas, said physicians on the 10th day of September, A. D. 1902, presented to me their written report and findings wherein they find and represent that the said Gertrudes Almendares is now insane, and recommend a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, which said report is in words and figures following, to wit:

"DEAR SIR: In accordance with your instructions to inquire into the mental condition of convict Gertrudes Almendares, sentenced to be executed at San Quentin State Prison, we beg to inform you that we have made a careful examination of the condemned and herewith submit our conclusions.

"Examination of Almendares brings to light a depressed injury of the skull, about four inches in length, on the left parietal bone. The injury was received about five years ago in Mexico. The depression of the skull is well marked, and Almendares' story that it resulted from a saber cut is, to some extent, substantiated by the general character of the resulting scar.

"With this highly probable physical basis as a cause of disturbance of the brain, Almendares presents the following symptoms of a diseased mind: He has continually, for over two years, labored under the insane idea that fire was being placed upon him by parties unknown to him but who kept up this form of persecution. His actions in the efforts made to rid himself of the sensation of the application of fire have been consistent with this belief. He has apparently no thought of the death penalty; his only concern being to get away from those who throw fire upon him. He is quarrelsome, has assaulted the Warden, has set fire to his bedding in his cell, and is recognized by the prison authorities as too vicious and dangerous a man with his persecutory beliefs to be placed in a cell with others.

"In our opinion Almendares is insane and a proper subject for Executive clemency.

"We therefore recommend the commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment.

"F. W. HATCH, M. D.

"J. D. YOUNG, M. D."

And whereas, it appears to me that the said Gertrudes Almendares is now insane, and that the ends of justice will be subserved by commuting the sentence of said Gertrudes Almendares to life imprisonment in accordance with the recommendation of the said physicians;

September 18, 1902, sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Frank Dunphy..... Thomas Harvey.	Solano.....	Resisting an officer.....	June, 1901.....	--- Six months' imprisonment and $20 fine.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the the month of June, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Solano, in said State, Frank Dunphy and Thomas Harvey were tried and convicted of the crime of resisting an officer and were respectively condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of said County of Solano for the term of six months and to pay a fine of twenty dollars;

And whereas, it appears from several petitions of public officers of the County of Solano and of the City of Vallejo that said Frank Dunphy and Thomas Harvey are each young men of good character, and have heretofore sustained an excellent reputation for peace, quietness, truth, honesty, and integrity, and that this is the first offense charged against them, and that said Frank Dunphy is the sole support of a wife and babe, and that said Thomas Harvey has a widowed mother dependent upon him for support, and after an examination of the transcript of the evidence, for the foregoing, among other reasons, it appears that the law has been fully vindicated, and that the circumstances of the case call for the exercise of Executive clemency;

Pardoned August 17, 1901.

Eunice Hobbs.....	Napa.....	Assault.....	October, 1901.....	--- Six months

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of October, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Napa, in said State, Eunice Hobbs was tried and convicted of the crime of assault, and sentenced to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for a term of six months;

And whereas, it appears from the certificates of two reputable physicians that said Eunice Hobbs was, prior to her incarceration, suffering from severe uterine hemorrhage, and that since her incarceration her infirmity has been aggravated, that her infirmity is devitalizing in the extreme, and that it is impossible, on account of her incarceration, to render her the medical and surgical aid necessary, and that her health is being permanently endangered;

And whereas, it further appears from a petition signed by the Mayor and other officers of the City of Napa, and by several representative citizens of Napa County, that the confinement of said Eunice Hobbs in said jail is seriously endangering her life, and that she is ill and physically unable to undergo the punishment;

And whereas, the crime of which said Eunice Hobbs is convicted is only a misdemeanor, and the law does not intend that punishment endangering the life of a person should be inflicted;

And whereas, it appears that the ends of justice will be promoted by a commutation of said sentence, the said Eunice Hobbs having already been incarcerated for two months, or thereabouts;

December 21, 1901, sentence commuted to expire on December 23, 1901.

Fred H. Scott -----	Alameda -----	Assault with deadly weapon	November, 1901.	----- 2 years.

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of November, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Alameda, in said State, Fred H. Scott was tried and convicted of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon and condemned to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of Alameda for the term of two years;

And whereas, many applications, signed by numerous representative citizens of Alameda County and elsewhere in this State, have been received by me for the pardon of said Fred H. Scott, wherein it is represented and it clearly appears to me that the facts constituting the crime for which said Fred H. Scott was convicted and sentenced show that the said Scott shot at one Harry Wilson, who had attempted to commit rape upon the sister of said Scott, and the said Wilson had circulated false and scandalous stories concerning the reputation of said Scott's sister;

And whereas, it further appears that the said Fred H. Scott had previously borne an unblemished reputation, and was a peaceful and law-abiding citizen;

And whereas, it is further represented, and it appears from the representations of reputable physicians that the said Scott is suffering from hypertrophy of the left ventricle of the heart, which renders his continued confinement dangerous to life;

And whereas, it appears that the said Scott has been continually confined in the said county jail of Alameda since November 14, 1901, and in my opinion the law has been sufficiently vindicated and the ends of justice will be subserved by his immediate pardon;

Pardoned September 20, 1902.

Thomas P. Owens -----	Sonoma -----	Murder, first degree -----	----- July, 1900

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of July, A. D. 1900, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of Sonoma, in said State, Thomas P. Owens was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and was thereafter duly sentenced to be hanged in the State Prison of California at San Quentin on the 25th day of October, A. D. 1901;

And whereas, a petition signed by many persons, and several letters from divers persons have been presented to me wherein it is alleged that the said Thomas P. Owens was, at the time of the commission of the crime of which he was convicted, irresponsible and insane, and is still insane;

And whereas, upon the said petition and letters I did appoint Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, to visit the said Thomas P. Owens at the State Prison at San Quentin,

And whereas, the said Dr. F. W. Hatch visited said convict Thomas P. Owens, and on the 15th day of October, 1901, made to me a written report as follows:

"CALIFORNIA STATE PRISON,)
"SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 15, 1901. {

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor State of California:

"DEAR SIR. In accordance with your instructions to visit and examine into the mental condition of convict Thomas P. Owens, under sentence of death at the State Prison at San Quentin, I have this day made a careful examination of the said Thomas P. Owens, and beg to report as follows:

"First—That there is sufficient evidence of present insanity to justify a more prolonged investigation than can be had in the limited time intervening between now and the day set for his execution.

"Second—I respectfully request that you grant such reprieve as will enable me to make further investigation before expressing my positive conclusions as to the existing mental condition

"Respectfully yours,

"F. W. HATCH, M. D.,
"Gen'l Supt. State Hospitals."

And whereas, a doubt having arisen as to the sanity of said Thomas P. Owens, and request having been made by said Dr. F. W. Hatch for a reprieve of sentence, and it appearing to me that a reprieve of sentence for a reasonable time would be consonant with justice in order to allow a full investigation and determination of the prisoner's mental condition,

October 19, 1901, sentence reprieved until December 20, 1901, and subsequently commuted. (See list of Pardons and Commutations, supra)

Donlan was tried and convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree, and afterward duly sentenced to be hanged in the State Prison at San Quentin, this State, on April 11, 1902;

And whereas, it has been represented to me by several representative citizens that at the time of the homicide for which said defendant, Frank R. Donlan, has been convicted and sentenced to be executed, the said Frank R. Donlan was insane and irresponsible, and that he is now an insane and irresponsible person;

And whereas, Dr. F. W. Hatch, General Superintendent of State Hospitals, has been appointed by me to investigate the facts connected with said homicide and to make a thorough investigation of the mental condition of said Frank R. Donlan,

Bert Ross.	San Luis Obispo.	Murder, first degree.....	..November, 1901

DECISION.—Whereas, in the month of November, A. D. 1901, at a regular session of the Superior Court, held in and for the County of San Luis Obispo, in said State, Bert Ross was tried and convicted of the crime of murder, and sentenced to be hanged until dead in the State Prison at San Quentin, California, on Friday, January 10, 1902,

And whereas, an appeal has been duly taken by said Bert Ross to the Supreme Court of the United States of America, and a citation to show cause has been issued out of the Circuit Court of the United States, Ninth Circuit, directed to the Warden of the State Prison at San Quentin, requiring him to appear and show cause on January 27, 1902, why the alleged sentence of death should not be reviewed and alleged errors corrected;

And whereas, on January 8, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until February 15, 1902;

And whereas, on Friday, February 14, 1902, because of the pendency of said appeal, I again reprieved the sentence of said Bert Ross until May 17, 1902;

And whereas, the said appeal is still pending and undetermined;

And whereas, pending said hearing and determination of the United States Court, it is proper that a further reprieve of the sentence of said Bert Ross should be granted, and to avoid the necessity of having the said defendant, Bert Ross, again brought before the Superior Court of San Luis Obispo County for the purpose of resentence;

November 13, 1902, sentence reprieved until February 16, 1903.

59. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any member; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a member voting with the majority, and it shall not be in order for any member to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

No motion to reconsider shall be adopted, except upon a roll call, and it shall require forty-one votes to adopt the motion.

66. Call of the House.

Upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The door shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, be taken into custody, as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody by the Sergeant-at-Arms, wherever to be found, or by special messenger, to be appointed for that purpose. In the absence of a quorum, a majority of the members present may order a call of the House, and compel the attendance of absentees in the manner above provided. No recess can be taken during a call of the House.

67. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of two thirds, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; provided, that the Committee on Rules and Regulations may at any time, except during a roll call, report a temporary rule providing for the consideration of any bill on the files of the House belonging to either of the following classes:

It shall always be in order to call up for consideration such report. The same shall be subject to amendment by the House.

On the adoption of such temporary rule by the House by a two-thirds vote thereof, if the bill be on third reading, and by a majority vote of the members elected to the House, if otherwise, such bill shall thereupon be made the special order for the time fixed therein.

A rule of order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of two thirds of the members present, except that portion of Rule 6 relating to third reading of bills. A motion or resolution proposing to increase or diminish a standing committee shall not be adopted until the same has been referred to the Committee on Rules and Regulations.

The Committee on Rules and Regulations may also, at any time, report a temporary rule or regulation for the consideration of the business on the file, having regard to the condition of the business of the House. When such temporary rule or regulation shall have been adopted by the House, it shall have the effect, for the time being, of a standing rule, and shall be enforced by the Speaker.

Your memorialists, a committee of one hundred representative citizens of California having in charge the arrangements for welcoming and entertaining the delegates and visitors to the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is to be held in the city of San Francisco some time during the summer or autumn of 1903, respectfully represent:

That this will doubtless be the last gathering in convention within the borders of our State of that great, patriotic organization;

That it is the desire of all classes of citizens that a generous welcome be extended to the survivors of the great Civil War, and it is fitting that our State should show to these patriots and to the whole country that California's loyalty and hospitality is not merely a term.

Your memorialists further represent that in order to meet the legitimate requirements of such reception and welcome a sum of money much greater than can be obtained by voluntary contribution will be required. Therefore, your memorialists pray that an appropriation of not less than twenty-five thousand dollars be made by the Legislature for the use of this committee in aid of the objects herein set forth.

Your memorialists respectfully call attention to the precedent for such action in the appropriation made by the Legislature in 1885, when twenty-five thousand dollars was appropriated to assist in defraying the expenses of the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic held in San Francisco in 1886.

Our people well remember that upon that occasion there came to California a great number of veterans and visitors, amongst whom were many of the most distinguished citizens of the United States.

In conclusion, your memorialists pray that they may be given a hearing before the proper committees of your respective houses.

By direction of the committee of one hundred.

PETITION.

Presented by Mr. Walsh: From citizens of San Joaquin County, praying the enactment of a law establishing two new reclamation districts on Union Island, in said county.

Ordered that the petition be printed in the Journal.

To the Honorable the Senate and Assembly of the State of California.

The undersigned petitioners respectfully show:

1. That a bill for an Act to create and establish two new reclamation districts of this State, embracing within their respective territorial limits certain portions of Union Island, in San Joaquin County, to be known as Union Island Reclamation District No. 1 and Union Island Reclamation District No. 2, and to dissolve all other districts in conflict therewith, has, at the instance of your petitioners, been presented, or is about to be presented, for legislative consideration. The bill has been carefully prepared, and for the reasons hereinafter generally set forth, and in accordance with the settled policy of the State in promoting the reclamation of such lands, your petitioners respectfully pray that it may be approved by both your honorable bodies, and be enacted into a statute as the same now stands.

2. The lands within the boundaries of the proposed districts are of the class known as swamp and overflowed lands, and are wholly covered, with the exception of a very small fraction thereof, by patents issued by the State, under which your petitioners derive their title. And your petitioners, in various capacities, represent the ownership of nearly the entire body of land in each of these proposed districts. Distinct reclamations have been made of the lands embraced within the boundaries of these proposed districts, by a continuous line of levees erected on the margin thereof—one known as the Old Reclamation and the other as the New Reclamation, the two being separated from each other by a cross levee. A portion of these levees was in part constructed under the auspices of Reclamation District No. 282, hereinafter mentioned, but was afterward greatly enlarged and improved by the owners of the land upon their own behalf and responsibility, and the other portion not included within the plan of reclamation adopted by that district was in like manner entirely constructed by said owners.

Under the present existing conditions there are no legal means by which an assessment can be levied, or its collection enforced, for the maintenance and repair of these levees, and their care and preservation, entailing a large and constant expense, are left wholly dependent upon the voluntary action, by mutual consent of the several owners. So long as the ownership of these lands remains in but few hands such concerted action is attainable, but changes in the ownership are not only likely to occur, it in fact are, in the vicissitudes of human affairs, inevitable, and the existing harmony of action must be greatly imperiled, and its cessation must be regarded as not only probable, but unavoidable.

These are very serious difficulties, and they can only be obviated by the creation and organization of regular reclamation districts embracing these lands, with boards of trustees to manage and conduct the affairs of the districts. This involves the dissolution of the effete districts within which these lands are situated, neither of which has any debts, and whose day of usefulness has long since passed away.

3. Under the provisions of an Act entitled "An Act to provide for the management and sale of the lands belonging to the State," approved March 23, 1868 (Laws of 1867-8, p. 507, Section 39), a reclamation district embracing a portion of the land included in the proposed District No. 1 was, on the 2d day of December, 1872, formed by the Board of Supervisors of said San Joaquin County, on the petition of John Petty, of date October 24, 1872, setting forth that he was then sole owner of the land embraced in that district, to enable him to reclaim the same and manage the reclamation thereof, on his own responsibility, without the intervention of trustees. But prior to the formation of that district, to wit, on the 19th day of November, 1872, John Petty had conveyed this land to George W. Kidd, who conveyed the same November 13, 1876, to Thomas H. Williams, under whom several of your petitioners, respectively, derive title to the same. It is useless to inquire what became of this extraordinary creature of the law after these conveyances. It is sufficient to say, that more than twenty years past this district, if it still continued to exist in the law, exercised no function and served no useful purpose, and should be abolished. The owners of the land within its territorial limits have during that time acted simply as owners, on their own responsibility, irrespective of its existence, and in complete independence thereof.

On or about August 10, 1876, another reclamation district, known as Reclamation District No. 282, was formed under the then existing provisions of the Political Code relating to the reclamation of swamp and overflowed lands, by the Supervisors of said San Joaquin County, embracing within its limits all the residue and by far the greater part of said island, and on August 16, 1876, Thomas H. Williams, George W. Kidd, and George D. Roberts were elected trustees of this district.

Kidd died September 22, 1878; Roberts resigned his office November 8, 1879, and has since died, and Williams died February 23, 1886. These were the only trustees this district ever had. No election was ever held to replace them, nor were the vacancies in its Board of Trustees ever filled by appointment or otherwise. For more than twenty years past there has been no user by this district of its corporate or other powers, nor any exercise by it of any of its functions, and the owners of the land within its boundaries have, in their work of reclamation, ignored its existence, and have suffered it to fall into a state of absolute desuetude, and so it remains to this day, without a governing body, its functions suspended, serving no purpose, and existing only as a legal entity, and it should also be abolished.

4. For cogent reasons, the detail of which would be tedious, the original scheme of reclamation adopted by said Reclamation District No. 282, which contemplated, in unison with the owners of the land in said other districts, the reclamation of said island as a whole under one system of levees, was abandoned, more than twenty years ago, and the owners of various separate bodies of land within the boundaries of said District No. 282 have since made several separate reclamations thereof distinct from each other, acting upon their own responsibility, and in pursuance of their own plans, regardless of the existence of said district. There are now some six of these reclamations upon said island. These reclamations have distinct levee systems controlled by the owners of the land included by them, and each has a different set of owners. And besides, a large portion of the island has been cut off from the rest thereof by a large, wide, navigable canal running through the island and forming a separate island, now known as Victoria Island, which has also its own separate system of levees, and a distinct ownership.

These various reclamations, although not organized under the provisions of law for the formation of reclamation districts, do, in point of fact, and practically, constitute in a certain sense so many separate reclamation districts.

Thus it is manifest that, in view of these conditions, the management and control of these diverse reclamations by means of District No. 282 has become utterly impossible.

5 The reclamation of such lands as these is not a matter affecting merely the individual owners, but one which deeply concerns the public at large.

In accepting the grant of these swamp lands from the Federal Government, the State was bound to carry out in good faith the object for which it was made, which was the speedy reclamation of these lands and thus invite to them population and settlement, thereby opening new fields for industry and increasing the general prosperity. And it has been the settled policy of the State, from which it has never deviated, to steadily promote the reclamation of these lands and thus fulfill its obligation.

Kimbal vs. Reclamation Fund Commrs., 45 Cal. 360.

County of Kings vs. County of Tulare, 119 Cal. 515.

The chief mode adopted by the State in carrying out this policy has been the creation and organization of levee districts or reclamation districts.

These districts are not private corporations, nor are they municipal corporations as that term is used in the Constitution. They are now defined to be "public agencies," or special organizations formed to perform certain work which the policy of the State requires to be done, and to which the State has given a certain degree of discretion in making the improvement contemplated.

People vs. Reclamation District No. 551, 117 Cal. 121.

The whole scheme of reclamation originates with the State and is carried to a completion by agents of the State, to wit: These districts, in furtherance of public policy, and the property acquired by them, such as canals, drains, embankments, and other reclamation works, is deemed so far public property, acquired by the agents of the State for State purposes, as to be exempt from taxation.

Reclamation District No. 551 vs. County of Sacramento, 134 Cal. 479.

In pursuance of this policy the Legislature has passed innumerable special Acts creating, organizing, and establishing reclamation districts, recognizing the existence of, and vitalizing, those whose organization was defective, and dissolving others, and also innumerable amendatory Acts granting to them further privileges or powers, changing their boundaries and otherwise affecting them, during a period of thirty years or more down to and including the last session of the Legislature in 1901, which amended an Act relating to Levee District No. 1 (Stats. 1901, p. 629). No restrictions upon the action of the Legislature in respect to the creation, organization, dissolution, and control of these districts existed under the old Constitution, nor, as has been expressly decided by our Supreme Court, do any exist under the new Constitution.

See People vs. Levee District No. 431 Cal. p. 3 1-4, and People vs. Reclamation District No. 551, 117 Cal. p. 114.

The whole matter thus rests with the Legislature, which may create or abolish these districts as it may deem wise and expedient.

So there can be no objection, either for want of power, precedent or propriety, to the action of the Legislature in granting us the relief solicited, by the enactment into a law of the bill submitted by us to its consideration. Your petitioners do, therefore, pray that your honorable bodies pass the bill, and thus relieve your petitioners from the chaotic conditions in which they are now placed.

Respectfully submitted

(Signed:) David Bixler, Frank S. Johnson, guardian of the estate of Frank Hansford Johnson; John W. Ferris, trustee under the will of Thos. H. Williams, deceased; Thos. W. Williams; Old River Land and Rec. Co., John Heid, president; Jennie R. Williams, George E. Williams, by David Bixler, under their written authorization.

Dated, January 6, 1903.

To appoint, employ and, for good cause, to remove the Superintendent of Waterworks, the Water Overseer, and such assistants, employes, and laborers as the board may deem necessary; to fix their compensations, prescribe their duties, and to require of any or all of them adequate bonds for the faithful performance of such duties.

To sue and be sued, and to require the services of the City Attorney, free of charge, in all cases to which the board is a party.

To control and order the expenditure of all moneys received from the sale or use of water; provided, that all such moneys shall be deposited in the treasury of the city to the credit of a fund to be known as the "water revenue fund," and shall be kept separate and apart from other moneys of the city, and shall only be drawn from said fund upon demands authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary of the board, or, in the absence of the president, by the signatures of two members and the secretary of the board, except that the City Council, at the time of fixing the general tax levy, may, in its discretion, by ordinance, apportion and set apart, out of the moneys then in said water revenue fund, an amount sufficient to meet all sums coming due for interest or principal, or for interest and principal, upon all outstanding waterworks bonds, before the time for fixing the next general tax levy, and the City Treasurer shall use the money so apportioned to make such payment, and for no other purpose; and if there shall be a surplus remaining, the same shall forthwith be re-transferred into said water revenue fund.

(A) None of the money in said water revenue fund, or coming under the control of said board, shall be appropriated or used for any purpose or purposes other than the following, to wit:

First: For the necessary expenses of conducting the Water Department, of operating the waterworks, and of making all current and ordinary extensions, betterments, and repairs.

Second: For extraordinary improvements of and betterments to the property, works, and systems of supply and distribution of the Water Department, including the purchase of necessary lands, water rights, and other property.

Third: The payment, as above provided, of installments of interest or principal, or of interest and principal coming due upon outstanding waterworks bonds.

Provided, however, that said board may, in its discretion, so fix the water rates as to produce a revenue sufficient only for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses of conducting the Water Department, of operating the waterworks, and of making all current and ordinary extensions, betterments, and repairs, and for no other purpose.

(i) The said board shall also have power, by a resolution adopted by a majority of all of its members, and recorded in the minutes with the ayes and noes at length, to make and enforce all such reasonable by-laws, rules, and regulations as may be necessary for its government, for the administration of the Water Department, and for the exercise of the powers conferred by this article, provided, that no such rule, by law, or other act of the board fixing water rates, or prescribing the time or manner of payment thereof, shall be effective until the same shall be approved by the City Council, and thereafter published for at least three days in a daily newspaper printed and published in the City of Los Angeles.

(j) Three members of the Board of Water Commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; but no contract shall be made, no bill audited, nor any act done involving the expenditure of money, or the incurring of a debt, unless three members of the board vote in favor thereof. The board shall not make any contract or expenditure for supplies, goods, materials, machinery, or merchandise, involving the sum of more than five hundred dollars, unless it shall first have caused a notice to be published in a daily newspaper, printed and published in the City of Los Angeles, inviting proposals to furnish the same. And the contract therefor shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall furnish security for its performance satisfactory to the board; provided, that the board may reject any and all bids.

(k) The Board of Water Commissioners shall present to the City Council, at its meeting in the second week of December, in each year, a report for the year ending on the thirtieth day of November next preceding, which shall show the amount of money received from all sources, the purposes for which such money has been expended, the amounts so expended, and the balance on hand; also the nature and condition of the property held by the board, with such information and suggestions as it may deem of general interest; and the board shall also, on or before the tenth day of each month, make out and present to the City Council a similar statement of all receipts and expenditures during the preceding calendar month.

(l) As soon as practicable after the first Board of Water Commissioners appointed hereunder shall take office, the City Council shall cause to be conveyed to said board, as special trustee for the city, all property, real and personal, belonging to the city (except the water and water rights mentioned in section one hundred and ninety of this charter), that is now or may hereafter be used, required, or convenient in the operation, maintenance, or extension of a system of waterworks for supplying the inhabitants of the City of Los Angeles with water, and in protecting the sources of such water supply from diversion or pollution.

(m) The board may lease, for terms not exceeding three years, any or all of the lands by this article placed under its control, for agricultural or other purposes, which shall not conflict with the beneficial use of said lands by the city for the purposes for which they are held by said board; and the board may sell, from time to time, such personal property placed under its control, as shall not be longer necessary or suitable for the use of the Water Department. No real property nor any rights or interests in real property held by said board shall be sold, leased, or otherwise disposed of, or in any manner withdrawn from its control, save as above provided, unless by a written instrument, duly authorized by ordinance of the city, and a resolution of the board and duly executed by the city and the board; provided, that none of the waters or water rights, by this article placed under the control of said board, shall be conveyed, leased, or otherwise disposed of, except as provided in section one hundred and ninety-one of this charter.

(n) That the Superintendent of Waterworks and the five members of the Board of Water Commissioners shall be officers of the municipality in addition to the other officers thereof provided for herein.

Section 193. All water mains hereafter laid in said city by any private person, company, or corporation shall be of such material and of such capacity as shall be prescribed by ordinance, provided, that no such main shall hereafter be laid in said city of less dimensions than four inches in diameter.

The rates of compensation for use of water to be collected in said city by any person, company, or corporation, other than the Board of Water Commissioners, shall be fixed annually by ordinance, and shall continue in force for one year and no longer. Such ordinance shall be passed in the month of February of each year, and take effect on the first day of July thereafter. Should the Council fail to pass the necessary ordinances, fixing the water rates within the time hereinbefore prescribed, it shall be subject to peremptory process to compel action at the suit of any party interested.

That section sixty of the charter be amended to read as follows:

No indebtedness exceeding the amount of the annual levy for this purpose shall be incurred in any one year; provided, this limitation shall not be construed to prevent the incurring of indebtedness for permanent improvements, to be liquidated by the proceeds of municipal bonds issued by the City of Los Angeles, in accordance with the provisions of this charter and of the general laws of the State, for the purpose of defraying the cost of such improvements.

That section eighty-three of the charter be amended to read as follows:

That the city charter be amended by adding thereto two new sections, to be known as sections one hundred and ninety-eight a, and one hundred and ninety-eight b, and to read as follows:

Section 198*a*. The Initiative. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city, equal in number to the percentages hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election, then the Council shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendum vote, under the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-eight b of this charter); and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Council, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Council, then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least five per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Council to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city, and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, can not be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election, and should such proposition, so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended, accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city, at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the City Council may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in like manner as ordinances adopted by the Council are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

Section 198b. The Referendum. No ordinance passed by the City Council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements, and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided), shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least seven per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the Council shall submit the ordinance as is provided in section one hundred and ninety-eight a of this charter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said section one hundred and ninety eight a, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

That there be added to the charter a new section, to be known as section one hundred and ninety-eight c, and to read as follows:

Section 198c. The Recall. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the City Clerk; provided, that the petition sent to the Council shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the Clerk shall submit the same to the Council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the City Council shall order, and fix a date for holding, the said election, not less than thirty days nor more than forty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate to the Council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The City Council shall make or cause to be made publication of notice, and all arrangements for holding of such election; and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared, in all respects, as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the Clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receive the highest number of votes the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

That section two hundred and twenty-three of the charter be amended to read as follows:

Section 223. The indebtedness of said city must not exceed the sum of five million dollars, exclusive of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of acquiring or establishing a system of waterworks for supplying the inhabitants of the city with water, and of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of constructing sewers, for the collection and disposition of the sewage of the city, and of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of constructing sewers for the collection and disposition of storm waters in the city. For any or all of these purposes a further indebtedness may be incurred by the issue of bonds under the provisions and subject only to the limitations of the Constitution and general laws.

They shall so classify themselves by lot that one of them shall go out of office at the end of one year; one at the end of two years; one at the end of three years, and two at the end of four years. Three commissioners shall constitute a quorum. All appointments to said commission, both original and to fill vacancies, shall be made by the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Council, and shall be so made that not more than three members shall at the same time be members of the same political party. Said commissioners shall hold no other office or public employment.

Section 230. The Mayor, with the consent of the Council, may remove any commissioner for incompetency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office.

Section 231. Section 232. Said commission shall make rules to carry out the purposes of this article and for the examinations and appointments in accordance with its provisions, and the commission may, from time to time, make changes in such rules.

Section 233. All rules made as hereinbefore provided, and all changes therein, shall be printed for distribution by said commission. The commission shall give notice by publication in the official paper of the place or places where said rules may be obtained, and in such publication shall be specified the date, not less than thirty days subsequent to the date of such publication, when said rules shall go into operation.

Section 234. All applicants for office, places, or employments in said classified civil service, shall be subject to examination, which shall be public, competitive, and free to all citizens of the United States, with specified limitations as to residence, age, sex, health, habits, and moral character. Such examinations shall be practical in their character, and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the position to which they seek to be appointed, and when appropriate shall include tests of physical qualifications, health, and manual skill. No question in any examination shall relate to political or religious opinions or affiliations. The commission shall control all examinations, and may, whenever an examination is to take place, obtain the assistance of a suitable person or number of persons to aid it in preparing for and conducting such examinations.

Section 235. Notice of time, place, and general scope of every examination shall be given by the commission by publication, for two weeks preceding such examination, in the official paper, and such notice shall also be posted by said commission in a conspicuous place at the city hall, and in its office, two weeks before such examination. Such further notice of examination shall be given as it may prescribe.

Section 236. From the examinations made by the commission, the commission shall prepare a register in each grade or class of position in the classified civil service of the city, of the persons whose general average standing upon examination for such grade or class is not less than the minimum fixed by the rule of said commission, and who are otherwise eligible, and such persons shall take rank upon the register as candidates in order of their relative excellence as determined by examination, without reference to priority of the date of examination.

At or before the expiration of the period of probation, the head of a department or office in which the candidate is employed, may discharge him upon assigning in writing his reasons therefor to said commission. If he is not thus discharged during the period of probation, his appointment shall be deemed complete. Communication read.

SANTA FÉ, NEW MEXICO, January 22, 1903.

The Honorable Legislative Assembly of the State of California, Sacramento, California.

The following memorial was passed by a unanimous vote of both houses of the thirty-fifth Legislature of New Mexico to-day:

JOINT MEMORIAL NO. 55.

Your memorialist, the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of New Mexico, most respectfully represents that on the second day of February, A. D. 1848, by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, entered into between the United States and the Republic of New Mexico, the territory embraced within the territories of New Mexico was ceded to the United States. That by that treaty the Government of the United States solemnly pledged the people of the ceded territory that the same would be incorporated into the Union of the States, and the people thereof admitted to the enjoyment of all rights of citizens of the United States. That the national conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties have repeatedly pledged the support of their representatives in the United States Senate and House of Representatives to the admission of the Territories of Oklahoma, and New Mexico, and Arizona to the sisterhood of States. That the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States has, in compliance with the treaty obligations of the United States and the political obligations of its members, passed a bill, "H. R. 12,543," to enable the people of Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona to form constitutions and State governments and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing of the original States. That this bill has been transmitted to the Senate and is now pending in that honorable body without final action having been taken thereon. That said bill embodies the hopes and aspirations of the people of New Mexico, who are well fitted to assume the form of government provided for in said bill, as evidenced by the fact that New Mexico has made as rapid educational progress during the last decade as any other part of the Nation, and has a common school system the peer of any in the Nation. That within her boundaries there is taxable property of the value of more than two hundred million dollars. That she has a sufficient population, who have manifested their devotion and loyalty to the Government of the United States by furnishing more soldiers for the defense of the Government, according to population, in both the Civil and Spanish-American wars, than any State or other Territories in the Nation. In the opinion of your memorialist, the people of Arizona and Oklahoma are likewise entitled to the blessings of statehood, which will be secured to them by passing said bill, and because the people of the Territories of Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona have an inherent right to such admission by virtue of the principles entitled in the Declaration of Independence, because such admission is vouchsafed them by the policy pursued by the Government of the United States in the admission of nearly all the States to the Nation at a time when they were less fitted to assume self-government than are Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona at the present time, because a territorial form of government is intolerable and obnoxious to a free and ambitious people, because it is an incongruity under American institutions and should be maintained only so long as absolutely necessary to prepare its people for self-government, because it is a denial of the right of the people to take part in the affairs of the Nation, which requires allegiance and support from it, and because capital has not complete confidence in such a form of government and reluctantly lends its aid to the development of its resources. We, therefore, most respectfully petition your honorable body to memorialize the Senate of the Congress of the United States to press, at the earliest date possible, consistent with the rights of and courtesies due to every one of the members of that body, said bill, "H. R. 12,543," now pending before that body and popularly known as the Omnibus Statehood bill. And we further respectfully petition your honorable body that you, by suitable resolution, request your representatives in the Senate of the United States Congress to aid the prompt passage of said bill by their voice and vote. And it is hereby

Resolved, By the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of New Mexico, that the President of the Council and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of this Legislative Assembly be directed to transmit a certified copy of this memorial to the legislative assemblies of the States hereby memorialized; and further

Resolved, That the President of the Council and Speaker of the House of Representatives be directed to telegraph a copy of this memorial to the legislative assemblies of the States hereby memorialized.

Signatures:

J. FRANCISCO CHAVIS,
NESTOR MONTROYA,
Speaker of House.
W. E. MARTIN,
Chief Clerk Council.
CHAS. SAFFORD,
Chief Clerk House.

At ten o'clock and thirty minutes A. M., the Speaker called Mr. Dunlap to the chair.

Mr. Dunlap in the chair.

Mr. Johnson moved that the communication be printed in the Journal and referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

Mr. McConnell moved to amend by making the communication a special order for Monday, at two o'clock P. M.

Amendment lost.

The question being upon the adoption of the original motion.

WATER, WATER RIGHTS, AND WATERWORKS.

Section 190. The City of Los Angeles shall continue in the ownership and enjoyment of all the rights to the water of the River Los Angeles heretofore vested in it, its predecessors or predecessor, including the Pueblo of Los Angeles, and is hereby declared to have the full, free, and exclusive right to all the water flowing in the said river at any point from its source or sources, to the intersection of said river with the southern boundary of said city, and also the ownership of and the right to develop, economize, control, use, and utilize all waters flowing beneath the surface in the bed of said river at any point or points between the points of termini above named.

Section 191. The said city shall not convey, lease, or otherwise dispose of its rights in the waters of said River Los Angeles, or any part thereof, or grant, or lease to any corporation or person, any right or privilege to use, manage, or control the said waters or any part thereof, for any purpose, public or private. No other water or water rights now or hereafter owned by said city shall be conveyed, leased, or otherwise disposed of, without the assent of two thirds of the qualified electors of said city voting upon such proposition at an election, general or special, at which such proposition shall be lawfully submitted, provided, however, that this section shall not be construed to prevent the ordinary sale and distribution, by the city, in the manner hereinafter prescribed, of the waters belonging to said city, to the inhabitants thereof or persons doing business therein for domestic and irrigating uses, and for manufacturing and business purposes, other than water power.

Section 192. There is hereby created, for the purpose of managing and controlling all waters and water rights that are now, or may be hereafter, owned by the City of Los Angeles, a department of said city to be known as the "Water Department," which shall be under the management and control of a Board of Water Commissioners.

(a) Said board shall consist of five members, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, subject to confirmation by a majority of the Council.

(b) No person shall be appointed a Water Commissioner who shall not have been an elector of the City of Los Angeles for at least five years next preceding his appointment, and the appointments of Water Commissioners shall be made so that not more than three members of the board shall, at any one time, belong to the same political party.

(c) The term of office of the Water Commissioners shall be four years. The five commissioners first appointed hereunder shall so classify themselves by lot that one shall go out of office at the end of one year, one at the end of two years, one at the end of three years, and two at the end of four years, and if any vacancy occurs, the Mayor shall, subject to confirmation by the Council, fill the same by appointment for the unexpired term.

(d) The commissioners shall organize by electing one of their members president, who shall hold his office for one year and until his successor is elected, and they may appoint a secretary, who is not a member of the board, and fix his compensation.

(e) The president of the Board of Water Commissioners shall be the executive officer of the Water Department, and shall perform such duties as the board may prescribe. He shall devote so much of his time to the duties of his office as may be necessary for the proper supervision and direction of the business of the Water Department. The secretary of the board shall keep a record of the proceedings of the board, and may certify such proceedings under his hand, to be authenticated by seal, if a seal be adopted and provided by the board for that purpose, and shall perform such other duties as the board may prescribe.

(f) The board shall maintain an office, and prescribe office hours for the convenience of the public. The board shall hold a regular stated meeting once in each week. The members of the board shall serve without compensation, except that the president of the board shall receive a salary of three thousand dollars per annum, payable in equal monthly installments.

(g) The Board of Water Commissioners shall have power:

To manage and control all waters, water rights, and water-bearing lands, and all waterworks, reservoirs, zanjias, and ditches belonging to the city.

To construct, operate, maintain, and extend waterworks, dams, reservoirs, zanjias, ditches, canals, and other means for supplying the city and its inhabitants with water, and to acquire and take by purchase, condemnation, or otherwise, and, in its own name, to hold as special trustee for the city, any and all property, including waters and water rights, situated within or without the limits of the city, other than the waters of the River Los Angeles, that may be necessary or convenient for such construction, operation, maintenance, or extension.

To regulate and control the use, sale and distribution of water belonging to the city, the collection of water rates, and the granting of permits for connections with said waterworks, zanjias, or ditches, and to fix the rates to be charged for such connections; and, subject to the approval of the City Council, to fix the rates to be charged for water, and to prescribe the time and manner of payment of the same.

To appoint, employ and, for good cause, to remove the Superintendent of Waterworks, the Water Overseer, and such assistants, employes and laborers as the board may deem necessary; to fix their compensations, prescribe their duties, and to require of any or all of them adequate bonds for the faithful performance of such duties.

To sue and be sued, and to require the services of the City Attorney, free of charge, in all cases to which the board is a party.

To control and order the expenditure of all moneys received from the sale or use of water; provided, that all such moneys shall be deposited in the treasury of the city to the credit of a fund to be known as the "water revenue fund," and shall be kept separate and apart from other moneys of the city, and shall only be drawn from said fund upon demands authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary of the board, or, in the absence of the president, by the signatures of two members and the secretary of the board, except that the City Council, at the time of fixing the general tax levy, may, in its discretion, by ordinance, apportion and set apart, out of the moneys then in said water revenue fund, an amount sufficient to meet all sums coming due for interest or principal, or for interest and principal, upon all outstanding waterworks bonds, before the time for fixing the next general tax levy, and the City Treasurer shall use the money so apportioned to make such payment, and for no other purpose; and if there shall be a surplus remaining, the same shall forthwith be re-transferred into said water revenue fund.

(h) None of the money in said water revenue fund, or coming under the control of said board, shall be appropriated or used for any purpose or purposes other than the following, to wit:

First: For the necessary expenses of conducting the Water Department, of operating the waterworks, and of making all current and ordinary extensions, betterments, and repairs.

Second: For extraordinary improvements of and betterments to the property, works, and systems of supply and distribution of the Water Department, including the purchase of necessary lands, water rights, and other property.

Third: The payment, as above provided, of installments of interest or principal, or of interest and principal coming due upon outstanding waterworks bonds.

Provided, however, that said board may, in its discretion, so fix the water rates as to produce a revenue sufficient only for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses of conducting the Water Department, of operating the waterworks, and of making all current and ordinary extensions, betterments, and repairs, and for no other purpose.

(i) The said board shall also have power, by a resolution adopted by a majority of all of its members, and recorded in the minutes with the ayes and noes at length, to make and enforce all such reasonable by-laws, rules, and regulations as may be necessary for its government, for the administration of the Water Department, and for the exercise of the powers conferred by this article; provided, that no such rule, by-law, or other act of the board fixing water rates, or prescribing the time or manner of payment thereof, shall be effective until the same shall be approved by the City Council, and thereafter published for at least three days in a daily newspaper printed and published in the City of Los Angeles.

(j) Three members of the Board of Water Commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but no contract shall be made, no bill audited, nor any act done involving the expenditure of money, or the incurring of a debt, unless three members of the board vote in favor thereof. The board shall not make any contract or expenditure for supplies, goods, materials, machinery, or merchandise, involving the sum of more than five hundred dollars, unless it shall first have caused a notice to be published in a daily newspaper, printed and published in the City of Los Angeles, inviting proposals to furnish the same. And the contract therefor shall be let to the lowest responsible bidder, who shall furnish security for its performance satisfactory to the board; provided, that the board may reject any and all bids.

(l) As soon as practicable after the first Board of Water Commissioners appointed hereunder shall take office, the City Council shall cause to be conveyed to said board, as special trustee for the city, all property, real and personal, belonging to the city (except the water and water rights mentioned in section one hundred and ninety of this charter), that is now or may hereafter be used, required, or convenient in the operation, maintenance, or extension of a system of waterworks for supplying the inhabitants of the City of Los Angeles with water, and in protecting the sources of such water supply from diversion or pollution.

(m) The board may lease, for terms not exceeding three years, any or all of the lands by this article placed under its control, for agricultural or other purposes, which shall not conflict with the beneficial use of said lands by the city for the purposes for which they are held by said board; and the board may sell, from time to time, such personal property placed under its control, as shall not be longer necessary or suitable for the use of the Water Department. No real property nor any rights or interests in real property held by said board shall be sold, leased, or otherwise disposed of, or in any manner withdrawn from its control, save as above provided, unless by a written instrument, duly authorized by ordinance of the city, and a resolution of the board and duly executed by the city and the board; provided, that none of the waters or water rights, by this article placed under the control of said board, shall be conveyed, leased, or otherwise disposed of, except as provided in section one hundred and ninety-one of this charter.

Nor shall suit be brought against said city, or said Board of Education, Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Public Library, or Board of Water Commissioners, upon any claim or demand that has been in whole approved and audited as provided herein; provided, that nothing herein contained shall be construed so as to deprive the holder of any demand of his right to resort to a writ of mandamus or other proceeding against the City Council, or any board or officer of said city, to compel it or him to act upon such claim or demand, or to pay the same when so audited.

That section sixty of the charter be amended to read as follows:

No indebtedness exceeding the amount of the annual levy for this purpose shall be incurred in any one year; provided, this limitation shall not be construed to prevent the incurring of indebtedness for permanent improvements, to be liquidated by the proceeds of municipal bonds issued by the City of Los Angeles, in accordance with the provisions of this charter and of the general laws of the State, for the purpose of defraying the cost of such improvements.

That section eighty-three of the charter be amended to read as follows:

That the city charter be amended by adding thereto two new sections, to be known as sections one hundred and ninety-eight a, and one hundred and ninety-eight b, and to read as follows:

Section 198*a*. The Initiative. Any proposed ordinance may be submitted to the Council by a petition signed by registered electors of the city, equal in number to the percentages hereinafter required. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient, the Clerk shall submit the same to the Council without delay.

If the petition accompanying the proposed ordinance be signed by electors equal in number to fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, and contains a request that said ordinance be submitted forthwith to a vote of the people at a special election, then the Council shall either:

(a) Pass said ordinance without alteration within twenty days after the attachment of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency to the accompanying petition (subject to a referendum vote, under the provisions of section one hundred and ninety-eight b of this charter); and if the ordinance shall be passed by the Council, but shall be vetoed by the Mayor, and on reconsideration shall fail of passage by the Council, then, within five days after determination that said ordinance shall have so failed of final adoption, the Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people; or

(b) Forthwith after the Clerk shall attach to the petition accompanying such ordinance his certificate of sufficiency, the Council shall proceed to call a special election at which said ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted to a vote of the people.

If the petition be signed by electors equal in number to at least five per cent but less than fifteen per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, then such ordinance, without alteration, shall be submitted by the Council to a vote of the people at the next general municipal election that shall occur at any time after thirty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate of sufficiency attached to the petition accompanying such ordinance.

The ballots used when voting upon said proposed ordinance shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating general nature of the proposed ordinance). If a majority of the qualified electors voting on said proposed ordinance shall vote in favor thereof, such ordinance shall thereupon become a valid and binding ordinance of the city; and any ordinance proposed by petition, or which shall be adopted by a vote of the people, can not be repealed or amended except by a vote of the people.

Any number of proposed ordinances may be voted upon at the same election, in accordance with the provisions of this section; provided, that there shall not be held under this section of the charter more than one special election in any period of six months.

The Council may submit a proposition for the repeal of any such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon at any succeeding general city election; and should such proposition, so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended, accordingly. Whenever any ordinance or proposition is required by this charter to be submitted to the voters of the city, at any election, the City Clerk shall cause the ordinance or proposition to be printed, and he shall enclose a printed copy thereof in an envelope with a sample ballot and mail the same to each voter, at least ten days prior to the election, but the City Council may order such ordinance or proposition to be printed in the official newspaper of the city and published in like manner as ordinances adopted by the Council are required to be published, and may order that such publication shall take the place of the printing and mailing of the ordinance or proposition and of the sample ballot as first above provided.

Section 198b The Referendum. No ordinance passed by the City Council (except when otherwise required by the general laws of the State or by the provisions of this charter, respecting street improvements, and except an ordinance for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, which contains a statement of its urgency, and is passed by a two-thirds vote of the Council, but no grant of any franchise shall be construed to be an urgency measure, but all franchises shall be subject to the referendary vote herein provided), shall go into effect before thirty days from the time of its final passage and its approval by the Mayor; and if during said thirty days a petition signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least seven per cent of the entire vote cast for all candidates for Mayor at the last preceding general election at which a Mayor was elected, protesting against the passage of such ordinance, be presented to the Council, the same shall thereupon be suspended from going into operation, and it shall be the duty of the Council to reconsider such ordinance, and if the same is not entirely repealed, the Council shall submit the ordinance as is provided in section one hundred and ninety-eight a of this charter, to the vote of the electors of the city, either at the next general election or at a special municipal election to be called for that purpose, and such ordinance shall not go into effect or become operative unless a majority of the qualified electors voting on the same shall vote in favor thereof. Said petition shall be in all respects in accordance with the provisions of said section one hundred and ninety-eight a, except as to the percentage of signers, and be examined and certified by the Clerk in all respects as is therein provided.

That there be added to the charter a new section, to be known as section one hundred and ninety-eight c, and to read as follows:

Section 198c The Recall. The holder of any elective office may be removed at any time by the electors qualified to vote for a successor of such incumbent. The procedure to effect the removal of an incumbent of an elective office shall be as follows: A petition signed by electors entitled to vote for a successor to the incumbent sought to be removed, equal in number to at least twenty-five per centum of the entire vote for all candidates for the office, the incumbent of which is sought to be removed, cast at the last preceding general municipal election, demanding an election of a successor of the person sought to be removed, shall be filed with the City Clerk; provided, that the petition sent to the Council shall contain a general statement of the grounds for which the removal is sought. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereunto subscribed. Within ten days from the date of filing such petition the City Clerk shall examine and from the great register ascertain whether or not said petition is signed by the requisite number of qualified electors, and if necessary, the Council shall allow him extra help for that purpose, and he shall attach to said petition his certificate showing the result of said examination. If, by the Clerk's certificate, the petition is shown to be insufficient, it may be amended within ten days from the date of said certificate. The Clerk shall, within ten days after such amendment, make like examination of the amended petition, and if his certificate shall show the same to be insufficient, it shall be returned to the person filing the same, without prejudice, however, to the filing of a new petition to the same effect. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the Clerk shall submit the same to the Council without delay. If the petition shall be found to be sufficient the City Council shall order, and fix a date for holding, the said election, not less than thirty days nor more than forty days from the date of the Clerk's certificate to the Council that a sufficient petition is filed.

The City Council shall make or cause to be made publication of notice, and all arrangements for holding of such election; and the same shall be conducted, returned, and the result thereof declared, in all respects, as are other city elections. The successor of any officer so removed shall hold office during the unexpired term of his predecessor. Any person sought to be removed may be a candidate to succeed himself, and, unless he requests otherwise, in writing, the Clerk shall place his name on the official ballot without nomination. In any such removal election, the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be declared elected. At such election if some other person than the incumbent receive the highest number of votes the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from the office upon qualification of his successor. In case the party who receives the highest number of votes should fail to qualify within ten days after receiving notification of election, the office shall be deemed vacant. If the incumbent receives the highest number of votes he shall continue in office.

That section two hundred and twenty-three of the charter be amended to read as follows:

Section 223. The indebtedness of said city must not exceed the sum of five million dollars, exclusive of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of acquiring or establishing a system of waterworks for supplying the inhabitants of the city with water, and of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of constructing sewers, for the collection and disposition of the sewage of the city, and of any indebtedness that has been or may hereafter be incurred for the purpose of constructing sewers for the collection and disposition of storm waters in the city. For any or all of these purposes a further indebtedness may be incurred by the issue of bonds under the provisions and subject only to the limitations of the Constitution and general laws.

That a new article be added to the charter, to be known as Article XXIII, to read as follows:

ARTICLE XXIII.

Section 229 Immediately upon the adoption of this article, the Mayor shall appoint, subject to confirmation by the Council, five persons known by him to be devoted to the principles of civil service reform, who shall constitute and be known as the Board of Civil Service Commissioners. They shall serve for the term of four years and without compensation. They shall so classify themselves by lot that one of them shall go out of office at the end of one year; one at the end of two years; one at the end of three years, and two at the end of four years. Three commissioners shall constitute a quorum. All appointments to said commission, both original and to fill vacancies, shall be made by the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Council, and shall be so made that not more than three members shall at the same time be members of the same political party. Said commissioners shall hold no other office or public employment.

Section 230. The Mayor, with the consent of the Council, may remove any commissioner for incompetency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office.

Section 231. Said commission shall classify all the offices and places of employment mentioned in section two hundred and thirty-nine of this article with reference to the examination herein provided for. The offices and places so classified by the commission shall constitute the classified civil service of said city; and no appointment to any such offices or places shall be made, except under and according to the rules hereinafter mentioned.

Section 232. Said commission shall make rules to carry out the purposes of this article and for the examinations and appointments in accordance with its provisions, and the commission may, from time to time, make changes in such rules.

Section 233. All rules made as hereinbefore provided, and all changes therein, shall be printed for distribution by said commission. The commission shall give notice by publication in the official paper of the place or places where said rules may be obtained, and in such publication shall be specified the date, not less than thirty days subsequent to the date of such publication, when said rules shall go into operation.

Section 234. All applicants for office, places, or employments in said classified civil service, shall be subject to examination, which shall be public, competitive, and free to all citizens of the United States, with specified limitations as to residence, age, sex, health, habits, and moral character. Such examinations shall be practical in their character, and shall relate to those matters which will fairly test the relative capacity of the persons examined to discharge the duties of the position to which they seek to be appointed, and when appropriate shall include tests of physical qualifications, health, and manual skill. No question in any examination shall relate to political or religious opinions or affiliations. The commission shall control all examinations, and may, whenever an examination is to take place, obtain the assistance of a suitable person or number of persons to aid it in preparing for and conducting such examinations.

Section 235. Notice of time, place, and general scope of every examination shall be given by the commission by publication, for two weeks preceding such examination in the official paper, and such notice shall also be posted by said commission in a conspicuous place at the city hall, and in its office, two weeks before such examination. Such further notice of examination shall be given as it may prescribe.

Section 236. From the examinations made by the commission, the commission shall prepare a register in each grade or class of position in the classified civil service of the city, of the persons whose general average standing upon examination for such grade of class is not less than the minimum fixed by the rule of said commission, and who are otherwise eligible, and such persons shall take rank upon the register as candidates in order of their relative excellence as determined by examination, without reference to priority of the date of examination.

Section 237. The commission shall by its rules provide for the promotion in such classified civil service on the basis of ascertained merit and seniority in service and examination, and shall provide in all cases where it is practicable that vacancies shall be filled by promotion. All examinations for promotion shall be competitive among such members of the next lower rank as desire to submit themselves to such examination, and it shall be the duty of the commission to submit to the appointing power the names of not more than three applicants for each promotion having the highest rating; but in fixing said rating a uniform allowance of credits, to be stated at the time of the announcement of said examination, shall be made for each year of past service. The method of examination and the rules governing the same, and the method of certifying, shall be the same as provided for applicants for original appointment.

Section 238. The head of the department in which a position classified under this article is to be filled shall notify said commission of that fact, and said commission shall certify to such officer the name and address of one or more candidates, not exceeding three, standing highest on the register for the class or grade to which said position belongs. In making such certification sex shall be disregarded, except when some statute, the rules of said commission, or the appointing power specify sex. Said appointing officer or department shall notify said commission of each position to be filled separately, and shall fill such place from the names certified to him or it by said commission therefor. One of the candidates thus certified shall thereupon be appointed by said head of such department or officer and be employed on probation for a period to be fixed by said rules, but said rules shall not fix such date at exceeding six months. Each candidate, unless he shall be sooner appointed, or otherwise lawfully cease to be a candidate, shall be certified for appointment in the grade or class for which he is eligible not less than three times, and no candidate shall lose his place on the register by certification or rejection, except that said commission may strike off names of candidates from the register after they have remained thereon more than two years. At or before the expiration of the period of probation, the head of a department or office in which the candidate is employed, may discharge him upon assigning in writing his reasons therefor to said commission. If he is not thus discharged during the period of probation, his appointment shall be deemed complete. To prevent the stoppage of public business, or to meet extraordinary exigencies, the head of any department, or any officer or board may, under such regulations as the commission may by its rules prescribe, make temporary appointments in the classified civil service, to remain in force not exceeding sixty days, and only until regular appointment, under the provision of this article, can be made.

PETITION.

The following petition from the Federation of Women's Improvement Clubs of the Sacramento Valley was presented by Mr. Howard, and, on motion of Mr. Johnson, ordered printed in the Journal:

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

Your memorialist, the Federation of Women's Improvement Clubs of the Sacramento Valley, most respectfully represents to your honorable bodies that it is painfully apparent that the majority of the young women along the ordinary walks of life must enter upon its requirements without an opportunity to become proficient in the things that will be required of them. There are some avocations, such as typewriting, stenography, nursing, etc., open to the sex, but these require more education and more opportunities than all can attain or have; and besides, the field is exceedingly limited. There are things more in line with women's work, such as domestic economy, house-keeping, cooking, dressmaking, tailoring, millinery, floriculture, etc., that the State might provide means for girls to learn, and which afford an unlimited field. Your memorialist maintains that every young woman, rich or poor, should know how to do something useful, something that will help her solve, if need be, the question of bread and butter, and which fits her for the greatest of all the duties of women, the rearing of a family; and your memorialist further holds that it is the duty of the State to provide some place at which the requirements of these things may be in the reach of all.

Your memorialist, therefore, prays that your honorable bodies take up the matter, examine into the necessities of the case, see what other States have done in this line, and finally establish a school at which girls may not only acquire a knowledge of the text-books, but may learn one or more of the industrial arts, and that it may be so arranged that any girl may work her way through the school if she so desires.

And your memorialist, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

The above memorial was presented to the Sacramento Valley Development Association at its meeting held at Sacramento January 20, 1903, and the same was indorsed.

F. E. WRIGHT, Secretary.

Resolved, That a select committee of five members of the Assembly be appointed by the Speaker to immediately and fully, thoroughly, and carefully investigate the plant, apparatus, and affairs of the said corporation, and the complaints of the public arising from lack of service, and report its findings and recommendations to this House, to the end that the business world and public generally may receive service for value given, and that the said committee be authorized to hold sittings in the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and not exceeding three other places in the State, and that it be authorized to have full power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony, send for persons, books, and papers; that a clerk, stenographer, and sergeant-at-arms be assigned to said committee; that said committee have leave to sit during sessions of the Assembly, together with such other powers as shall be necessary for the full performance of its duties.

To the Legislature of the State of California

We, the undersigned, voters of California, believing that the source of all legislative authority for the government of the people of a republic is inherent in the people themselves; that the voters stand in relation to their representatives as principal to agent; that as voters we are the direct representatives of the popular will and guardians of the public welfare; that laws should be framed to meet the demands of the people; and that all class legislation obtainable through the influence of the lobby and all other means of indirection to secure special privilege, should be held under the strictest public surveillance and regarded as foreign to just government "for the people, by the people, and of the people," do hereby petition and pray you, our honorable body of representatives, the Legislature of California, to submit to the qualified electors of California an amendment to the Constitution of the aforementioned State, affirming the right of the people by petition of five per cent of the voters of said State of California to frame such legislation as they may deem just and desirable, as well as to demand a veto vote upon measures passed by future representatives in order to ascertain the will and requirements of the people in regard to questionable legislation, and that said election of laws be held solely and purposely to pass upon the merits of measures of legislation and not for the election of officers, State, county, or otherwise.

Wherefore, we, the undersigned petitioners, the better to have our honorable legislators express the will of the people in the laws which they may enact, and as a means of obtaining wholesome and equitable laws through the agency of our representatives chosen to legislate for our common interests, do hereby petition and pray your honorable body to submit the aforementioned constitutional amendment to ratification or rejection at the polls:

WHEREAS, The commerce of San Francisco is hampered by excessive charges of pilotage, dockage, tolls, and wharfage, such as to place this port at a disadvantage when compared with others on the Pacific Coast, and,

WHEREAS, The farmers and miners of this State are equally interested with all other in maintaining and increasing our trade and commerce with all parts of the world; and,

WHEREAS, It is desirable that San Francisco be placed as nearly as possible at equal advantage with her northern sister, Seattle, where, according to the Shipping World Year Book, "pilotage is unnecessary." * * * "There are no harbor dues and no taxes whatever."

We therefore earnestly pray that the maintenance of the ports of this State be reformed and placed upon a strictly business basis; that provision be made whereby the aforesaid charges of pilotage, dockage, tolls, and wharfage may be abolished, that California ports may no longer be at a disadvantage with others, and that it may enable San Francisco to maintain and increase her proper place as the commercial metropolis of the Pacific Coast.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Assembly Bill No. 237—An Act to provide one additional Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Kern.

RESOLUTION.

By Mr. Dorsey:

Resolved, That Assembly Bill No. 237 presents a case of urgency, as that term is used in Section 15 of Article IV of the Constitution, and the provision of that section requiring that the bill shall be read on three several days in each house is hereby dispensed with, and it is ordered that said bill be read the second and third times, and placed upon its passage.

Resolution read.

PETITION.

Mr. Dorsey presented the following petition from citizens of the County of Kern, and asked that it be read before the Assembly took up for consideration the resolution.

So ordered.

Petition read.

To the Senate and Assembly of the Legislature of the State of California, in regular session assembled:

We, the undersigned, residents, citizens, and taxpayers of the County of Kern, State of California, do respectfully petition your honorable body as follows:

Owing to the great amount of litigation commenced in the County of Kern in the last three years, the calendar of the Superior Court of the said Kern County has become congested and overburdened with cases, all of the said cases being of great importance to the community at large as well as the litigants.

Owing to the fact of the discovery of oil in the County of Kern, millions of dollars have become invested, and as a result of the oil industry, new and important litigations are now pending in our court.

It is absolutely impossible for one judge to hear and dispose of these litigations, giving to each case the time and study that its importance warrants.

There are a great many cases now at issue that cannot be tried for months to come. This is an injustice to the community and to the litigants.

We therefore respectfully petition that legislation be enacted by your honorable body that will result in giving us another Superior Judge for the purpose of relieving the present situation.

And your petitioners will ever pray.

ON STATE HOSPITALS AND ASYLUMS.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on State Hospitals and Asylums have visited the Stockton State Hospital, the Southern California State Hospital, the Agnews State Hospital, and the Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, and we do report as follows:

At Stockton, the committee inspected the land the purchase of which is contemplated by the State should Assembly Bill No. 200 receive favorable consideration by the Legislature and the Governor. This land comprises a tract of about 745 acres, about one half of which is rich bottom land adjacent to the San Joaquin River, capable of producing cereals, vegetables, and fruits in abundance. The other half of the tract appears to be soil of a character greatly inferior to that along the river, and more adapted for grazing than for agricultural purposes; being covered with a heavy growth of salt-grass, upon which cattle do well. This land is about six miles from the City of Stockton. As the City of Stockton now surrounds the State Hospital, and the removal of the hospital from its present site must necessarily be made in a few years, it appears that the intention of the Board of Managers of the Hospital is of a threefold nature. First, to acquire more land in order to supply sufficient quantities of hay, fruit, and vegetables for hospital consumption; secondly, to afford employment for patients whose condition is such that it were better for them to be employed; thirdly, that when the removal of the hospital from the City of Stockton becomes imperative, it may be represented to the State that an available site is already owned by the State, upon which the necessary buildings may be erected. That more land is needed for the accommodation of this hospital is recognized by your committee, but we have not, as yet, given the bill sufficient consideration to warrant a final report upon the same at this time. We therefore ask for further time for the consideration of this measure.

Though the committee had no bill before them demanding an investigation of the internal needs or workings of the hospital, yet we felt it incumbent upon us to inspect the various wards and departments thereof. Upon an inspection, consuming about two and one half hours in the evening, and about the same period in daylight, we found the several departments, including the wards for males, those for females, the bakery, the kitchen, the laundry, and the grounds in a neat condition, the physicians and attendants courteous, and the unfortunate wards of the State in this hospital well cared for.

Your committee had before them for their consideration Assembly Bills numbered 41, 42, 43, and 47, calling for appropriations for $7,500, $33,000, $110,000, and $8,000, respectively, for improvements at the Southern California State Hospital. Upon visiting this hospital, we found the same greatly overcrowded. Male and female patients in large numbers were sleeping on the floors, in the corridors, and in the basement of the building. Wards designed for the accommodation of sixty patients, average one hundred and fourteen patients each. In rooms intended to be occupied by two patients, we found four or more. Into dormitories designed for ten or twelve persons, are crowded eighteen or twenty. A wing to the main building, intended for female patients, but not yet completed, will, when finished, accommodate one hundred and eighty patients. This will relieve the present congested condition of this institution, but will not afford adequate relief to meet the growing demands of this hospital. It is the sense of your committee that the State should take immediate action to ameliorate the conditions existing at this hospital.

Here your committee found the employes of the State faithful to their duties, and the patients as well cared for as conditions would permit.

At Agnews State Hospital, your committee found the various departments in good order, the physicians and attendants faithful in the performance of their duties, the patients, on the whole, well cared for. Your committee urges the appropriation asked for by this hospital for the erection of water towers and tanks on the grounds. The tanks now in use are built over the buildings, and by leaking and occasional overflow, are a constant source of damage to the buildings. In case of fire, their usefulness in supplying water to quench the flames may easily be reduced to naught. The home-like equipment of the cottages for patients belonging to this hospital, in each of which were about one hundred patients, apparently happy, and certainly enjoying comforts which the larger buildings cannot afford, impressed your committee most favorably as to the superiority of the cottage system of caring for the inmates of these institutions, and of affording opportunity for isolation of patients afflicted with contagious or infectious diseases. Reports upon the bills appertaining to this hospital have been submitted to the Assembly by your committee.

At none of the hospitals visited did your committee observe any provision for egress in case of fire, except by the ordinary mode of exit by doorways. We would therefore recommend that each State Hospital be equipped with a sufficient number of safe, practical, modern fire-escapes, to be provided from the contingent funds of the respective institutions.

At the Industrial Home of Mechanical Trades for the Adult Blind, your committee met conditions which, mildly described, reflect little credit to the great State of California, whose public institutions are an index to the generosity and progress of the commonwealth. At this place, your committee met one hundred and ten males and females whose misfortune compels them to be cared for by the State. Here the living houses are in poor repair; roofs leak badly; the houses are almost devoid of paint; cement walks within the inclosure are broken and present an irregular surface, making it dangerous for the blind to walk thereon. To say nothing of the present discomfort of the inmates, an appropriation is needed to stop further deterioration of property and to hide the evident marks of past neglect by the State. The inmates conduct their industrial operations in buildings in which a thrifty farmer would hesitate to quarter livestock which he values. The buildings in which their work is carried on are frail wooden structures, cold and cheerless, with no means for heating the same, and ill adapted as work-shops for the most favored artisans, not to mention their total unsuitability for occupancy as working rooms by those whose pitiable condition demands the greatest comfort and conveniences obtainable. Your committee therefore urges such action by the Assembly as has been recommended by them in the bills pertaining to this institution.

Respectfully submitted.

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 2, 1903.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred a communication from the Territorial Legislature of New Mexico, relative to the Omnibus Statehood bill:

SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO, January 22, 1903.

The Honorable Legislative Assembly of the State of California, Sacramento, California

The following memorial was passed by a unanimous vote of both houses of the thirty-fifth Legislature of New Mexico to-day:

JOINT MEMORIAL NO. 55.

Your memorialist, the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of New Mexico, most respectfully represents that on the second day of February, A. D. 1848, by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, entered into between the United States and the Republic of New Mexico, the territory embraced within the territories of New Mexico was ceded to the United States. That by that treaty the Government of the United States solemnly pledged the people of the ceded territory that the same would be incorporated into the Union of the States and the people thereof admitted to the enjoyment of all rights of citizens of the United States. That the national conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties have repeatedly pledged the support of their representatives in the United States Senate and House of Representatives to the admission of the Territories of Oklahoma, and New Mexico, and Arizona to the sisterhood of States. That the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States has, in compliance with the treaty obligations of the United States and the political obligations of its members, passed a bill, "H. R. 12,543," to enable the people of Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona to form constitutions and State governments and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing of the original States. That this bill has been transmitted to the Senate and is now pending in that honorable body without final action having been taken thereon. That said bill embodies the hopes and aspirations of the people of New Mexico, who are well fitted to assume the form of government provided for in said bill, as evidenced by the fact that New Mexico has made as rapid educational progress during the last decade as any other part of the Nation, and has a common school system the peer of any in the Nation. That within her boundaries there is taxable property of the value of more than two hundred million dollars. That she has a sufficient population who have manifested their devotion and loyalty to the Government of the United States by furnishing more soldiers for the defense of the Government, according to population, in both the Civil and Spanish-American wars, than any State or other Territories in the Nation. In the opinion of your memorialist, the people of Arizona and Oklahoma are likewise entitled to the blessings of statehood, which will be secured to them by passing said bill, and because the people of the Territories of Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona have an inherent right to such admission by virtue of the principles entitled in the Declaration of Independence, because such admission is vouchsafed them by the policy pursued by the Government of the United States in the admission of nearly all the States to the Nation at a time when they were less fitted to assume self-government than are Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona at the present time, because a territorial form of government is intolerable and obnoxious to a free and ambitious people, because it is an incongruity under American institutions and should be maintained only so long as absolutely necessary to prepare its people for self-government, because it is a denial of the right of the people to take part in the affairs of the Nation, which requires allegiance and support from it, and because capital has not complete confidence in such a form of government and reluctantly lends its aid to the development of its resources. We, therefore, most respectfully petition your honorable body to memorialize the Senate of the Congress of the United States to pass at the earliest date possible, consistent with the rights of and courtesies due to every one of the members of that body, said bill, "H. R. 12,543," now pending before that body and popularly known as the Omnibus Statehood bill. And we further respectfully petition your honorable body that you, by suitable resolution, request your representatives in the Senate of the United States Congress to aid the prompt passage of said bill by their vote. And it is hereby

Resolved, By the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of New Mexico, that the President of the Council and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of this Legislative Assembly be directed to transmit a certified copy of this memorial to the legislative assemblies of the States hereby memorialized; and further resolved, that the President of the Council and Speaker of the House of Representatives be directed to telegraph a copy of this memorial to the legislative assemblies of the States hereby memorialized.

NESTOR MONTOYA,
Speaker of House.

BARNES, Chairman.

Also:

SACRAMENTO, CAL., February 2, 1903.

To the Honorable the Assembly of the State of California.

Your Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, excused by your honorable body to visit the following institutions: The San Diego Normal, Los Angeles Normal, San Luis Obispo Polytechnic School, San José Normal, San Francisco Normal and the Institution for the Deaf and Blind at Berkeley, asking for appropriations of public money, beg leave to present to you the report of our investigations and recommendations in relation to each of the aforesaid institutions.

We left Sacramento on the evening train, Saturday, January 24th. We devoted all of our time to the actual investigation of the places we were instructed to visit and to the necessary traveling in order to reach them. We have made no extra trips, put in none of the time during which we were absent in sight-seeing, and have worked faithfully and conscientiously to the end that we might be able to make a full, fair, and careful report to your honorable body, of the institutions visited. We completed our investigations Friday afternoon and returned to Sacramento that same evening. Following is the report of the various institutions visited, in the order in which we visited them:

San Diego State Normal School.

Monday, January 26th, your committee visited the San Diego State Normal School. We were accompanied by several of the trustees and reached the institution shortly after school had been called. We met Principal Black, and spent several hours in having the needs and conditions of the school presented to us. The first question of the needs for the completion of the Normal as originally outlined was carefully gone into. The question was asked if it were not so that the Normals were turning out more teachers than there was a demand for in the State, and about what percentage of those graduated followed the profession of teaching for a period of years. Principal Black informed the committee that the San Diego Normal was entirely unable to meet the demands made upon it for teachers, that all of its graduates who wished positions obtained them, and that he had letters from county superintendents and school boards with requests for teachers that he was unable to meet. He further informed the committee that about ninety per cent of those graduating taught for a period of years. He also gave statistics showing that the increase in population in the State was at the rate of 40,000 a year, about 8,000 being children. Allowing one teacher for every twenty-five children, which is about the average number taught by one teacher, 320 additional teachers are required each year. The total number of teachers graduated by the five Normal Schools of the State foots up about that number a year, showing that there are many more positions to be filled than there are teachers graduated, as the places of those already in the profession are constantly being made vacant by death, change of profession, marriage, etc. Of the ten per cent of the graduates of the San Diego Normal who are not teaching, a number are attending higher educational institutions, to fit themselves for the advanced work of the profession.

There are 234 pupils in the Normal Department and 109 in the Training School of the San Diego Normal. Owing to the inadequacy of buildings and equipment, the school has been unable to give the course of instruction to prepare kindergarten teachers, which the law provides shall be given, and which is given in several of the other State Normal Schools. After carefully discussing the cost of erecting and equipping the new buildings asked for and completing the furnishing and equipment of the buildings already erected, your committee spent two hours in inspecting the condition and equipment of the buildings and the character and efficiency of the work being done.

Your committee found the school sadly overcrowded, many of the rooms poorly furnished and equipped, and the facilities for heating and ventilating the buildings inadequate. The rooms occupied by the Training School are particularly crowded and inadequate, six small rooms, all of which have been formed by subdividing larger ones, forming the class rooms and assembly room of the entire Training School. Many of them were poorly furnished, and the children crowded in an uncomfortable way. The work being accomplished, considering the difficulties under which both the Training School and Normal are laboring, was found to be thorough, efficient, and in line with modern educational thought and methods.

The physical and chemical laboratories were next visited. The accommodations in the main building are so overtaxed that it was found necessary to erect a temporary frame building on the grounds for those purposes. The building is unceiled, cheerless in appearance, unsubstantial, and of such a character as to render it very unsuitable for work in those subjects. Part of it is used as a dark room for experimental work in light and photography. Owing to the temporary character and construction of the building, it is absolutely impossible to thoroughly darken it, thereby interfering considerably with the character of the work done. Here, as elsewhere, we found the students active and alert, trying to get the most out of their work, but hampered and inconvenienced by the lack of proper accommodations.

The library was visited, found to be quite complete, but badly lacking in seats and tables for those using it. The general assembly room was also visited, found to be overcrowded and furnished with old-fashioned and antiquated furniture, as well as being poorly heated. Your committee particularly commend the clean, healthful, and sanitary condition of the closets of the school, there being not the slightest offensive smell or suggestion about them.

The site of the proposed west wing was inspected, as well as the condition of the grounds. The grounds were donated to the State by the City of San Diego, and almost nothing in the way of improvement, walks, or adornment has been done. While beautiful grounds are desirable, and something along that line should eventually be done by the State, your committee did not consider it advisable to begin the improvement at the present time, as the condition of the grounds does not materially interfere with the efficiency of the school, and the improvement asked could be made more cheaply as well as effectually when the proposed buildings have been completed. We therefore recommend that the $10,000 in the bill for the improvement of the grounds be cut out, and also that the amount asked for heating and ventilation be reduced from $12,000 to $7,000, reducing the total appropriation asked from $102,500 to $87,500.

We believe that the proposed buildings are absolutely necessary to make the school thoroughly efficient, and that the equipment, as well as the furniture asked for, is badly needed. We therefore respectfully recommend that the appropriation providing for the same be favorably considered by the Assembly.

Los Angeles State Normal School.

We found the State Normal School at Los Angeles in a flourishing condition. The attendance is about 700—100 of whom will graduate this year. The building is well located, in a desirable part of the city, and with necessary repairs would be well suited to the purpose for which it is intended. A portion of the building is twenty years old. The hall floors, of redwood, are worn to such an extent that it is unsafe for the students to pass over them. The roof and outside woodwork should be painted. There should be new plumbing in the old building, and in fact the whole building should be repaired according to the plans of the Trustees, and that done at once, or the property will suffer. The water-closets in the main part would be a disgrace to a Chinese wash-house. They are in such a condition that, if not attended to promptly, the City Board of Health will condemn them, as the State Board of Health has already practically done. A small appropriation will put the building in good repair, and we trust it will be granted without opposition.

California Polytechnic School

Wednesday, January 28, 1903, the committee visited the California Polytechnic School at San Luis Obispo, which was established by an Act of the Legislature of 1901. By the provisions of the Act the appropriation of $50,000 was not made available until January 1, 1902. The trustees were appointed by Governor Gage during the latter part of January, 1902, and they entered at once upon their labors, first selecting a tract of land containing 281 acres, three-quarters of a mile from the city limits of San Luis Obispo, as a site for the new institution. The land cost $7,709.30. The farming land contained in the tract was assessed for $60 per acre and was purchased for $40 per acre. The hill lands purchased contained many valuable springs. This portion of the tract was purchased at $10 per acre.

It was deemed advisable by the Board of Trustees that a competent person should be employed, who could outline a course of study and take a personal supervision over the work of drafting plans for the building and shaping the destiny of the new institution. Accordingly, Prof. Leroy Anderson of the State University was chosen as director.

In November, 1902, the Board of Trustees let the contracts for the construction of two buildings, one to be the administration and recitation building and the other a dormitory building. These contracts cover the payment of all the construction work, excepting therefrom the painting, heating, and equipment of the two buildings. There is no money remaining in the fund to meet any contract for painting, heating, and equipment.

The annual report of the Board of Trustees of the school gives the following statement in reference to the aim and scope of the school:

"They (the trustees) wish to plan the work of the school in a way that will give a more thorough understanding of the principles and practices of the multitude of activities in which life in the country abounds, and thus to enhance the beauty and enlarge the comforts of such a life. In a school of this kind nothing will be lost sight of which will tend to develop and broaden the mind and make the eye and hand more skillful. The chief effort will be, as it should be in all schools, to teach men to be men; and, second, to help them to become masters of their particular vocation. In planning an institution which will appeal to the industries of the country rather than of the city, the trustees believe that they are fully complying with the letter and spirit of the law, and that they are providing for a school that will be eminently useful in rearing generations of efficient and industrious citizens.

"Course of Study.—The time is yet rather early to give a complete detail of the course of study to be offered. It is the hope of the board to eventually have a full four years' course. For the beginning, however, we do not see our way clear to offer more than a two-year course, with a possible third year for specializing in the particular subject which the student may wish to pursue as his life work. A list of proposed subjects under their several heads is here given:

"Academic. English, arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, chemistry, physics, botany, entomology, zoology, physiology, physical geography, history, economics, drawing, free hand and mechanical.

"Agriculture. Agriculture, horticulture, animal industry, dairying, irrigation, land surveying, gardening, floriculture, landscape gardening, forestry, construction of farm buildings.

"Domestic Science: Sewing, cooking, dressmaking, millinery, household economy
 "Industrial: Carpentry, blacksmithing, plumbing, masonry, mechanics, electrical construction."

The two buildings already contracted for are in course of construction, the foundation for one being completed.

Assembly Bill No. 179 asks for an appropriation of $18,000 for the completion and equipment of the two buildings now in course of construction. Of this amount $9,000 is made available at once, and $9,000 on and after July 1, 1903. The committee finds that the $18,000 asked for will be required for the completion and equipment of the building.

Assembly Bill No. 367 asks for an appropriation of $46,500 for the construction of additional buildings as follows: $24,500 for a domestic science building, $10,000 for a heating and lighting plant, and $8,000 for the erection of barns, shops, and outbuildings.

The course of study outlined for the school makes it imperative that the domestic science building shall be constructed as soon as possible. Without this building the Board of Trustees will be unable to carry out the general usefulness of the institution.

The lowest estimates obtained by the Board of Trustees justify the request for $10,000 for a heating and lighting plant, and the necessity for barns, shops, and outbuildings to make effective the character of instruction adopted by the Board of Trustees justifies the proposed appropriation for that purpose. The bill carrying the appropriation of $46,500 does not go into effect until January 1, 1904.

San José State Normal School.

At the San José Normal School a very careful inspection of the buildings and grounds was given on Thursday, January 29, 1903. We found that in several places the roof leaked badly, and patches of plastering had dropped from the ceiling in consequence thereof. The stairways are in a splintered and somewhat dilapidated condition, and considerable of the flooring of the hallways is also in bad order, and should be either replaced or covered with linoleum, which would be quite expensive, as there is a surface of 1400 square yards to be covered.

Another feature which was found to be very bad was the ladies' toilets—only nineteen for 400 students, and these are of old pattern, and without doors. That such a condition has prevailed for so long a time is a shame to the State. For these improvements and repairs we do not think $5,000, the sum asked for in Assembly Bill No. 126, is too much, therefore, we recommend it be allowed.

As regards the appropriation of $15,000 for a gymnasium building, we likewise recommend a favorable consideration of the same, for if we are to have teachers blessed with sturdy health and robust constitutions we must develop, by practical training, the physical body and keep it on a level with the mental.

We find that at this school a great amount of furniture and apparatus is on hand, stored away, and practically useless. For instance, there are about 800 desks, taken from the assembly room and replaced by new ones, and in our opinion the Trustees should dispose of these. In all, there is probably $1500 of such useless furniture and apparatus.

San Francisco State Normal School.

At San Francisco we found a Normal School being conducted in three separate buildings. These buildings have been abandoned by the San Francisco City Board of Education as unfit for use, and were rented at a nominal fee to the Board of Normal Trustees of San Francisco. That a school should be conducted there under the guidance of the State seems incredible. If it is the desire of the present Legislature to conduct a Normal School at San Francisco, then we recommend the purchase of a site and the erection of a building suitable for such purposes. If such site and building can not be procured, then we recommend the abolishment of the school. As for efficiency of the teachers, and the standing of its graduates, the San Francisco Normal School is second to none in the State.

Institution for the Deaf and Blind at Berkeley.

Thursday, January 29th, your committee visited the Institution for the Deaf and Blind at Berkeley. We were met at the office by Dr. Wilkinson, who showed us through the different buildings, first explaining to us the needs of the institution. The only extra appropriation asked is for $15,000 to replace the amount taken from the Durham Fund. The necessity for using this fund was as follows: Several years ago, smallpox broke out in the school. It was absolutely necessary to segregate those infected from the other pupils. As there were no funds immediately available for such a purpose, and as the need of such a building was immediate, money was used from the Durham Fund for that purpose. A neat, substantial brick building, isolated from the others, was erected, is in good repair, and ready for immediate use, if any infectious or contagious disease appears in the school.

The department for the instruction of the blind was first visited. The pupils are here taught reading, writing, arithmetic, and other subjects, by the Braille system, as well as typewriting, by the touch system. They showed considerable proficiency in their work, and the committee was particularly impressed by the interest and kindness shown by the teacher to the children. One of the children, a girl of twelve, readily typed a letter dictated to her by one of the committee. One of the stenographers employed by the Doctor is totally blind, and also gives instruction in singing and music on the piano to the blind pupils.

In the deaf and dumb department the pupils showed great proficiency in writing and drawing. They are also taught articulation and lip-reading. Several little deaf girls answered questions quite readily by noticing the motions of the lips of the person asking. The articulation class was visited, where the deaf and dumb are taught to articulate. The Whipple system is the one mainly used. Professor Whipple, the inventor of the system, is the principal instructor, assisted by several others. The work done in this department is simply wonderful. One of the graduates of the institution was seen, who, originally deaf and dumb, by this system was able to comprehend what was said without any signs being made, and to articulate his replies almost as well as any one. All pupils in this department are taught the sign-language also.

The printing office was visited, where some of the deaf children learn type-setting, and are enabled on leaving the institution to become self-supporting. In the shops, carpentry work and cabinet-making are taught. The pupils make chairs, tables, book-cases, cabinets, and various other articles. Most of these are of very creditable workmanship. Those not needed in the school are sold, and the proceeds, above the cost of material, turned into the fund for maintaining the school.

The girls in the institution are taught sewing, cooking, housekeeping, and other domestic accomplishments, so that they can become a help and comfort to their people or be able to earn their own livelihood.

The kitchen, dining-rooms and dormitories were thoroughly inspected, and found to be in a neat, healthful, and sanitary condition. The older pupils, both boys and girls, make their own beds, and are responsible for the condition of their rooms. They also serve at table, help in the laundry department, and in the sweeping and care of the buildings.

Your committee particularly commends the earnestness, thoroughness, and devotion to duty, as well as the uniform kindness to the children, of Dr. Wilkinson and the various teachers under his charge. We believe that the institution is doing a noble work for the unfortunate children of this State; that it is carefully and economically managed, and that the appropriation asked for is just and should be allowed.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CHARTER OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAN FRANCISCO, RATIFIED BY A MAJORITY (AND MORE THAN THREE-FIFTHS) OF THE ELECTORS VOTING AT THE SPECIAL ELECTION HELD FOR THAT PURPOSE ON THURSDAY, THE FOURTH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1902

That Subdivision 27, Section 1, Chapter II, Article II, of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

27 To regulate street railroads, tracks and cars, to permit two or more lines of street railways, operated under different managements, to use the same street, each paying an equal portion for the construction and repair of the tracks and appurtenances used by said railways jointly for such number of blocks consecutively, not exceeding ten blocks; to fix, establish and reduce the fares and charges for transporting passengers and goods thereon; to regulate rates of speed, and to pass ordinances to protect the public from danger or inconvenience in the operation of such roads

That Section 1, Chapter II, Article II, of said Charter be amended by adding a new subdivision to be known as Subdivision 36, and to read as follows:

36 To allow not to exceed the sum of five thousand dollars a year for the relief of aged, indigent and infirm exempt firemen who served in the Volunteer Fire Department between the years 1850 and 1866

That Section 1 of Chapter four of Article four of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. There shall be an Assessor of the City and County, who shall be an elector of the City and County at the time of his election, and who must have been such for at least five years next preceding such time. He shall be elected by the people and hold office for four years. He shall receive an annual salary of eight thousand dollars, which shall be in full compensation for all his services. He may appoint a chief deputy, who shall receive an annual salary of twenty-four hundred dollars; one cashier, who shall receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars; six assistant deputies, who shall each receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars, twenty-one clerks, who shall each receive an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars; and during four months of the year not more than one hundred clerks, who shall each be paid at the rate of not more than one hundred dollars a month during the time of their employment.

That Section 2 of Chapter II of Article VI of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2 Application for the doing of any such work or improvement must in the first instance, except where otherwise provided in this Article, be made in writing to the Board of Public Works by an owner or owners of property liable to be assessed for the same, or by their agents, or by the Board of Health for sanitary reasons, or by the Supervisors, expressed by resolution.

Such application need but in general describe or refer to the work or improvement applied for; and if the expense thereof or any portion of such expense is to be assessed upon private property, the Board of Public Works shall investigate the same, and may modify, amend, alter, or increase the same, as it may deem proper; and if the Board determine that the work or improvement so applied for, or as so modified, amended, altered or increased, is expedient, it shall so report to the Supervisors, the Supervisors shall not order any such improvement until the same has been recommended by said Board. When the construction of any sewer or drain shall involve a cost of more than five dollars per lineal foot for any block, it shall not be authorized except by an ordinance passed by the affirmative vote of not less than fourteen members of the Board of Supervisors. If an application is made for any work or improvement of which the expense is to be paid by the City and County, and the Board of Public Works shall not approve of such application, it shall report to the Supervisors its reasons for such disapproval, and the Supervisors may then, after having obtained from the Board of Public Works an estimate of the expense of said work or improvement, by ordinance passed by the affirmative vote of not less than fourteen members of the Board of Supervisors order the doing of said work, or the making of said improvement.

The Board of Public Works may also, except as herein prohibited, recommend any improvement, the expense of which is to be paid by the City and County, though no application may have been made therefor, and must make, with said recommendation to the supervisors, an estimate of the expense, and in such case the Supervisors may order the same done.

No street work or street improvements of any kind shall be ordered to be done by the Supervisors unless a written recommendation to do the same has been made to them by the Board of Public Works, except in the case hereinbefore provided, and all such recommendations shall be made matters of record in the office of said Board.

When the Board shall recommend any work to be done on a street intersection or crossing, where the streets do not intersect each other at right angles, it shall in each such case determine what lots in the blocks adjacent to such intersection or crossing will be benefited by said work, and shall cause a map to be made on which shall be delineated the lots so to be benefited. Such map shall be transmitted to the Supervisors with said recommendation.

That Section 4 of Chapter II of Article VI of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 4. The owners of a majority of the frontage of the property fronting on said proposed work or improvement, where the same is for one block, or more, and, in the case of a district, those owning more than one half of the superficial area of the district, exclusive of street surface, may make written objections to the same within ten days after the expiration of the time of the publication of said resolution of intention, which objections shall be delivered to the Secretary of the Board of Public Works, who shall indorse thereon the date of their reception by him. Such objections shall delay for six months any further proceedings in relation to the doing of said work or making said improvement, under the said resolution of intention unless the owners of the one-half or more of the frontage or of the district, as aforesaid, shall meanwhile petition for the same to be done, and thereupon the proceedings shall be continued under the said resolution of intention, if said Board shall deem proper.

If, however, the owners of at least two-thirds of the property fronting on said proposed work or improvement, and, in case of a district, those owning at least two-thirds of the superficial area of the district, exclusive of street surface, shall make written objections to the said proposed work or improvement, after the expiration of the time hereinbefore fixed for making the objections in the first instance to the same (and which objections delayed for six months any further proceedings in relation to the doing of said work or making said improvement under said resolution of intention), and before the expiration of the said six months, no further proceedings shall be taken under the said resolution of intention. But if no such objections have been made, then the Board of Public Works, after the expiration of said six months, shall, if it deem proper, continue the proceedings under the resolution of intention aforesaid, notwithstanding the objections first made, as hereinbefore provided, or any further objections to the doing of said work or making said improvement.

But when the work or improvement proposed to be done is the construction of sewers, manholes, culverts, drains, cesspools, catch-basins or storm-water inlets, or of sidewalks, or of curbs, or any work or improvement on a street crossing, or on a street intersection, and written objections thereto have been delivered to the Secretary of the Board of Public Works within the time hereinbefore provided, by the owners of a majority of the frontage or of the district aforesaid, and in case of work or improvement on a street crossing or a street intersection, by the owners of a majority of the street frontage liable to be assessed therefor, the Board shall, at its next meeting, fix a time for hearing said objections, not less than one week thereafter. The Secretary of the Board shall thereupon notify the persons making such objections by depositing a notice thereof in the Postoffice at the City and County, postage prepaid, and addressed to each objector or his agent when he appears for such objector. At the time specified the Board shall hear the objections urged, and pass upon the same, and its decision shall be final and conclusive; and if said objections are overruled the proceedings shall be continued as though no objections had been made.

And when not more than two blocks on a street, including street crossings, remain ungraded to the official grade, or otherwise unimproved, in whole or in part, and a block or more on each side upon such street has been so graded or otherwise improved, or when not more than two blocks at the end of a street remain so ungraded or otherwise unimproved, proceedings for the doing of any work or improvement, upon said intervening ungraded or unimproved part of said street, or at the end of a street, shall not be stayed or prevented by any written or other objections, unless the Board shall deem proper.

And if one-half or more in width or in length, or as to grading, one-half or more of the grading work, of any street lying and being between two successive main street crossings, or if a crossing has been already partially graded or improved, as aforesaid, the Board may proceed as in this Chapter provided, to have the remainder improved, graded, or otherwise, notwithstanding any objections of property owners.

In all cases of work or improvement in this section hereinbefore provided, where the Board of Public Works is vested with power to continue proceedings in relation to any proposed work or improvement, notwithstanding any objections of property owners to the doing of the same, the Board may determine that such work or improvement is expedient, or that the public interest or convenience requires the doing of the same, and it may institute proceedings therefor and the provisions of Section 2 of this Chapter, requiring a written application to the Board in the first instance, to be made therefor, shall not be applicable thereto.

At any time before the making of the assessment as hereinafter provided, all owners of lots of land liable to assessment therein, who, after the first publication of the aforesaid resolution of intention, may feel aggrieved, or who may have objections to any proceedings in relation to the performance of the work described in said resolution, may file with the Secretary a petition of remonstrance, wherein they shall state in what respect they feel aggrieved, or the proceedings to which they object. Such petition of remonstrance shall be passed upon by the Board, and its decision thereon shall be final and conclusive.

That Section 16 of Chapter II of Article VI of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 16. When any portion of the roadway of any improved street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or any portion of any sidewalk, in the City and County, none of which has been accepted by the Supervisors as in this Chapter provided, shall be so out of repair as to endanger persons or property passing thereon, or so as to interfere with the public convenience in the use thereof, the Board of Public Works shall require the owners or occupants of lots or portions of lots fronting on said portion of said street, avenue, alley, lane, court or place, or fronting on such portion of said sidewalk so out of repair as aforesaid, by a notice in writing, to be delivered to them or their agents to repair forthwith said portion of said street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, to the center line thereof, or said portion of said sidewalk, in front of the property of which he is the owner, or tenant, or occupant. The Board shall particularly specify in said notice what work is required to be done and what material shall be used in said repairs. If said repairs be not begun within five days after notice given as aforesaid, and diligently and without interruption prosecuted to completion, the Board may make such repair, or enter into a contract with any suitable person, at the expense of the owner, tenant, or occupant, after the specifications for the doing of said work shall have been conspicuously posted by it in its office for three days, inviting bids for the doing of said work. Said bids shall be delivered to it at its office on or before the second day after the completion of said posting, and opened by it on the next day following, whereupon the contract shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

All of said bids shall be preserved in the office of the Board, and shall be open at all times after the letting of the contract to the inspection of all persons; and such owner, tenant, or occupant shall be liable to pay said contract price. Such work shall be commenced within twenty-four hours after the contract shall have been signed, and completed without delay to the satisfaction of the Board. Upon the completion of such repairs by the contractor as aforesaid to the satisfaction of the Board, it shall make and deliver to the contractor a certificate to the effect that such repairs have been properly made by said contractor to the grade, and that the charges for the same are reasonable and just, and that the Board of Public Works has accepted the same.

That Section 29 of Chapter II, Article VI of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 29. The Board shall cause the public streets to be properly cleaned and sprinkled and for that purpose may employ such laborers and other employes as may be necessary, and may, with the consent of the Supervisors, expressed by Ordinance, purchase teams, machinery, materials and other appliances as may be deemed necessary for said work, but the Board must give the preference to hand-sweeping so far as it can do so with reference to the proper sweeping of the streets and the funds at its disposal.

The Board may, if the public interest will be subserved, cause the cleaning and sprinkling of the public streets to be performed, either in whole or in part, by public contract. In such case the Board shall divide the city, or such portions of the city as it shall determine to have cleaned or sprinkled by public contract, into such number of districts as in its judgment will best induce competition for bids, and secure the cleaning or sprinkling of such streets at the lowest cost.

The Secretary of the Board shall, under its direction, cause to be published for a period of ten (10) days a notice inviting proposals for cleaning or sprinkling each of said districts in accordance with the specifications on file at the office of the Board. Bids shall be made for each district separately. All the provisions of this Article in relation to the making and opening of bids, awarding of contracts and entering into and performance of contracts shall be applicable to said contracts.

That Section 1 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 1. Whenever the Board of Supervisors by ordinance, as hereinafter provided, shall determine that the public interest or necessity demands the acquisition, construction or completion of any public utility or utilities by the City and County, or whenever the electors shall petition the Board of Supervisors, as provided in Section 3 of this Article, for the acquisition of any public utility or utilities, the Board of Supervisors must procure from the Board of Public Works, through the City Engineer, plans and estimates of the cost of original construction and completion, by the City and County of such public utility or utilities.

In securing estimates of the cost of original construction and completion of water works, by the City and County, the Board of Supervisors must procure, as hereinabove specified, and place on file plans and estimates of the cost of obtaining, from such sources as the Board of Supervisors may designate as available, a sufficient supply of good, pure water for the City and County.

That Section 2 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 2. Before submitting propositions to the electors for the acquisition by original construction or condemnation of public utilities, the Board of Supervisors must solicit and consider offers for the sale to the City and County of existing utilities, in order that the electors may have the benefit of acquiring the same at the lowest possible cost thereof.

That Section 3 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 3. Whenever a petition or petitions, each signed by electors of the City and County equal in number to fifteen per centum or all the votes cast in the City and County at the last preceding general election, shall be presented to the Board of Supervisors, setting forth that the signers of such petition or petitions favor the acquisition of the public utility or utilities therein named, it shall be the duty of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors to immediately proceed to examine and verify the signatures to such petition or petitions, and to certify the result of such examination to the Board of Supervisors. If the required number of signatures be found to be genuine, the Clerk shall transmit to the Mayor an authentic copy of such petition or petitions, without the signatures thereto.

Upon receiving a certificate of the Clerk that the petition or petitions contain the required number of genuine signatures, it shall be the duty of the Board of Supervisors to procure, in the manner specified in Section 1 of this Article, plans and estimates of the cost of original construction and completion of each public utility named in such petition or petitions.

Thereafter, the Board of Supervisors shall formulate for submission to the electors of the City and County at a special election called for the purpose, a separate proposition for the acquisition of each public utility named in such petition or petitions.

The Mayor shall also have the right to formulate and submit to the electors, at such special election, a proposition for the acquisition of each public utility named in such petition or petitions, separate from the proposition therefor formulated by the Board of Supervisors.

All propositions formulated under the provision of this Section shall be completed within six months after the filing of such petition or petitions.

Nothing in this Section shall be so construed as to prohibit the Board of Supervisors from responding to the aforesaid petition or petitions of the electors requesting the acquisition of any public utility or utilities by proceeding at once, without the submission of propositions to the electors as aforesaid, to pass an Ordinance declaring its determination, as provided in Section 5 of this Article, to acquire the same and from proceeding thereafter to secure the acquisition thereof, as hereinafter provided.

That Section 4 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 4. At the next regular meeting after the completion of the proposition or propositions for the acquisition of the public utility or utilities named in such petition or petitions, the Board of Supervisors by Ordinance, as hereinafter in Section 6 provided, shall call a special election at which the propositions of the Board of Supervisors and of the Mayor, if he formulate any, shall be submitted to the electors of the City and County.

When the cost of any public utility or utilities named in such petition or petitions can be paid out of the annual revenues of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof, each proposition therefor, submitted to the electors, shall specify the cost of the utility therein proposed for acquisition by the City and County, the proposed method and manner of payment thereof, and the Board of Supervisors shall submit therein to the electors the question whether the same shall be acquired upon such terms. A majority of the electors voting at such special election shall be necessary to accept such proposition.

At as early a date after the determination of the result of such special election as the Board of Supervisors shall deem for the best interests of the City and County, it shall undertake proceedings and enter into such negotiations and contracts as may be necessary for the acquisition of any public utility or utilities named in any proposition or propositions accepted by a majority of the electors voting at such special election.

If, however, the cost of any public utility or utilities, named in any petition or petitions of the electors, shall so far exceed the annual revenues of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof, as to render it necessary to incur a municipal bonded indebtedness therefor, each proposition for the acquisition of such public utility or utilities shall specify the amount of the bonded indebtedness necessary therefor and the rate of interest thereon, and the Board of Supervisors shall submit to the electors, at such special election, the question whether such bonded indebtedness shall be incurred. At least two-thirds of the electors voting at such special election shall be necessary to secure the acquisition of such public utility or utilities and to warrant the issuance of municipal bonds therefor.

That Section 5 of Article XII of said Charter be annulled and repealed.

That Section 6 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to be known as Section 5 of Article XII of said Charter, and to read as follows:

Section 5. Whenever the Board of Supervisors shall determine that the public interest or necessity demands the acquisition, construction or completion of any public utility or utilities, it shall specifically declare such determination by an Ordinance, which shall also direct the Board of Public Works to procure and file plans and estimates of the cost of original construction and completion of such public utility or utilities. Such Ordinance shall be published for at least two weeks in the official newspaper.

When the cost of such public utilities, or any of them, can be paid out of the annual revenues of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof, the Board of Supervisors shall, as soon after the filing of the plans and estimates of cost thereof as it may deem for the best interests of the City and County, enter into such negotiations and contracts as may be necessary for the acquisition of the same.

If, however, the cost of such public utilities, or any of them, shall so far exceed the annual revenues of the City and County in addition to the other necessary expenses thereof, as to render it necessary to incur a municipal bonded indebtedness therefor, the Board of Supervisors shall, at any regular meeting held within eight weeks after the filing of the plans and estimates of cost thereof, by ordinance, as hereinafter in Section 6 of this Article provided, call a special election, at which shall be submitted to the electors a proposition or propositions for the acquisition of such public utility or utilities. Such propositions shall specify the amount of the bonded indebtedness necessary for the acquisition of the utility or utilities therein named and the rate of interest thereon, and the Board of Supervisors shall submit to the electors the question or questions whether such bonded indebtedness shall be incurred. At least two-thirds of the electors voting at such special election shall be necessary to warrant the issuance of municipal bonds for the acquisition of such public utilities, or any of them.

That Section 7 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to be known as Section 6 of Article XII of said Charter and to read as follows:

Section 6. Whenever, under the provisions of this Article, it shall be necessary to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the electors a proposition or propositions for the acquisition of public utilities, the Board of Supervisors shall pass an Ordinance calling such special election for such purpose.

At such special election all propositions for the acquisition of public utilities, formulated under the provisions of this Article, may be submitted to the electors of the City and County. No question except the acquisition of public utilities and the incurring of municipal indebtedness therefor shall be submitted at such special election.

That Section 8 of Article XII of said Charter be amended so as to be known as Section 7 of Article XII of said Charter and to read as follows:

Section 7. The Ordinance calling such special election shall set forth the purposes for which the election is called, the estimated cost of each utility proposed for acquisition by the City and County, the proposed method and manner of payment thereof, and shall fix a day on which such special election shall be held, the manner of holding such election, and the manner of voting for or against each proposition thereat submitted to the electors; and, if it shall be necessary to incur a municipal indebtedness for any utility or utilities therein proposed for acquisition by the City and County, the Ordinance shall specify the objects and purposes for which such indebtedness is proposed to be incurred, and that bonds of the City and County shall issue for the payment of the cost of such utility or utilities, as in such Ordinance set forth (if the proposition or propositions therefor be accepted by the electors). Such election shall be held as provided by law for holding elections in the City and County.

That Section 9 of Article XII of said Charter be amended by renumbering the same so as to be known as Section 8 of Article XII of said Charter, viz:

Section 8. Such Ordinance shall be published daily for at least ten days in the official newspaper. At the expiration of said ten days the Supervisors shall cause to be published daily for not less than two weeks in the official newspaper a notice of such special election. Such notice shall specify the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be

Not less than one-fortieth part of the whole amount of indebtedness shall be paid each and every year, on a day and at a place to be fixed by the Supervisors together with the interest on all sums unpaid at such date.

The bonds so issued shall be exempt from all taxation for municipal purposes, and shall be issued in denominations of not less than ten dollars nor greater than one thousand dollars, and preference in the sale and allotment thereof shall be given to subscribers for the smallest amounts and lowest denominations.

Said bonds must be payable on the day and at the place fixed therein, and with interest at the rate specified therein, but such interest shall not exceed four per centum per annum, payable annually, semi-annually, or quarterly, as the Supervisors may determine. Such bonds, when issued, may be sold by the Supervisors from time to time, as required, and in such quantities as they may determine, but the same must be sold for cash in lawful money of the United States as aforesaid to the highest bidder at not less than par, after having been advertised in the official newspaper. They shall be sold under sealed proposals, and the Supervisors shall have the right to reject any or all bids made for the purchase thereof. The proceeds of such sales shall be placed in the treasury to the credit of the proper fund, and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the Ordinance authorizing their issue until such objects are fully accomplished after which, if any surplus remains, such surplus shall be transferred to the General Fund.

That Section 14 of Article XII of said Charter be amended by renumbering the same so as to be known as Section 13 of Article XII of said Charter, viz :

ON STATE PRISONS AND REFORMATORY INSTITUTIONS.

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 3, 1903.

To the Speaker and Members of the Assembly.

Your Committee on State Prisons and Reformatory Institutions begs leave to report that six of the members, Messrs Olmsted, Barber, Bliss, Carter, McKenney, and Murphy, visited Whittier State School on Saturday, January 24, 1902, and inspected every department of that institution. By making this visit your committee was able to obtain much valuable information relative to its condition, its needs, and its management, which could not be otherwise obtained.

We find there are in the school, on an average, about 240 boys and 40 girls, in addition to about 170 who are out on parole. In addition to giving these boys and girls a common school education (they spend one half of each day in the school room), one of the chief objects and aims is to train and prepare them to become useful citizens, and enable them to successfully conduct the battle of life by teaching them some occupation or trade. To properly do this the management asks that the manual training departments be enlarged. Military training is another good feature of the school, which is well maintained.

Water is all important in the southland, and we find that in addition to the water rights now owned by the institution, it pays annually $1,000 for the rental of five inches of water. This five inches can be purchased outright for $5,000, and the cost thereafter would be only a nominal sum for maintenance. There is no doubt that this water and much more is needed by the institution to properly irrigate the land, and to supply this additional need the officers are asking an appropriation to pay for putting down a ten or twelve inch well, the installation of pumping plant, and the laying of pipes, etc. More horses, wagons, and farming implements are wanted to replace those which have outlived their usefulness.

At this institution the State owns 160 acres of excellent land, about 130 acres of which is under cultivation. A part is devoted to general farming, and raising of vegetables for consumption at the institution, and a part is in orchards—oranges, lemons, and deciduous fruits. As a whole, the farm is apparently in good condition, but the orange and lemon orchards need to be fumigated and fertilized.

The administration building is an excellent structure, is handsomely furnished, is in good repair, and is surrounded by well-kept grounds. In this building are domiciled not only the officers and employés, but also the older boys.

A new and commodious brick building has been erected to replace the kitchen and dining-room, which was recently destroyed by fire.

The smaller boys, who are not permitted to mingle with older ones, occupy a frame cottage near by.

Two buildings for the girls' department are located almost a mile distant from the administration building. They are substantial structures, and are in the main well equipped, but some improvements, including the putting in of bathtubs, are needed.

The library in this department, as shown to your committee, is certainly no credit to the institution, the books being few in number, old, and worn.

In addition to being instructed in cooking and other household duties, the noblest of callings, the girls are taught to make their own clothing and do other sewing.

New sewing-machines are needed in the tailoring and the girls' departments to replace old machines which have been in use for ten years or more and have lost their usefulness.

The blacksmith and machine shop consists of a very inferior frame structure, in which are two forges and a limited supply of tools. The carpenter shop is also a limited affair. An appropriation is asked for the construction and equipment of a building suitable for these purposes. For this building the brick is already on the ground, and it is the desire of the management that labor of construction be performed by the boys of the institution, thus very materially reducing the cost thereof.

One of the needs of the institution is a hospital building, where the sick can be properly cared for. The only apartments now available for this purpose are on the fifth floor of the administration building, adjoining apartments where a hundred or more boys sleep. In case of contagious disease, serious results might follow.

In the trades department, in addition to those already mentioned, are the printing office, shoe shop, tailor shop, and laundry.

The appropriations asked for, outside of $100,000 for maintenance, and a like sum for salaries, are not large, the aggregate being a little over $30,000.

Your committee believes this entire sum could be used to good advantage, but has not yet determined what, if any, portion of the sums asked for can be dispensed with, without serious injury to the institution.

Your committee is gathering further statistics and information, and in a few days will be able to report back to this House recommendations as to disposition of bills now before it.

OLMSTED, Chairman.

Mr. Olmsted moved that the report be printed in the Journal.

So ordered.

1. I do not believe the bill to be constitutional
2. If constitutional, I believe its passage would be unwise, because its purpose is and its effect will be to override and nullify the various city charters adopted under the Constitution.
3. It is special legislation, for it is designed for only one city.
4. It is not perfect in its details, and at present conflicts with other sections of the Political Code.
5. It is an attempt to force the people of one city to vote upon bonds against the wishes of the regularly elected City Trustees.
6. It permits two separate and independent boards to call bond elections in one city.

REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF BARBER EXAMINERS.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California

We have the honor to present herewith to your honorable bodies the first biennial report of the "State Board of Barber Examiners" of California, accompanied by its recommendations and a report of its important transactions from the date of its organization to the 1st day of December, 1902. The bill was approved February 20, 1901.

The purposes of the bill are to regulate the practice of barbering, the registering and licensing of persons to carry on such practice, and to insure the better education and promote competency and skill among such practitioners.

The members of the board received their appointments from the Governor on the 27th day of May, 1901, and thereupon duly qualified, as such members, by filing their bonds and taking the constitutional oath of office, in accordance with law; and thereafter, to wit: on the 12th day of June, 1901, duly organized by the election of John J. Calish, of San Francisco, president; Frank Flemming, of Sacramento, treasurer, and P. W. Drake, of Los Angeles, secretary.

The board rented an office in the Emma Spreckels building, No. 927 Market Street, San Francisco, which is the main office of the board.

The Western National Bank of San Francisco, California, was designated as the bank of deposit of the board.

The board was in session from the 12th day of June, 1901, to the 1st day of September, 1902, and then adjourned to December 1, 1902. A special session of the board was called for the 19th day of November, 1902, and the board remained in session until the 1st day of December, 1902, for the transaction of important business that had accumulated. By reason of the long distances that have to be traveled by the board, it should be in continuous session throughout the year to meet the current demands upon it.

The board has gone into every county in the State accessible by railroad, and has traveled many miles by stage and private conveyance to other counties; it has traveled 35,889 miles, and has held meetings in every town of importance in the State.

The examinations by the board have been made in accordance with the provisions of Section 10 of the bill.

The certificates which were adopted by the board were bound in book form and each one numbered, with a record on the stub, giving the name of the person to whom it was issued and the date on which it was issued, with the names of the president and secretary of the board indorsed thereon.

In accordance with the provisions of Section 11 of the bill, a card was issued with each certificate, to be displayed in a conspicuous place where each person served could see it and thus learn if the barber was a registered practitioner: the card was indorsed by the names of the president and secretary of the board, with the number of his certificate, and date of issue.

Blanks are furnished by the board to all persons desiring to make application for certificates of examination and registration. The blanks require the applicant to certify to the board the length of time, town and State, and with whom he served as an apprentice; also the length of time he has worked as a journeyman barber, and in what State, and the condition of his health, with his present address. This information enables the board to ascertain the amount of experience each applicant has had, and furnishes it with facts that can be used to inquire further into the reputation and fitness of the applicant. On the examination of the applicant, if it satisfactorily appears to the board that he is above the age of eighteen years, of good moral character, free from contagious or infectious diseases, has either studied the trade for three years as an apprentice, under a qualified and practicing barber, or studied the trade for at least three years in a properly appointed and conducted barber school, under the instruction of a competent barber, or practiced the trade in another State for at least three years, and is possessed of the requisite skill in the trade to perform all the duties thereof or incidental thereto, and is possessed of sufficient knowledge concerning the common diseases of the face and skin to avoid the aggravation and spreading thereof in the practice of the trade, his name shall be entered in the register, and a certificate of registration shall be issued to him in accordance with law.

The three years' apprenticeship which the law requires has fixed a standard of training and skill for barbers in every way superior to that of most of those who have entered the ranks of the trade during the past fifteen years. The most serious obstacle that the trade has had to contend with for several years was the class of incompetent persons who have had the presumption to assert that they understood the trade and established themselves as proficient workmen. For several years they have practiced on the unsuspecting public until they have gained a crude knowledge of the trade at the risk of the public.

The law will force out of the trade these incompetent barbers, much to the gratification of the public. Young men will in the future learn the trade from those most able to teach it, and serve a full apprenticeship before starting out for themselves. Employers will apprentice only those who are adapted to the trade, which fact will of itself insure a better class of workmen in the future.

The greatest evil which the barbers of this State have to contend with is the so-called barber schools. The principal one is located at No. 625 Clay Street, San Francisco. It is a branch of what is called "The Moler System of Barber and Hairdressing Colleges." Similar branches are located at Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Omaha, with headquarters at Chicago. The board, accompanied by a member of the San Francisco Health Department, visited the San Francisco branch of the Moler system to ascertain their manner of doing business. They found the place to be filthy beyond description. The operating room, chairs, floors, workstand, cups, towels, and, in fact, everything in and about the place, were so filthy, that the appearance was deeply distasteful to a person possessing any notion of cleanliness. The towels were dirty from long and constant use. Several students use the same lather brush and soap, and the cups presented a dirty appearance, indeed. Disease is almost certain to spread from this filthy use of the cups, razors, and tools.

The board is unprepared to give the number of graduates that receive their education in this school, but an estimate of several hundred a year would be nearly correct. Each of these students is required to pay a tuition fee of from thirty to forty dollars for a course of eight weeks, then they are presented with a school diploma.

When the law was passed, about seventy-five graduates from barber schools were conducting five-cent shops in the City of San Francisco. From its examination of the Moler school, the board came to the conclusion that it was not a proper place to learn the trade.

The board is of the opinion that the only way to procure a practical education in the trade is to learn it as an apprentice in a well-regulated shop.

The law provides that where an applicant has acquired his knowledge of the trade in a barber school, the board shall judge whether said school is properly appointed and conducted. Pursuant to that authority, on the 24th day of June, 1901, the board resolved to reject all applicants who had graduated from the Moler school, for the reason that the said school was not properly appointed and conducted, and did not give proper instructions.

The receipts of the board, from all sources, from the twelfth day of June, 1901, to the first day of December, 1902, were $10,789.70.

The disbursements by the board for the same period were $10,717.90, leaving a balance of $71.80, which sum is on deposit in the Western National Bank of San Francisco, California.

A number of arrests have been made in various parts of the State, at the instance of the board, for violation of the law. In most cases the defendant paid his fine, and conformed to the requirements of the law.

John Porco, of Napa, caused a writ of mandamus to issue, directed against the board, compelling it to grant him a certificate, which writ was decided in favor of the board by the Superior Court of Napa County; the petitioner perfected an appeal to the Supreme Court, which is still pending and undetermined.

Subsequently, J. Millard, as the assignee of some 125 Chinese of San Francisco, instituted an action against the members of the board, praying for the return of the money paid by them for the certificate granted by the board; the said action is still pending and undetermined.

The board recommends:

That legislation be enacted to place the barber schools, respecting their sanitary condition, under the control of the State Board of Barber Examiners and State Board of Health.

That the State Board of Barber Examiners be empowered to make rules prescribing the sanitary requirements of barber shops, subject to the approval of the State Board of Health, and that the same must be displayed in a conspicuous place in every barber shop where the public can see them and observe whether they are being complied with.

In no barber shop shall there be more than one apprentice to two barbers authorized under the law.

That each member of the State Board of Barber Examiners shall serve for three years.

That the term "apprentice" be defined.

That the card or insignia as now provided by law be renewable annually at a small cost.

That the board shall have power to revoke any certificate of registration granted by it under the Act: for (a) conviction of crime; (b) habitual drunkenness for six months immediately preceding the filing of the charge with it therefor; (c) gross incompetency; (d) the keeping of a shop, or tools, appliances, or furnishings thereof, in an unclean and unsanitary condition; (e) failure to comply with the requirements of Section 11 of the Act; provided, that before any certificate shall be revoked the holder thereof shall be given a written notice of the charge, and an opportunity to be heard in his own defense.

Very respectfully submitted.

The people of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1 Section eighteen hundred and seventy-four of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1874 In compiling or causing to be compiled and adopted a uniform series of school text-books, for use in the common schools of the State, as required by section seven of article nine of the State Constitution, the State Board of Education shall, within thirty days after the passage of this Act, meet and appoint two members of said board as a permanent committee to be known as the Text-Book Committee, designating them not by name, but by the official positions which they respectively hold, and the two members thus appointed shall, with the Superintendent of State Printing, constitute a board of commissioners to be known as the State Text-Book Commissioners. Said commissioners shall immediately organize and enter upon the discharge of their duties, and shall have power, subject to the approval of the State Board of Education, to revise in whole or in part and to manufacture such text-books as are now in use, to compile or cause to be compiled under its direction, and to manufacture such other or additional text book or books as they may deem necessary or proper for use in the primary and grammar schools (the common schools) of the State, to purchase or hire plates, maps, and engravings of copyright matter, to contract for or lease copyrights, for the purpose of being used in compiling, printing and publishing such books; to provide for the payment of royalties or for the leasing of plates for the making of the whole or any part of a book or books, and to do any and all acts that may be necessary for the purpose of procuring a meritorious uniform series of text-books for use in all the primary and grammar schools of the State of California. They shall have power, subject to the approval of the State Board of Education, to prescribe and enforce the use of a uniform series of text-books, and to adopt a list of books for supplementary use from which county and city and county boards of education shall select and adopt books for supplementary use in primary and grammar schools and for school district libraries in their respective counties and cities and counties, as required by section seventeen hundred and twelve of the Political Code. As soon as any text-book shall have been compiled, printed, adopted and is ready for distribution, it shall be the duty of every county and city and county superintendent of schools in the State to order a sufficient number thereof to give at least one copy of every such book to every public school district library in the county or city and county in which he is superintendent, and payment therefor shall be made by him by drawing his requisition, without the order of the board of school trustees, against the library funds of the respective districts in his county or city and county for the cost and remitting the same to the official who has charge of the sale of State school text-books. In cities where the city school superintendent or city board of education is accustomed to draw requisitions upon the library funds, it is hereby made the duty of such superintendents or boards of education to order and pay for copies of books of the State series for their school libraries in lieu of the county superintendents.

2. Instruction shall be given in the following subjects in the primary and grammar schools of the State in the several grades in which they may be required, viz: reading, writing, orthography, language lessons, and English grammar, arithmetic, geography, history of the United States, elements of physiology and hygiene, vocal music, elementary book-keeping, drawing, nature study, and civil government; and it shall be the duty of the said Text-Book Commissioners to revise such of the books of the present State series or publish such new ones in any of the above-mentioned subjects as may be necessary for the proper study and teaching of them, and for the purposes of compilation and publication may make use of any copyright matter deemed suitable, and may purchase or hire plates, maps or engravings of such copyright matter, may contract and arrange for the payment of royalties, and shall designate such book or books, when published, as belonging to and forming a part of the State series of school text-books, all subject to the approval of the State Board of Education.

3. Within ten days after organization, the said State Text-Book Commissioners shall elect a secretary, who shall be a man of recognized educational ability and experience, who shall have his office at the State Capitol in Sacramento in connection with that of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and who shall keep the books, accounts, and all records of the said commissioners, and perform such other duties as may from time to time be required of him by said commissioners. Said secretary shall receive a salary of twenty-one hundred dollars per annum, payable in the same manner and from the same fund as the salaries of the State officers are paid.

4. The said Text-Book Commissioners may secure copyrights, in the name of the people of the State of California, to any book that may be compiled under this Act, and whenever any one or more of the State school text-books shall have been compiled, published, and adopted, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall issue an order to all county and city and county boards of education by sending notice by registered mail to the secretaries of all such boards requiring the uniform use of said book or books in all the primary and grammar schools of this State, and when said order shall have thus been given and published, the same shall remain in force and effect for the term of eight years; provided, that said order for the uniform use of said book or books shall not take effect until the expiration of at least one year from the time of the completion, purchase, or the leasing of the electrotpe plates of said book or books, but nothing in this Act shall be construed to prevent any county, city, or city and county from adopting any one or more of the State series of school text-books whenever said book or books shall have been published and is ready for distribution; provided further, that whenever any plates, maps, or engravings of any publisher or author are adopted for use as hereinbefore provided, the State Text-Book Commissioners shall enter into a contract for eight years for use of the same, and shall require a good and sufficient bond of the owner of such plates, maps, or engravings, guaranteeing that the same shall be kept revised and up to date as may be required by the State Board of Education.

5. Any county, city and county, city, or school district that refuses or neglects to use the State series of school text-books in the grades and in the subjects for which they are intended, and at the time as required in the foregoing subdivisions of this Act, shall, upon satisfactory proof of such refusal or neglect, have the State money to which it is otherwise entitled withheld from it by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

6. The Superintendent of State Printing shall have the supervision of all mechanical work connected with the printing and publishing of such books as may be compiled and adopted by said Text-Book Commissioners and approved by the State Board of Education, and all such printing and binding shall be done in the State Printing Office. The Superintendent of State Printing shall annually, on the 1st day of July, and oftener, if requested, submit to the said Text-Book Commissioners a detailed statement showing the number and name of books of the State series published by him during the year.

7. Whenever any book authorized to be published under this Act is ready for sale or delivery to pupils, the State Printer shall submit to the said Text-Book Commissioners, and they in turn to the State Board of Education, an itemized statement showing the exact cost of the material, printing, binding, and finishing of such book in editions of five thousand or more, and the State Board of Education shall thereupon determine and fix the price of such book, as required by law, by adding to the cost of manufacturing it the price contracted to be paid as royalty or for the use of the plates, maps, or engravings of the copyright matter therein contained, and said price shall be deemed to be the whole cost of publication of such book at Sacramento. The amount fixed for royalty or cost of plates of copyright matter shall, as the books are sold, be kept separate from other proceeds from the sale of State school text-books and deposited in the State Treasury to the credit of a fund to be designated and known as the "Text-Book Royalty Fund," the same to be paid out quarterly or semi-annually, as may be agreed, on the order of the said Text-Book Commissioners, in payment of royalties or hire of plates, maps, or engravings of copyright matter in the same manner as other claims upon the State Treasurer are paid.

8. The sum of twenty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act. Said appropriation, which shall be known as the "Text-Book Appropriation," shall be subject to the drafts of the said Text-Book Commissioners for the expenses incurred by them, except the salary of the secretary, which is otherwise provided for in this Act; provided, that all claims shall be presented to the State Board of Examiners for their approval; said appropriation shall be subject to the drafts of the said commissioners for all moneys needed for the payment of royalties, for the purchase or hire of such plates, maps, or engravings that may be necessary but which cannot be arranged to be paid for as provided in subdivision seventh hereof, for expert opinions as provided for in subdivision nine of this Act, for printing, stationery, postage, and expressage that will be required by said commissioners, and for manufacturing any edition of any book of the State series now in use, or which may hereafter be adopted for use in the primary and grammar schools. It is provided that all moneys that have been received or that may hereafter be received from the sales of State series of school text-books, except that which is received in payment of royalties and provided in this Act to be deposited to the credit of the text-book royalty fund, shall be kept by the State Treasurer as a separate and distinct fund, to be known as the "State School-Book Fund," which fund shall be subject to the drafts of the said Text-Book Commissioners for all expenses incurred by the Superintendent of State Printing for all material, labor, and other expenses necessary in the mechanical work of printing and publishing State school text-books; all claims to be drawn after being certified to by the Superintendent of State Printing, as provided in subdivision four of section five hundred and twenty-six of the Political Code; provided, that all demands on the State School-Book Fund shall be presented to the State Board of Examiners in itemized form for their approval; and upon the approval of the State Board of Examiners, the State Controller is hereby authorized and directed to draw his warrant and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized to pay the same, in conformity with the provisions of this section.

9. Before selecting any text-book matter to be used in the compilation or revision of a State school text-book, the said commissioners may, subject to the approval of the State Board of Education, secure one or more educational experts to examine and give their opinions on the merits of any book or books or parts of a book that may be taken under consideration, and the claims for payment of such expert service shall be paid in like manner as other claims are paid out of the State text-book appropriation; provided, that the expense of such expert examination and opinion shall not exceed the sum of two hundred dollars for any one book.

10. The existing law which provides the manner and the means for the distribution of State school text-books is continued in force and effect.

SEC. 2. Section 1519 of the Political Code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Those first elected under the provisions of this charter shall so classify themselves, by lot, that one councilman from each ward shall go out of office at the end of two years, and the other at the end of four years, and thereafter, at each regular municipal election, one councilman shall be chosen from each ward to serve for a term of four years. A councilman must be a citizen of the State of California and a resident and duly qualified elector of Salinas City and of the ward from which he is chosen for one year immediately preceding his election.

SEC. 2. Any vacancy in the office of councilman shall be filled by appointment by the mayor, which appointment must be confirmed by the council. SEC. 3. The council shall meet on the first Monday of each month, unless that day be a legal holiday, when it shall meet on the succeeding day. Special meetings of the council may be called by the mayor at any time. He shall issue a call therefor, in writing, signed by himself, which shall specify the time and place for such meeting and the purpose for which it is called, and no business other than that specified in the call shall be transacted at such meeting. A copy of the call shall be personally served upon each member of the council then in Salinas City at least two hours prior to the time fixed for the meeting.

SEC. 4. SEC. 5. The mayor shall be the presiding officer of the council, but shall not vote except in case of a tie. The council shall, at its regular meeting in July of each year, elect from its own members a president pro tem, who may be changed by it at any time, and who shall preside over it during the absence of the mayor.

SEC. 7. The council may make and adopt rules for its proceedings and shall have power to enforce the same and may punish its members by reprimand, fine or expulsion for violation thereof, disorderly conduct in its presence, or malfeasance in office. The council shall also have the power to compel the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of all books, records and papers relating to any business or investigation before it, and may punish disobedience of its subpoena, or refusal to testify, or disorderly or contemptuous conduct in its presence by a fine of not exceeding one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not exceeding five days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

If he disapprove it, he shall specify his objections thereto, in writing, which he shall also deliver to the city clerk. SEC. 12. No ordinance shall be revised, re-enacted, or amended by reference to its title, but the ordinance to be revised or re-enacted, or the section thereof to be amended, shall be re-enacted at length, as revised or amended.

SEC. 13. No ordinance granting a franchise shall be put upon its final passage within less than ten days after its introduction, nor at any time other than a regular meeting.

SEC. 14. No ordinance shall be repealed, except by an ordinance duly adopted for that purpose.

SEC. 15. All ordinances must, before going into effect, be published by one insertion in some newspaper, published and circulated in Salinas City, selected and designated by the council for that purpose.

SEC. 16. Every ordinance, unless otherwise provided by law or in such ordinance, shall take effect ten days after its passage and approval, provided that it has been published as herein required.

SEC. 17. All ordinances shall be deposited with the city clerk, who shall record them, at length, in a suitable book to be kept by him for that purpose.

SEC. 18. The council shall, within one year after this charter goes into effect, and every five years thereafter, cause the ordinances then in force to be classified, indexed and published in book form. Each city officer shall be furnished with a copy of such book, free of charge, and the remainder shall be kept for sale, by the city clerk, at a price to be fixed by the council.

Powers of the Council.

SEC. 19. Subject to the provisions, limitations and restrictions in this charter contained, the council shall have power

LOS ANGELES, CAL., January 30, 1903.

To HON. P. A. STANTON, Assembly Chamber, Sacramento:

We, the undersigned, subscribers and users of telephones in this city, urge the adoption of your resolution to investigate the service rendered by the Sunset Telephone Company, such service in this city being totally inadequate and an imposition upon the users of telephones. Complaints made to the officials of said company having no apparent effect upon the efficiency of the service, we deem an investigation in the interests of the public necessary, in the hope that the Legislature may be able to remedy the deplorable condition now existing:

Mr. Baxter presented the following petition from the Board of Supervisors of Mariposa County, and the same was ordered printed in the Journal:

To the General Land Department of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

WHEREAS, The Commissioner of the General Land Office of the United States has seen fit to withdraw from entry a large tract of land situated in Mariposa and adjoining counties of the State of California, amounting in the aggregate to 650,000 acres of land, pending an investigation. It is proposed that the said tract of land be made into a forest reserve;

WHEREAS, The creation of the aforesaid forest reserve would, in the opinion of the Board of Supervisors of Mariposa County, State of California, work a great hardship on Mariposa County by withdrawing from entry much valuable land that might be subjected to private ownership, thereby depriving Mariposa County of any probable revenue from this large area of land, included in the proposed reservation, embracing as it does the following territory in our county: A small portion of ranges 17 and 18, township 1 S.; nearly all of ranges 17 and 18 in township 2 S.; all of ranges 17 and 18 in township 3 S.; all of ranges 17 and 18 in township 4 S.; all of ranges 19 and 20 in township 5 S.; all of ranges 19 and one half of 20 in township 6 S., E. M. D. M., dividing the county almost in half, and withdrawing from entry all lands in near proximity to the county seat

Within the confines of this proposed reservation are situated much valuable mining property as well as much valuable timber and wood land, a great part of which has been reduced to private ownership, from which a large source of public revenue is now derived.

Mariposa County has suffered much from grants, Congressional reservations, and parks. Within the confines of this county are already located the Fremont Grant of 44,000 acres of land; the Yosemite National Park, including the Wawona or Big Tree Park; the Forest Reserve, and now the proposed additional forest reserve, all of which embraces about two thirds of the territory of the county.

Within this proposed reservation is a vast mineral belt—one of the principal mineral belts of the county—and the creation of this proposed park will arrest the development of all mining industry within the boundaries of the reservation, and work a great hardship on the mining industry of the county by withdrawing the source from which the necessary timber supply for mining purposes is obtained.

The stock-raising industry of the county will be seriously crippled by the intended reservation, as almost the entire territory of the proposed reservation is used for stock ranges throughout the year, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors of Mariposa County, State of California, representing the people of the County of Mariposa, do protest against the establishment of the said proposed forest reserve or the establishment of any further reserve in this county; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of these resolutions be sent to our Senators and Representatives in Congress of the United States and to our Senator and Assemblyman at Sacramento, and that they be urged and requested to do all in their power to oppose the permanent setting aside of the proposed reservation.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

ON CONTESTED ELECTIONS—(MAJORITY REPORT).

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1903.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee on Contested Elections, to whom was referred the contest of Wanzer versus Duffey, for a seat in this Assembly from the Fifty-fourth

Assembly District, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report as follows:

The ballots in said contest were counted in keeping with the following resolution adopted by this committee: "Resolved, That in counting the disputed ballots we follow the decisions of the Supreme Court; lay aside such ballots as are rejected by the Supreme Court; keep a tally of such ballots as are rejected; report the result of the count under the Supreme Court decision; also what the result would be should all the ballots be counted; and make a recommendation."

Having counted all the ballots in said district, with the exception of Castle Rock precinct (which said precinct contained twelve votes and was rejected because the polling-place was not within said Assembly district), we find the following result:

Wanzer	1,724
Duffey	1,617

Wanzer's majority	107
-------------------------	-----

Should all "No nomination" ballots be counted, Wanzer would receive eighteen hundred and twenty votes, and Duffey eighteen hundred and forty-five, leaving a majority of twenty-five votes in favor of Mr. Duffey.

Counting all the ballots cast, illegal and otherwise, Mr. Wanzer received nineteen hundred and nineteen votes, and Mr. Duffey nineteen hundred and forty-three votes, giving a majority of twenty-four votes for Mr. Duffey.

A majority of your committee recommend to the Assembly that the construction of the election law, as declared by the Supreme Court of this State, be followed, and that the so-called "No nomination" ballots be not counted, and Mr. Wanzer be declared elected, and be seated as member of this Assembly from the Fifty-fourth Assembly District.

Respectfully submitted.

ON CONTESTED ELECTIONS—(MINORITY REPORT).

ASSEMBLY CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1903.

MR. SPEAKER: A minority of your Committee on Contested Elections having considered the contest of Harry S. Wanzer, contestant, vs. A. D. Duffey, beg leave to report that we have had the same under consideration, and, after examining the papers in such contest, the testimony taken, and the ballots voted at said election, we believe and we report that A. D. Duffey is entitled to retain his seat as member of the Assembly from the Fifty-fourth Assembly District of said State of California.

We find that at the election held in Santa Cruz County on November 4, 1902, that said contestee, A. D. Duffey, was, November 12, 1902, by the Board of Supervisors of Santa Cruz County, declared elected to such office, and that he thereupon qualified as such member of Assembly, and a certificate of his election was delivered to him by the County Clerk of said County of Santa Cruz.

That at said election your committee finds that said contestee, A. D. Duffey, received 1845 legal ballots and that said contestant received 1820 legal ballots, being a majority of 25 legal votes cast for said A. D. Duffey.

That near the bottom of the second or Democratic column of all the tickets used at said election were the words "For Surveyor, No Nomination," and that such words were followed by a square similar to that following the names of candidates for office appearing on said ballots. That on 228 of the ballots cast for said Duffey there appeared a cross stamped in the square to the right of said words "For Surveyor, No Nomination." That more than two such ballots were cast in every precinct of said county, but that said cross did not serve to identify or distinguish, nor did it identify or distinguish, said ballots or any of them, nor could they serve such purpose.

That said contestant, Harry S. Wanzer, was, on January 15, 1903, and had been at all times for more than one year continuously prior thereto, assistant postmaster of the United States at Santa Cruz, California; that such position was a lucrative office, and that the compensation thereof exceeds the sum of six hundred dollars per year, and this minority of your committee finds that under Section 20, of Article IV, of the Constitution of California, said contestant Wanzer was at all times herein mentioned and now is ineligible to hold the office of member of the Assembly; therefore, be it Resolved, That said contestee, A. D. Duffey, is entitled to retain his seat and to continue to be member of the Assembly in and for the Fifty-fourth Assembly District of said State of California.

DUNBAR,
FINN,

Mr. Johnson seconded motion.

Mr. Johnson moved that debate be limited to thirty minutes on each side.

So ordered.

The question being on the adoption of the amendment.

The ayes and noes were demanded by Messrs. Dunbar, Snyder, and Dougherty.

The roll was called, and the amendment lost by the following vote:

AYES—Messrs. Bangs, Baxter, Copus, Covert, Dougherty, Dunbar, Finn, Howard, Kerrigan, Killingsworth, Lumley, Mahany, McConnell, McMahon, Murphy, Siskron, and Snyder—17.

NOES—Messrs. Mr. Snyder submitted the following amendment:

Be printed in the Journal, and further consideration be postponed until Thursday morning at ten o'clock A. M.
